THE COUNTY INSTITUTE

The importance of self control and avoid by all means antagonism. The session closed by an able discourse on "Emotions" by Dr. Buchner, and the teachers adjourned until Thursday morning.

The evening opened by a selection which was very nicely rendered by the pupils of the grammar department of the Milford high school. We then had the pleasure of two solos in the sweet voice of Mrs. von der Heyde. Prof. McNeal then addressed the audience on "A Character Study." Character is due to hereditary environments and the will. The learned professor took as his subject the life and character of Aaron Burr with a brief history of his ancestors. A Christian mother has a more lasting influence upon the character of a child than a father. He does not believe in too rigid discipline and thinks that a parent who can enter into the life and feelings of a child has the more lasting influence. The character of Aaron Burr was modeled in some cases by too rigid discipline, rejection of the Bible and lack of proper influences. Character is the supreme end of education and as parents and teachers we are responsible for the education of the child. The evening closed with a piano solo by Maxwell Armstrong played in such a manner as to please the entire audience.

The first speaker Thursday morning was Prof. McNeal, who continued his subject, "School Government." Avoid antagonism between teacher and pupil. Get into their lives and win them by that means rather than have any opposition or strife. There must be authority but get it by tact and skill. These are necessary acquirements of the teacher. Tact knows what to do in all cases, therefore cultivate tact. Never allow any annoyance or confusion to become known to the school. Do not allow a pupil to feel that he is distrusted and you will be far better able to obtain obedience and a good impression. Teachers must also govern themselves. One who has not self control is not capable of governing others, and we must avoid letting temper get the better of us.

Dr. Buchner followed with "Some of the Physical Features of Our Environments in Children." Food, air and water in the right proportion are all that are necessary. What the brain does during the early years we should continue doing during the school years. Man has more instincts than any of the lower animals. The principal stages of education are mental receptivity, mental transformation, mental expression, or, in simple words, knowing, thinking and doing. These three things must be related and brought together at every step of education. Education is nothing but mental development. Teachers should read biographies as this gives them concrete psychology. Do not take too much for granted in the contents of the child's mind during the different stages. In teaching we should always try to obtain expression as quickly as possible after acquisition.

The session was closed by a talk from R. M. McNeal on "Study." Acquire Habits of study. Show pupils how to obtain knowledge from text books. Induce them to think and study, teach them to investigate facts.

Dr. Buchner occupied the first period of the afternoon session on the subject, "Action and Mental Development," and the subject was treated by the learned professor in an interesting and instructive manner. It is absolutely impossible to dam up the natural impulses. We always want in experience what comes from experience and what returns to experience. He also drew very clearly the relation between the action and mental development.

Prof. McNeal then took the floor and spoke on "Personal Elements of the Teacher." We should be more concerned in securing qualified teachers than in anything else. A teacher who has the respect of the pupils is their model. We deal too much with classes and not enough with the individual. Teachers should study the pupil's individuality closely. Adjournment.

The entertainment of Thursday evening was opened by a piano solo by Miss Maude Klein. This was followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. Sealey. Dr. Edward Franklin Buchner of Matamoras then spoke, subject, "An American in Germany." Travel is an expansion of the soul and is one of the best means of obtaining education. Use information in the class room that has been obtained by the pupils while on excursions to points of interest in the neighborhood. The best sort of travel is mind travel, not necessarily body travel, and can be obtained by study and reading. The orator then took his audience with him on a trip to Germany in which he vividly described the government, modes of travel, social life and customs of that distant country. A piano solo and a very explanatory remarks by Supt. Westbrook closed the evening session.

Friday morning after a short session which was opened with devotional exercises and a brief but most excellent address by Rev. C. E. Scudder the several committees reported and the goodbyes were said, closing, as the resolutions say, "one of the most successful institutes ever held in Pike county."

Following are the resolutions: We the teachers of Pike county in annual institute assembled, do adopt the following:

Whereas, since this has been one of the most successful institutes ever held in Pike county, the instruction and entertainment having been highly beneficial and inspiring, therefore be it

Resolved, That we congratulate our county superintendent on having secured well known instructors who are specialists in their respective lines of work.

Institute Notes

The excellent summary of the proceedings of the teachers institute, which appears elsewhere, was written by Miss Marion Williams, a teacher in Palmyra. It is difficult to summarize or condense such talks as are made by the lecturers and make them of interest but we submit that our reporter has succeeded most admirably.

Lucian Westbrook, county superintendent, is receiving much deserved commendation for his selection of institute workers and for the pleasant manner in which he conducted the proceedings. It is a difficult and delicate situation but he has demonstrated that he fully measures up to the position.

Dr. Bible was warmly greeted by the teachers as well as by the audience which always thoroughly enjoys his talks. He is booked for 21 institutes in the near future and will have work until January. This fact emphasizes his popularity as an instructor and lecturer.

Prof. Koehler was well received and made a very favorable impression.

Prof. McNeal of Lock Haven is an interesting and logical talker. His addresses were greatly enjoyed by the teachers and his audience. His presentation of his thoughts was admirably adapted to instruct.

Prof. Buchner's topics are such as to require clear presentation and careful elucidation. In treating of the matter which is also the thing which treats—the eye looking at the eye, mind dissecting mind, the phenomenon of human consciousness—one must be especially logical and concise. His efforts proved him to be a class thinker and careful reasoner.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness in Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial. It causes bunions in the neck, disfigure the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general dealer. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." Mrs. E. T. Stryker, Troy, Ohio.

