The smokers of the United States consumed last year 6,900,000,000 cigars, which includes a good many cabbage and hickory leaves.

"With all the talk," shouts a St. Paul contemporary, "no trusts have been busted yet." Why not spell it in the genuine old democratic way—busted?

A bill has been introduced in the Kansas legislature to prohibit snake eating. It is hinted that Carrie Nation is back of the measure.

John D. Rockefeller's reputed offer of $1,000,000 for a new stomach does sound a bit extravagant. Especially during the coal shortage, it would be better to get four or five cords of wood and a saw-buck.

The Littlefield trust bill is not sufficiently drastic for the democrats, and they have reported amendments to insure busting as well as regulating of the trusts.

Hereafter naval officers who go to the White House at any time by invitation of the president must wear full uniform, which is the regulation now in force for the army.

The country has concluded to pardon the Illinois papers for doing a little crowing over the election of Representative Hopkins as successor to Senator Billy Mason.

"The other day," said Mrs. Tenpot, "I was called to the telephone and had occasion to take down an address. Having no pencil and paper handy, I wrote it with my finger in the soft coal dust on the billiard table cover."

"I wouldn't tell that, mamma, for it reflects upon your housekeeping," protested Ethel.

"It does nothing of the sort," said Mrs. Tenpot; "for when I went back in an hour to get the address fresh soft-coal dust had entirely obliterated it."—Judge.

"The Way It Often Is," "Now, what do you advise me to do?"

"Will you act on my advice?" "Not necessarily."

"Then why do you want it?" "Well, if your advice coincides with my intentions I'll feel a good deal better satisfied with myself, and if it doesn't I'll put you down as a fool and won't feel any worse."—Chicago Post.

From Friend to Friend, Super—Here's a nice letter for a man to receive. The scoundrel who wrote it calls me a blithering idiot. People—What's his name?

Super—That's just what I'd like to find out; but there's no signature. People—Don't you recognize the writing? It must be somebody who knows you.—Tit-Bits.

Bad Combination, "Marry," said the corner grocer, "we'll have to get another pint measure."

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite. To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic. I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicine of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since."—Eugene Foubert, Lebanon, Kan.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

Presbyterian Chronicals

(By Rev. K. M. Sneed.)
 The morning sermon next Sabbath will take up "The First Miracle of Jesus." The topic for the evening discourse will be announced as usual at the morning service.

The Christian endeavor society will be "Bible Lessons from Men that Failed." Miss Nettie Newman will be the leader and we hope that the meeting will be well attended. This is the first meeting Miss Newman has had and all should come and help and encourage her.

Next week's prayer meeting topic will be, "The Advantages of Seeking the Lord." Would this not be a good meeting for some testimonies regarding the personal advantages that we have individually received? Let us meditate on this theme and come with our hearts so full that they shall overflow in His service.

The men's supper is drawing near (Feb. 20th) and efforts are now being made to keep up the standard of past years. To-night there is to be another meeting and we would be pleased to see as many of the gentlemen of the congregation as possible. Remember the date of the supper and make your plans accordingly.

The matter of pastoral visitation might receive a word at this time. I never mean to neglect anyone and while I may not get to your homes as frequently as some pastors do, still my time is employed for the people and with the people up to the extent of my strength and ability to get about. There are always things arising to make it difficult to carry out my plans in this direction. However it is hoped that in the near future every family will receive a call from the pastor. Let those who may be ill or who wish to see me at any time leave their name in the box at the Manse door and immediate attention will be given to any and to all.

Methodist Church Jottings.

(By Rev. C. E. Soudner.)
 The topic for next Sabbath morning is "The Divinity of Jesus Christ," the second sermon in the series on the Apostle's Creed.

In the evening, the topic is, "The Trial of Jesus before the Sanhedrim." On the following Sabbath morning, February 15th, we will have the service for the reception of members. All who desire to join the church will be received at this time. In connection with this service the sacraments of baptism and the Lord's Supper will be administered.

Keep in mind the recital by Mr. Kemble, entitled "James Whitcomb Riley," to be given at the church on the 16th of February, one week from next Monday night.

An error of the writer occurred in last week's notes. The amount of the insurance money is $488, instead of $388 as stated.

At the annual conference this year each minister will pay his own way, instead of having entertainment provided. The committee on arrangements have secured a large number of places where accommodations are furnished at moderate cost.

The work on the paragonage has begun. It will be a great pleasure to the writer to see the dwelling place of the preacher with all the modern conveniences that are to be put in it. There will be few ministers anywhere that will have a more comfortable home than the one at the M. E. church of Milford.

Three dozen copies of the Temperance number of the Epworth Herald have been sent to the writer for distribution. This paper in the interest of young people takes the same ground taken by the writer, that the place to kill the saloon is at the ballot box. Bishop Fitzgerald, a former member of the Newark conference says, "When once the Christian voters form and execute the determination to vote only for prohibitionists, who stand upon unequivocal prohibition platforms, the end will be at hand, the saloon must go. We heartily endorse this sentiment."

GOOD OLD ARMY BEANS.

As Prepared by the Expert Military "Chef." They Are a Most Palatable Food.

"Beans are the soldiers' mainstay," says Thomas F. Dillon, a retired United States cavalry officer, according to the Philadelphia Record. "The American soldier, at a pinch, can equal the performance of an Arab on a handful of dried beans—he can ride and fight all day on a mere handful of beans, properly prepared. There is nothing to equal the army baked bean. Your celebrated 'Boston baked' are but a poor imitation of the succulent article turned out by a regular army cook. There's smart in cooking them that nobody but an army man can ever acquire. I've been on service when for a week at a time our menu consisted of beans for breakfast, beans for dinner and beans for supper; and did the troops tire of the monotony? Not a bit of it. They sang for hours, and in spite of hard work and lack of variety at mess, the fellows actually got fat. That demonstrated to me the nutritive quality of beans, and I made it a point to get into the good graces of the cook and learn how to bake them. It isn't such an elaborate process, but there's a trick in doing it right. My friends are all fond of beans the way I cook them, and many a time I've been asked for the recipe, but that's a thing I don't give away to everyone. You see, people enjoy a dish all the better when they know it's something that not everybody can get away if they could say of my beans: 'I know how to make them.'"

