SEARCHING THE RIVER BOTTOM.

Strange Way of Making a Living Adopted by Two New Yorkers.

There are many peculiar occupations followed by those engaged in gaining a livelihood in and around New York.

Things which the majority of people throw away as rubbish are picked up by Italians and other foreigners and sold. A lot like this junk shops along the river front will give one a little idea of the thousand and one things that have found their way thither after being discarded by their owners. The junkmen do a thriving business and often make fortunes out of the stuff they handle.

Among the many unknown ways by which a subsistence is gained is one followed by two men, who, year in and year out, in autumn or in rain, can be seen rowing on the East or North River. While one keeps the small boat in position the other, with grappling hook and poles, drags the bottom of the stream for whatever of value may be pulled from the depths. Pieces of rope or machinery and a variety of stuff, good or bad, is hauled to them. Nothing is too small to be rejected, and it must indeed be worthless if, after examination, it is returned to the water. The men have been at the business for many years, and long practice has made them experts at handling the discarded article that river owners had consigned to the river's depths.

The finds are sometimes quite valuable. Several years ago they came across a water-tight box containing valuable papers and jewelry which had been lost overboard on a collision between two steamers. On returning it to the owner they received a handsome reward. The recovery of the papers put a sudden end to a big law suit which the owner would otherwise have lost.

At times the men pick up other things than those they seek. Not infrequently they have brought to the surface the bodies of drowned persons, who have either committed suicide or met their deaths through accident.

In some cases the bodies indicate that murder has been committed.—N. Y. News.

OUT OF THE MONTHS OF BABES.

First Little Girl—My papa's a broker. Second Little Girl—Huh, that's nothing? My papa's always broke.

Little Nellie was out riding one day with her mother, and as they passed a cemetery, she asked: "Mamma, how long does it take for the tombstones to come up after they plant people?"

"Beatin'," said the teacher to a small pupil, "can you tell me what memory is?"

After a moment's reflection the little one replied: "Memory is the thing people use to forget things with."

A pupil in a village school who had been requested to write an essay on the human body handed in the following:

"The human body consists of the head, throat, abdomen and legs. The head contains the brain in case there are any. The throat contains the heart and lungs also the liver and lights. The abdomen contains the bowels of which there are five—A, I, N, U, and sometimes W and Y. The legs extend from the abdomen to the floor and have hinges at the top and midsize to enable a fellow to sit when standing or to stand when sitting."—Chicago Tribune.

Kidney Disease Kills.

Its Victims Numbered by the Hundreds of Thousands.

Kidney disease should be attended to at once, for almost 90 per cent. of our unexpected deaths of today are from that cause. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the only sure cure known for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation. It is marvelous how it stops that pain in the back, relieves the necessity of urinating so often at night, drives away that scalding pain in passing water, corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer and shows its beneficial effects on the system in an incredibly short time.

George L. South, foreman of the Holley Manufacturing Company's Works, Lockport, N. Y., says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy with the most beneficial results. I was troubled with gravel and kidney complaint very severely, it bothered me a great deal, and have found great relief from its use, and cheerfully recommend it."

"Favorite Remedy" is the most successful medicine ever discovered for kidney, bladder, liver and blood diseases. Its record of cures has made it famous in medical circles everywhere. It is recognized as a specific. It purifies the blood and dissolves the excess of uric acid in it, clears up the urine, restores the kidneys and bladder to their normal condition, and gently moves the bowels.

It is for sale by all druggists in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose.

Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rensselaer, N. Y.

American Nervous.

A German physician who once came to this country to practice was soon so bewildered by various nervous ailments he came in contact with that he bunched them all together, and called them American.

It is commonly said that Americans overwork their brains and bodies, but it would be truer to say they misuse their bodies. If they run to catch a train; if they start out for healthful exercise; even if they lie down to sleep, they throw so much wasteful energy into these acts that they actually impede the muscles. This is pre-eminently true of American women, and of American women of leisure, at that. Generally a working woman learns some economy of energy because she realizes that she cannot go on by waste.

In the matter of lying down to rest, how rarely do you see a woman who lies supine like a little child, who allows the bed to take the responsibility of holding her up. Instead she holds on to the bed, she grips the pillow, draws up her knees, tightly clenches her teeth. In her busy brain she goes over and over again the little round of her day, or she tastes in anticipation the troubles of to-morrow.

The Victim Knows.

"Tell me what people read and I will tell you what they are," said the self-confessed philosopher. "Well, there's my wife," rejoined the dyspeptic party. "She's forever reading cook books. Now, what is she?" "Why a cook, of course," replied the philosophy dispenser. "That's where the spoken sat in your wheels," said the other. "She only thinks she is."—Chicago Daily News.

HIS STOLEN CHICKENS.

Bought Back of a Pair of Jersey Darkies.

A farmer in southern Jersey was recently attracted to a sale of chickens which he was going on in front of the post-office of a small town.

"Day certainly is a rare lot of birds," said the colored man, who, with an astute, another dusky brother, was offering the chickens separately to the highest bidder. A large basket on the back of an old phanton held a dozen or more.

Squire Rogers, as the man from the farm was known, edged up close to the talkative darkies and said to a neighbor in the crowd:

"Them birds look powerful like some I've got over on the farm. There are very few like 'em in the county. I'm 'goin' to buy a bunch of 'em and then, 'goin' to show a better lot of chickens than I've got."

The squire bought ten. He bid them up to fancy prices just to show his friends that what he was "goin' to havin' he was 'goin' to get." He tied their legs together securely, put them into his carriage, and during the long drive home kept congratulating himself on his shrewdness and picturing Samantha's delight over the splendid addition to the chicken yard.

Upon arriving home he was surprised to see Samantha come rushing down to the gate.

"Oh, John," she cried, "somebody stole twelve of our finest chickens. I heard a noise in the coop just after you left, and then saw a carriage dash away down the road."

John was laughing by this time.

"What do you mean by sneaking that way?" demanded the irate wife.

"Gee darn it all," replied the farmer, "the same fellows who took the chickens look me in. I've got all but two of 'em back again. I bought 'em. I recollect now, that there was something familiar lookin' about 'em."

"Big husky fellow. I s'pose?"

"Oh, no; merely the India robber man."—Kansas City Journal.