Presbyterian Chronicles

(By Rev. E. M. Snowd.)

The topic for next Lord's day morning will be "Prayer for Daily Bread." This is the first petition in the Lord's prayer for personal blessings. The evening topic will be announced at the morning service.

The monthly missionary meeting will be held next Wednesday at 4 p. m. The field to be studied is Korea and an interesting meeting may be anticipated. It is hoped that a good attendance may be had.

The catechism class will not meet next week as the pastor will be out of town.

John C. Wallace will give a report of the meeting of Synod which he attended last week in Albany, N. Y., next Wednesday evening at prayer service. Mr. Wallace was elected as a delegate at the April meeting of Presbytery and it will do us all good to learn from him regarding the transactions of this, the second highest court of our church.

The normal class will meet as usual on Wednesday evening and in the absence of the pastor, Mr. George Mitchell will teach the lesson.

Since our last writing one of our number has been suddenly called from among us. It can but remind us that it is a serious thing to live and a blessed thing to be ready at any and all times to answer the summons, "Lord, here am I, take me." Mrs. Catharine Quick had lived to a good old age in this village and in our church. There is none to speak ill of her now that she is gone and there are many who are prompt to bear testimony of their love and appreciation of her. Our deepest sympathy is with those that mourn one not lost but merely gone on before them.

Last evening promptly at six o'clock a pretty wedding occurred at the home of George A. Sweepmaster and wife, corner Fourth and John streets, when their daughter, Miss Nellie, was married to one of our most popular and enterprising young townsmen, Frank Schorr. Mr. and Mrs. Schorr have already furnished their new home on George street and will remain among us. These two young people start on life's journey with every encouragement for a long and happy future. We bid them Godspeed and most heartily rejoice that they have cast their lot with us.

Last evening Dr. and Mrs. Reed gave the Rev. Pelham St. George Bissell and family a farewell reception at their beautiful home. There was a large number present and the evening was a most highly enjoyable one. All join with us in wishing the Rev. Bissell a long and useful ministry wherever he may go.

BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, blood must have blood food and so on through the list.

Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment for soft bones in children. Little doses every day give the stiffness and shape that healthy bones should have. Bow legs become straighter, loose joints grow stronger and firmness comes to the soft heads.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it. In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood.

Stricken With Paralysis. Henderson Grimes of this place was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief, my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—Geo. R. McDonald, Man, Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known as a cure for rheumatism, sprains, and bruises. For sale by A. W. Balch and Son, Matamoras, all drug and general stores in Pike county.

Commenting on the figures for August exports which have shown a decrease in their total as compared with former months and which the democrats have hailed with joy, Dunn's Commercial Review says "it is most gratifying to find that the decrease in exports in comparison with last year's figures was all in farm products, a class of trade that may be readily regained, while there was an increase in exports of over $3,500,000. In August, 1901, all records for wheat exports were surpassed, while this year was the lowest for a long period as to corn shipments, which explained much of the difference."

Candidates for the democratic nomination in 1904—Wm. J. Bryan, Grover Cleveland, Dave B. Hill, Arthur P. Gorman, Richard Olney and Tom L. Johnson. Take your pick. This represents every shade of every democratic doctrine, fad and 'ism.

A Word to Travelers. The excitement incident to traveling and change of food and water often brings on diarrhoea and for this reason no one should leave home without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by A. W. Balch and Son, Matamoras, all drug and general stores in Pike county.

Another volcano, that of Icazo, Salvador, is reported active. The water of a lake nearby is said to be hot enough to cook eggs. How convenient. The housewife who lives on its borders has but to drop a couple of eggs in the lake, and take them out either soft, medium or hard. Then, too, what a fuel saver with coal still at $15. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Saved His Boy's Life. "I believe I saved my nine year old boy's life this winter with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says A. M. Hoppe, Rio Creek, Wis. "He was so choked up with croup that he could not speak. I gave it to him freely until he vomited and in a short time he was all right." For sale by A. W. Balch and Son, Matamoras, all drug and general stores in Pike county.

The excellent values in Autumn waists; the economy of hosiery and underwear buying in this shop; the items from the garment section. The Stock There is nothing in the line of Autumn ing in the Waists so fully covers the wants as a nice silk waist. Our selections in these have been very liberal owing to the beauty of construction and reasonableness of price. Peau de Soies seem to have the lead as to material, while taffetas are in second place. These come in plains, colors and blacks, shepherds' checks and pin dots. The universal wool waist is a strong factor in the market. We have bought well in this line, 98c. getting an all wool waist, liberally tucked and ornamented. Values go upwards in slight jumps to $3.75. One special line of assorted colors and patterns, sizes 32 to 38, favorably purchased, allows their selling at 25c to 50c under value.

News of the It might Garmen's seem from the condition of our garment trade that advertising it was unnecessary as the goods advertise themselves. This is evident from the fact that there is scarcely an hour in the day but what this department has its group of customers and these customers are almost invariably buyers. Here, as in other departments, we make no effort to get the cheapest stuff in the market but instead the goods must have merit that is easily recognized in style and quality. Daily receipts are keeping the garment section in normal condition.
