CREATED A SENSATION.

The First Automobile in a Far West Town.

The idea of utilizing the automobile in deer-hunting has been introduced to the West. Mr. W. W. Price, of Colorado Springs, probably has the honor of being the first one to go after deer and other big game in a motor car. Mr. Price has recently returned from a tour in which he was quite successful, and which covered several hundred miles through the wildest portions of the State. Accompanied by Dr. E. E. Smith, Mr. Price started in a Winton car of about fifteen horse power, going through South Park and Buena Vista, and climbing the Pass, one of the most difficult passages in the Colorado Rockies. They entered the "Flat Top" country, as it is called, going directly to the deer ranges in the vicinity. Several fine specimens were shot, and the game "tracked" on the front of the touring car to be brought back to their headquarters at the camp of the Montgomery Land and Cattle Company.

During the trip the auto passed through a considerable portion of the country which has never before been visited by a chauffeur. Near the town of Meeker a band of deer actually followed the car some distance, apparently astonished at the strange animal. While within easy range of the rifles, carried by Mr. Price and his companions, no attempt was made to shoot them, as it was not considered sportsmanlike.

The arrival of the huntmen at Meeker caused a sensation, as few in the town had ever seen such a vehicle, and it was the first to make its appearance within the limits. The local paper, in commenting upon the arrival, said: "The first automobile to make its appearance in this valley arrived Tuesday evening, the distance between Meeker and Meeker having been covered in three and one-half hours, including stops and one slight breakdown. Mr. W. W. Price and Dr. C. E. Smith were the passengers. The machine was given a box stall at Simp Harry's livery, and 'Salty' was on hand with a new fifty foot rope and a pair of hobbles to secure the thing. All the horses in the barn talked it over that night, and concluded that when the roads were bad it would be the same old thing—double up and get up in the collar. It will not prove as destructive to the range as sheep."

Meeker is one of the principal cattle markets of this section of the West, and cowboys are always riding about its streets. When the auto and its passengers came down the main street several of the "boys" got out their lassos and tried to put the rope around one of the wheels. After Mr. Price had "put it up" at "Simp Harry's" a party of the range riders entered the stable and went through the ceremony of branding it as a "sagebrush." The motor was the first of its kind to go through the Grand River Canon, and for many miles passed over a "highway" which has been literally blasted out of solid rock by the State. The road is only wide enough to allow one vehicle to pass, and on either side the walls in some places reach a height of a thousand feet. Mr. Price states that for much of the way they passed over a solid bed of rock with not even an inch of earth for a top covering.—Harper's Weekly.

A Chestnut.
The use of the word "chestnut" as a typifying old story may be traced to Edwin A. Abbey, the celebrated artist, who is painting the picture of the coronation of King Edward VII. at the King's command.
Mr. Abbey is an American, and was born in Philadelphia and educated at that city. Later on he joined a prominent club, the members of which prided themselves on their ability to tell smart and witty anecdotes. The artist was fond of a joke, and was in the habit of always purposely telling the same yarn.
It was a pointless story about a man who had a chestnut farm, and who never made any money because he could not resist the temptation to give his crop away.
Mr. Abbey always began this story in a different way, but would gradually lead up to it until his hearers would recognize it and cry "chestnuts."
And in that way the word gradually assumed its slang significance, and is now used to brand a story as old when ever the English language is spoken.

All of the Same Religion.
When the late Charles Godfrey Le Land was editing in New York "The Knickerbocker Magazine," he gave a weekly reception that was popular among literary people.
There arose at one of these receptions a noisy argument about religion: To quiet them Mr. Le Land cried out in a voice loud enough to be heard above all:
"Intelligent persons are all of the same religion."
A tall assiduous, some one said:
"What religion is that?"
"That," answered Mr. Le Land, "is what intelligent persons never tell."

No Lie.
"I don't think it is a nice thing to say to Mrs. Odson that she got her husband at a bargain counter."
"Oh but it's true. He was the young man that saved her life in a crash at a glaze sale at Spotswood's one day,"—Chicago Tribune.

A Long Money-won Trip.
Maxie—Papa has offered to pay all the expenses of our honeymoon trip. Claude—"Then we'll never come back."

For a Bad Cold
If you have a bad cold you need a reliable medicine like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to loosen and relieve it, and to remedy the irritation and inflammation of the throat and lungs. The soothing and healing properties of this remedy and the quick cure which it effects make it a favorite remedy for all general colds in Pike county.

How to Get On.

In a certain very large commission house in Worth street the senior partner is a very busy man indeed, and at the same time, very pappy. So large is his concern that it is quite impossible for him to keep in touch with the many details of his business, and one of the departments he leaves to his manager is the payment of his clerks. But about a month ago one of his young men bearded him in his den and broached the subject of an increase in salary. His wages had stood at $1,000 a year, too long to please him. "All my clerks are paid what they are worth to me," scowled the old man, "and I look upon your application as a piece of impertinence! What salary are you getting now?"

A happy thought struck the clerk. "Two thousand dollars a year," he said. "Um!" said the old man. "Well, that is all I have to say to you. Send in the manager!"
The manager entered shortly after. "Maks Brown's salary fifteen hundred dollars a year," he said. "The manager was about to offer an explanation."
"Do as I tell you!" thundered the old man. "I'll teach the young puppy to dictate to me what salary to pay my people!"—Mail and Express.

