SANDYSTON.

The annual reunion of the survivors of that gallant fighting regiment, the First New Jersey Cavalry, will be held at Trenton, N. J., Thursday, Oct. 8th. As president of this veteran association I trust that every member of the old regiment will endeavor to be present at this meeting. A regiment having had 3,317 men on its rolls, and 97 battles and skirmishes on its banner is a record second to no other. Comrades don't forget the date.

Miss Nettie Hersh spent a couple of weeks visiting relatives in and about Layton, and Friday last returned to Newark.

Newton centennial is over and it is comical to hear the different opinions as to whether it was a success or not. If a crowd is a success then Newton scored a big one, otherwise not. One could not hear the speakers ten feet away, and I am sorry to say that the fair sex let their tongues have full swing and that drowned the speaker but they had a fine time in gossiping. Many were turned away from the speaker's stand by a pompous official, although the stand was not full at any time. The hotels did not make their pile and the street stands lost money and taken all around it was not the success anticipated, but all the same Newton held a big crowd for once.

Secretary Dye of the New Jersey state board of agriculture informs that the meeting for this town will be held at Layton, Dec. 7 and 8th. These meetings or institutes do a vast deal of good and I am assured that the quartette of speakers billed for this institute are all prominent men in their line. Program will be given as soon as received.

The schools of this town will open for the fall term on Tuesday of this week. Other townships opened their schools on Sept. 1st as the law directs as our officials here were afraid the teachers would get a holiday (Labor day) hence they open the schools the day after.

Montagas, from all reports, will have some business for the Grand Jury at the present term of court. The constable of that town after arresting a man on a criminal charge got afraid, or something else, and gave a Sandyston constable five dollars to take his prisoner to jail.

Miss Myrtle Depue, after a two weeks vacation visiting relatives in this valley, returned to Bloomfield on Thursday last.

The delay of the D. L. & W. R. R. in getting the people to and from Newton on Centennial Day has caused much unpleasant comment. The people will cuss the road for awhile and travel over the road just the same.

It would make mighty interesting reading if one could tell the inner workings of our board of freeholders in regard to the macadam road building in this county. Some of those freeholders will be relegated to the rear and the sooner the better for the cause of good roads.

H. L. is mildly excited over the game of euchre. Bless you didn't you know that the ladies have special privileges? Just come over here and we will show you how to play H.L. and that game is way ahead of euchre.

The schools of this town opened for the fall term today, Tuesday. The teachers are as follows:

Layton—Layton Rosenkrans. Hainesville—Alonso Depue. Shaytown—Dot Shay. Turtles Corner—Emma Hersh. Flatbrook Valley—Ella Hersh. Follers—Sadie Drake. Fishers—Frank Stell. Bevans—Joan Layton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins of Montclair, N. J., spent Saturday and Sunday with Doctor Hughes. Mr. Jenkins came up by team and returned to his home Monday, his daughter, Miss Edna, accompanied him.

Loren Shay made a brief visit to Sandyston the past week. Loren is employed at Rutherford, N. J.

It matters little what sort of a cow comes up you will find the starting point is run and if our legislative Solons would just crack up the license for another hundred or two would lessen the number of drinking places and also lessen the cows. Sure remedy.

Wedding bells will ring ere long in the vicinity of Layton and the boys can lay in a store of pans, bells, etc.

The laws of 1901 are especially stringent in regard to the adulteration of milk in any form and the penalty is severe. The inspector can take as much as he likes for inspection and can take it wherever he has reason to believe the milk is not pure, and if the person cannot pay the fine he is locked up.

LEDGEDALE.

Your correspondent has received a copy of the Janesville Weekly Gazette, date Sept. 24, 1903, containing the death of John K. Rice, and as he will be remembered by a few of the people left in Pompey where he was born and lived for a number of years with his only sister, Mrs. Powell C. Kellam, and as I am almost sure that I am the only one receiving notice of his death I take the liberty of sending you an exact copy as he was an own uncle of my husband, the late Ira K. Kellam, of Ledgedale. Was deaf and dumb from childhood.

