An appalling scandal has developed in the postoffice department during his absence, a scandal which he feared, even before to enact any law other than the scandal which he feared, even before mutting appropriation bills. That political considerations induced him to attempt to smother. Regardless of the first the mother. Regardless of the first the fi the fact that the country was approaching a great election, an election which would determine his own the republicans is possible. political future, he gave orders to probe the irregularities in the postoffice to the bottom, to hew to the line with but one end in view the purification of the service. Warm political friends urged him to permit existing conditions to remain undisturbed until after election but he refused. Theodore Roosevett is alone responsible for the relentless investigation into postoffice methods now being pursued and it is with bad grace that partisan papers attempt to cast reflections on an administration which has dared to uncover the sore that it might be healed.

August W. Machen, former general superintendent of free delivery, stands today indicted by a grand jury on nine separate counts and evidence of other criminality sufficient to secure many more indictments is in the hands of Fourth Assistant Postmuster General Bristow and his inspectors. Thomas W. McGregor and C. Elsworth Upton, two of Machen's subordinates and intimate friends, have been arrested for stealing from the postoffice department $8,000 their methods having been similar to Machen's. They purchased mail bags In Baltimore, worth less than 50 cents each, and paid for them 90 cents, receiving a commission from the maker of 40 cents on each. Postmaster General Payne, who was himself reluctant to believe that there existed what he would consider actual dishonesty, that is maindministration for personal gain, has been forced to admit that the conditions which the inspectors are dally uncovering are "appalling" and it is believed that the ramifications of Machen's dishonesty will eventually lead the inspectors into the homes of men prominent in state and federal political affairs. "ANYTHING YOU WART"

Last week, when I was saked to read I meant to say "I cant," But strange enough it changed into "Anything you want."

And after I had gone away, Those words my mind did haunt The little sentence I had said— "Anything you want,"

Now I am bashful, very much, And a little thing will daunt, So please be patient while I read "Anything you want."

And in my face did flaunt But still you temperates people take Anything you want."

How many people whom we meet, Look hollow eyed and gaunt, It simply comes because they take "Anything you want."

Now shall we give them any chance With cutting words to taunt, Because a few will always do "Anything you want."

Then let us work each day and hour Above our foes to vaunt Our banner, and help those who take Anything you want."

Then let us do the best we can As through this world we jaunt. And ever of life's better things Take "anything you want." Milford, June, 1908.
