Clure's. The reintionship of Raphael with a pickpocket I talked to once is more intimate essentially than it is with some makers of "pictures" and molders of "statuary." The third had been arrested because, having obtained permission to live in New York provided he did not work there, he was caught stealing a watch.

"Why did you do it?" I asked him.
"Well, I'll tell you," he said. "I simply couldn't help it. I'm no kleptomaniae. It isn't the stealing I like. but the fun of doing a hard job pretmade. The first was like this: I saw a rich, fat man in a crowd, and noticed that his watch was hung i n new way, hard to break. My fingers liched, not for the watch, but to break it off. I moved up, lifted the watch, walked away with it and then went back and hung the thing on the chain again. This second time son thing like that. I saw a delicate job tried it, got the watch, and just then the fellow happened to look for the time. He 'hollered,' and a detentive searby pinched me. I don't think I'm what you'd call a natural thief, but I like to work with my fingers, and I like the excitement of stealing."