John K. Rice known as "Old John" was afflicted by early sickness. After many months of patient suffering death came to the relief of John K. Rice, and his spirit went out to the life beyond. He was born in Pike county, Pennsylvania, in 1825. Sickness resulted in loss of speech and hearing in childhood before he had learned to talk, and he was sent to the state school for deaf and dumb, where he obtained a good education, including the trade of a shoemaker. He went west in 1858 and located in Milton where he worked for many years, laying by a nice little sum of money which was later lost through the duplicity of men in whom he had confidence. Some 25 years ago he found himself homeless and friendless when it was his good fortune to be taken in by the Bingham family of Kashkonong. He soon became a part of the household. A deaf son had recently died in the home and the family was familiar with the sign language and a bond of sympathy was soon established. He was treated as a son and brother and the same thoughtful consideration that had contributed so largely to his comfort and happiness was noticed at the funeral services held at the home last Wednesday. Floral designs and cut flowers in abundance were silent reminders of the love that united this silent life to the family circle of which he had long been a part. The Rev. John Reynolds of Fort Atkinson paid fitting tribute to his memory and the remains rest in the Bingham family lot at Otter Creek.

"Old John" as he was familiarly known to Janesville people who are privileged to enjoy the hospitality of the home where he found a resting place, was a man of strong character, and while deprived of both speech and hearing his other faculties were keenly alert. He was well informed possessing a retentive mind well stored with knowledge. A man of kindly heart and genial disposition he enjoyed the friendship and confidence of all who knew him. There are those vacant chairs in the old home at Kashkonong, and the familiar presence of father and mother Bingham and "Old John" will be missed by many old time friends. "M. E. K."

MAST HOPE

Reynolds Cole and bride of Carley Brook were entertained at John Johnsons last Thursday night.

Inquiry as to the reason for suspension of the work by Mr. Sanderson of building a dam on Donker creek reveals that some parties whose lands would be overvalued objected. Possibly the right can be secured without great cost and the improvement would certainly be of value to the community.

George Snyder is building an addition to his house and improving the surrounding buildings.

A grand birthday party was recently given at the home of John Shepherd in honor of his grandson.

This place has settled down again into its customary ways, only a few boarders remain and soon the only occupation to secure an income will be the ties, when the merchants and blacksmiths will have their turn.

Nathan Emery is suffering with a sore hand and wrist which all started from a small pimple on his finger.

Ralph Angle has purchased a new mowing machine.

G. W. Donaldson is expected to return here soon.

Mr. Kern, proprietor of Bellvue Hotel, who has been in ill health for a long time, has not fully recovered but seems improving in appearance.

The books at State College are now open for enrollment of farmers boys. Tuition is free and board only $4.50.

W. H. Layton will teach the Silver Lake school and Miss Carrie Hornbeck the one at Coles the coming term. Both are experienced teachers and well qualified to instruct. Miss Kyte of Sandyston will teach at Centre and it is hoped will prove as successful as was her predecessor, Miss Hornbeck, who is now engaged in the primary department at Milford.

Young Bradshaw has been employed by Martin Hatton for four years. This is evidence that both himself and wife, who is a cook, are excellent help.

Eggs will be expensive to produce next winter as grain here is a failure. Pork will also feel the effects and diminutive barrows will likely be in demand to pick the product.

The anxiety concerning the welfare of Americans in Turkey during the latter part of last week has been materially abated by the decidedly belated news that Vice Consul Mogelosen, at Beirut, Syria, was not murdered, as at first reported, but was merely fired at, the shots failing to take effect, and that the insurgents have been apprehended and the officials have rendered full apologies to the United States Minister Leishman at Constantinople. Before the correct version of the affair was received, the president ordered the European squadron to Turkish waters and the fleet, under the command of Admiral Cotta, is now en route for Genoa and thence will sail for Turkish waters. When informed of the error in the first report, the president announced that he would not rescind his order to the fleet as the situation in Turkey appeared to be so acute that he regarded the presence of American war ships in Turkish waters as essential to the safety of American citizens in the empire.

A Remarkable Record

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Balch & Son, Matamoras, all general stores in Pike county.

Gold has been discovered in the Wichita Mountains, right under Mr. Bryan's nose. Under these circumstances can the Nebraska statesman devote the time necessary to the study of the sociological conditions of Europe?

The American Economist pictures the free-trade jackass and the free soup bowl as being inseparable companions. The Economist does not believe that the country is anxious to have them re-established.

His Life Saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

"B. L. Eyer, a well known cooper of this town, says he believes Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy saved his life last summer. He had been sick for a month with what the doctors call bilious dysentery, and could get nothing to do him any good until he tried this remedy. It gave him immediate relief," says B. T. Little, merchant, Hanesok, Md. For sale by Balch & Son, Matamoras, all general stores in Pike county.

FALL SPICES

Good spices are desirable at any time; they are necessary now, for the results of your care and labor during the canning and pickling season may depend upon them.

We buy spices as carefully as the most delicate drugs and we have results to show for our caution. Our spices give results. Try them.