KNOWLEDGE WAS POWER.

How Familiarly with the Chinese Language Made a Woman a Countess.

One of the unmarried women in diplomatic circles at Washington is Countess Marguerite Cassin, the accomplished niece of the Russian ambassador, who is a countess in her own right, not by heredity, but by special grace of the czar, and a curious story is told of the manner in which she won her title. It was when Count Cassin had his fateful conference with Li Hung Chang at Peking, long before the Boxer trouble, the count's interpreter was away, for Li's call was unexpected, and as the Chinese statesman could not speak Russian and the Russian diplomat did not understand Chinese the conference came to a deadlock. The count's niece, who had picked up something of the language, stepped into the breach and the affair was arranged to the satisfaction of both parties. The Chinese empress loaded her with presents, the czar's government made a note of the service performed, and when there was a question a couple of years ago of the young lady's precedence as an ambassador, the czar himself commended her rivals by making her a countess. This was something like rapid promotion for the lady.

LI ZARDS OF THE DESERT.

Numerous Weird Reptiles of the Southwest That Never Thirst for Water.

There is no place like the desert for lizards. As a man rides through the white sands or over the black and red mountains in Arizona, or southwestern California and sees the flash and scurry of these brilliant and graceful creatures, says Country Life in America, the suggestion of death and solitude is broken, and beholding so much life, he is brought to wonder if the country is really a desert or only a land to which man is not adapted. For here are animals which never drink, yet frisk about through thorns and cacti and fatten on the bitter plants. Many a desert prospector has laid down with his burro to die and seen on the rocks about him the black heads of Chuck-walla lizards outlined against the hazy sky. The Chuck-walls were happy and content with good eating. It was their country. For thousands of generations their ancestors had never thirsted for water; and plants which the starving burros passed by furnished both food and drink for the scaly natives on the rocks. Next to the slow moving deadly Olla monster, the Chuck-walla is the largest lizard of the desert, being from a foot to a foot and a half in length.

SKYSCRAPER FEET.

Attendees in Tall Office Buildings Suffer from Walking on the Hard Floors.

A new ailment has made its appearance in New York as the consequence of so many iron skyscrapers being in use. The floors of the big buildings, as a rule, are of concrete or marble, instead of wood, as used to be the case with office buildings before the era of very high edifices. The new physical ill is suffered by hall porters and elevator men, and is a painful soreness in the feet, which culminates in corns and similar excrescences. Attendees in office buildings walk about on the hard floors all day, and they find that the exercise in many cases leads to sore feet. The soreness is not a trifling matter, either. Many men can't see with their shoes out to ease the pressure, and they limp about the hallways in a way that speaks eloquently of their suffering. The doctors have a scientific name for the new disease, but the elevator men who covered his tale of woe into my ear this afternoon could not remember what it was, except that it had a delectful sound. Whether this foot trouble is peculiar to New York skyscrapers, or whether it prevails in Pittsburg and other large cities, I do not know, but my informant today expressed the cheerful conviction that it will.

Sick Blood

Feed pale girls on Scott's Emulsion. We do not need to give all the reasons why Scott's Emulsion restores the strength and flesh and color of good health to those who suffer from sick blood.

The fact that it is the best preparation of Cod Liver Oil, rich in nutrition, full of healthy stimulation is a suggestion as to why it does what it does.

Scott's Emulsion presents Cod Liver Oil at its best, fullest in strength, least in taste.

Young women in their teens are permanently cured of the peculiar disease of the blood which shows itself in paleness, weakness and nervousness, by regular treatment with Scott's Emulsion.

It is a true blood food and is naturally adapted to the cure of the blood sickness from which so many young women suffer.

We will be glad to send a sample to any sufferer.

A TAPESTRY SETTLEMENT.

Place to Be Established in This Country Where All Kinds of Textiles Are to Be Made.

A "Tapestry Settlement" is one of the interesting developments of the near future in the American handicraft movement. It will be organized by a firm which recently opened a store on Portlich street, in New York, in which they carry only "handsome goods. For the location, they desire a place where wool is raised, and where there are women who still spin and weave. Such a place they was found in both in Ohio and West Virginia, and they will locate during the coming summer in one of those states. They will offer a price for certain fabrics wove according to their requirements, which will make a better market for the wool than the farmers are now obtaining. Then they will employ an instructor among the weavers to furnish designs and improve methods, says Everybody's Magazine. This instructor they have already secured in the person of a woman who has made a study of tapestry in Europe. They will seek to produce all kinds of textiles, but the first article to be made is tapestry, for the promoters hope to establish here an industry which American craftsmen shall rival in time the producers of Gobelins, Beauvais and Aubusson. Douglas Volk, the artist, who has given much attention to the subject, insists that quality for quality goods can be produced more cheaply by hand than by machine, provided you deal with the workman direct, eliminating the profits of several middlemen.

It Doesn't Boast Him.
 "You love music, don't you, Mr. Bliffers?"
 "Some of it has a peculiar fascination for me, Miss Stinson. I can't say I like it all. There are pieces that soothe me, and others that rouse me, and still others that quite tire me out."
 "And how is it to-be-he—with the Mendelssohn wedding march, Mr. Bliffers—te-he-he?"
 "Oh, I always like to sit still and enjoy that."—Cleveland Plaindealer.