Couldn't Help It.
The youthful orator came down from the platform at the close of his address, and many people pressed forward to shake him by the hand. He accepted their congratulations with a smiling face, but his eyes were on a certain auditor who lingered in his seat. The young lecturer pressed through the throng about him and extended his hand to the waiting man.
"I want to thank you," he said, "for the close attention you gave my remarks. Your returned face was inspiring to me. I am sure you never changed your earnest attitude during my lecture."
"No," said the man, "I have a stiff neck."—The Bita.

Stopped the Screaming.
The young man kissed her and she screamed.
"What is the matter, Nellie?" demanded a stern voice from upstairs.
"I just saw a mouse," she fibbed.
Presently the young man climbed another floor, and the scream was repeated. Again came the stern voice: "What is it this time?"
"I just saw another mouse."
Then the old man came down with the house cat, a mouse trap and a cane and sat in a corner to watch developments.

The Fool and the Wise Man.
He loved to lean upon the fence
And watch the swallows dart,
And hear the lark with joy immense
Let song pour from his heart.
He loved to linger by the brook
And watch the bubbles play,
And drowse and dream above his hook,
With trouble far away.
With simple joys he was content;
He had no wish to rule;
Men said his days were all misspent
And called the man a fool.
Another where the crowds were great
Went scheming day by day;
He filled men's hearts with fear and hate,
And pilled his gains away.
He never knew one hour of rest,
His brow was lined with care;
If joy had ever been in his breast
It had not lingered there.
No birds enchanted him with song,
His dreams were full of sighs,
But people saw him push along,
And thought that he was wise.
—E. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

Percy—Miss Sweetly, do you think you could be happy with a man like me?
Miss Sweetly—Well, perhaps—if he wasn't too much like you!—Comic Outfit.

He Had All the Bait.
In speaking on the negro question the other night Oscar R. Hundley, for many years a member of the Alabama Legislature, told a story to illustrate the workings of certain politicians. "I was out walking one spring," he said, "and saw sitting on the bank of a creek fishing an old, wretched negro and an uneasy little pickaninny. I watched them, until finally the little fellow wriggled off his log, going to the bottom of the creek. The old negro tossed off his coat, and diving, grabbed the child and drew him out. I said to him, 'Gince, that was surely a magnificent catch; you must think a lot of the boy.'
"Oh, so! miah, you don't know 'Nactus. He's just the orange, 'er 'lime', ah! less little cuss that eat waa. But he had all the bait in his pocket."

Belch & Son, Matamoros, and all general stores in Pike county guarantee every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and will refund the money to anyone who is not satisfied after using two-thirds of the contents. This is the best remedy in the world for la grippe, coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough and is pleasant and safe to take. It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. 25 50 4

Would Not Insure Him.

Insurance Companies would not insure the Rev. J. W. Yeisley because he had Kidney Trouble.

Mr. Yeisley was much discouraged till a friend recommended Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and it cured him. Mr. Yeisley writes:
"My kidneys and liver were in bad condition and I was anxious for relief. I had tried many remedies without success. I bought a bottle of 'Favorite Remedy,' which effected a cure. Its merit. The best proof that it has completely cured me is my recent acceptance by four different life insurance companies."
The Rev. Mr. Yeisley is the pastor of the First Reformed Church of St. Paris, Ohio, and is as well the editor of the St. Paris Dispatch.

There is no question that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best and surest medicine in the world for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as the weakness peculiar to women. It quickly relieves and cures inability to hold urine and the necessity of getting up a number of times during the night and puts an end to that wearying pain when passing urine.
It is for sale by all druggists in the New York Central States and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose. Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Randolph, N. Y.

Dr. David Kennedy's Big Eye Salve for all diseases of inflammation of the Eye. 50c.

It is learned that a ship subsidy bill will again be introduced and pushed at this congress. There seems to have been an unwarranted opposition in the past to any of the proposed plans of protection to American shipping. What the provisions of the proposed bill will be is not yet known but there can be but one opinion among protectionists as to the soundness of a policy for the upbuilding of our American marine through some protective measure. At present ninety per cent of our great export trade is carried in foreign ships, aggregating an enormous freight charge going into foreign hands. We should send our goods abroad in our own ships.
The Hon. Bourke Cochran and the Hon. Charles Towne are in the midst of a lively controversy as to which orator carried the city for Tammany. Mr. Cochran insists that 51 per cent of the credit is due himself while Mr. Towne is firmly possessed of the idea, doubtless born of his recent Wall Street octopi-mingling habits, that he himself represents a controlling interest in this monopoly.

HOTELS AND BOARDING HOUSES
A Matter of Advertising Proposed by the Erie Which is of General Interest to People Here
The General Passenger Department of the Erie Railroad has been informed that the accommodation for Summer Boarders at various points along its line are inadequate to meet the demands.
It is proposed to more thoroughly advertise this business next season than ever before, and to accommodate all who desire to locate in this most picturesque country, through which the Erie Railroad runs, by extending the advertising campaign to Summer Boarding business to increase their facilities and to improve their accommodations especially in the line of sanitary conditions. Where it is possible running water and bath room facilities should be installed in order to promote more healthful conditions, thereby making the locations more desirable.
Those who intend making improvements on building new houses or boarding houses, will please notify E. H. Burro, Traveling Passenger Agent of Erie Railroad, Chambers Street Station, New York City, who has charge of the Summer House business. Application blanks for space in next season's Summer House Book will be ready in simple time, and cost of advertising from these near Erie Railroad agents. 12 19 03
