SANDYSTON.

Our hunters can combine pay and pleasure now that the law pays a bounty of three dollars for every fox killed. All the hunter has to do is to take the bait before a justice of the peace, who will cut the ears off and burn them, and get his order on the collector for the amount. Foxes will be looked after this fall.

The team of Wash. Dupou took fright near the residence of Charles Bensley and ran away. The driver turned them into a fence corner near the Layton church and that stopped them. Nothing of any account was broken.

In my last I mentioned George Helme as one of the painters on the Van Sickle buildings. He is not on the job and reports says he is going to remove to Trenton, N. J., soon.

Candidates for county offices were in evidence in this town on Saturday and as usual it was "What will you have?" and the barkeeper did the rest. But it is a good while before drinks and election is a good way off.

A little rum and an old grudge started a fight at Layton on Saturday night, and in a few minutes a second fight was in progress. On one side the parties were sober and on the other intoxicated. It is a shame that people must be nagged into a fight simply because one party is full of rum.

The Wantage Recorder in its last issue gives a talk on the abandoned farms in this section over along the mountains. At the present day the boys of the farm are looking to the cities to avoid the drudgery of the farm. Anyone knowing this section intimately forty or fifty years ago will at once miss the many tenant houses scattered all along our valley, but today most of them have gone to decay and the few that are left are not habitable.

The burning of new grounds years ago was a common occurrence but now it is rare, and the brush are crowding the farming lands closer each year and on many farms can be seen fields of brush where once waved fields of grain. In 1840 Sandyston had a population of 1209, which the census of 1900 gives only 939. Which goes to show that we are retrograding in population as well as in cultivated lands.

The new owners of the Hudson River telephone company are intent upon putting their line in good order. Last week another gang of men passed through here numbering the poles and making a map of the line in this county. Talking over their wires is a pleasure now.

Some of the farmers in this locality are gathering winter apples and some are making hay.

Arthur M. Adams has had his piazza inclosed with glass, which makes a great improvement to his cottage.

The long rain has destroyed some of the buckwheat crop in this section. Mrs. Eugene Raitt made a trip to Port Jervis one day last week.

Wm. Mercier has gone to Milford to attend school the coming winter. JOE.

DINGMAN'S FERRY.

It is conceded that the buckwheat standing out, and there is a great deal, is about ruined.

A report is extant that George N. Jagger of this place has secured a good paying job in the city and will leave here in a few weeks to assume his duties.

Darragh's cider mill is doing an extensive business in cider making this fall. The mill makes the cider and the cider sometimes makes the mill.

George Retallick is having lumber sawed with which to build a barn on his property near Cole's school house.

If "more rain means more rest" the average Pike coustian must have lost all that "ired feeling" by this time. Eh?

On dit John Hoater has moved in with George W. Raitt. W. H. L.

PAUPAC.

The equinoctial storm arrived at the proper date, and has continued for the past two weeks. Considerable rain has fallen which has done great damage to the crops standing in the fields. Buckwheat especially is ruined, having sprouted badly, and the farmers are anxiously waiting for fair weather.

A Typical South African Store. J. R. Larson of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says, "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify for their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by A. W. Balch and Son, Matamoras, all drug and general stores in Pike county.
