J. H. Van Riten, PUBLISHER, Milford, Pike County, Pa.

We publish elsewhere a list of the papers and times the combination advertisement of Milford will appear. It will be seen that a wide field is covered and by papers which reach many homes. If general publicity is what a town needs Milford ought to be satisfied this year.

Port Jervis merchants have also raised a fund which will be used in getting out and circulating leaflets calling attention to the surrounding sections.

Some anxiety is occasioned by the fact that the Erie is discharging a number of men. About 50 have been laid off at Port Jervis, 15 at Susquehanna and the force will be probably further decreased in several departments. Four towers will be temporarily discontinued.

Menales are prevalent up in Shohola.

Mrs. M. C. Nye of Port Jervis was in town yesterday.

Clyde Kipp is home from the East Stroudsburg State Normal School.

Look out for further notice next week of a social at the Methodist church on the evening of Decoration Day, May 30th.

John H. Gale, an experienced club steward, will have charge of the Forest Lake Association House the coming season.

Dennis McLaughlin is expected with his family to occupy their cottage on upper Broad street next Monday for the season.

Mrs. Charles Beck, formerly Annie Schroeder, and step daughter of Brockley were visitors in town a couple of days this week.

A. J. Canfield has been elected president and Dr. M. D. Hughes vice president of the new national bank at Branchville. It is expected to be open for business some time in July.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation from Prof. Charles S. Honck to attend the commencement exercises of the Matamoras High School which will take place May twenty-seventh.

The family of H. L. Myer, accompanied by Harry Pantly, who took up land in Oklahoma some time ago and went there to reside, returned home last week. It is said they lost about $800 in the venture.

From present indications the Japanese have thrown two divisions or about 30,000 efficient men in the rear of General Kuropatkins army. He is retreating toward Harbin and if there is a force of the enemy both in his front and rear it would seem that a decisive battle must soon be fought.

Binghamton and Return $1 May 20 Sunday, May 29th, the Erie will run a special excursion from Port Jervis to Binghamton and Ross Park at the low rate of one dollar for the round trip. Special train leaving Port Jervis at 7 a. m. This will give the general public a delightful low rate outing trip to the beautiful Parlor City, and its picturesque Ross Park and afford a day of enjoyable recreation and special visit with friends along the line. Remember the special train leaves Port Jervis at 7 a. m., Sunday, May 29th, fare only $1 for the round trip.

Unclaimed Letters

List of unclaimed letters remaining in the post office at Milford for the week ending May 21, 1904:

Miss E. F. Van Dyke, Luna Van Auburn, W. E. Thomas.

Persons claiming the above will please say "Advertised" and give date of this list.

THE OLD GRAND ARMY BOYS

You may talk about the Masons And the Odd Fellows and such; You may call them so fraternal As to fairly beat the Dutch; You may praise them if you choose to, With their mystic rites and noise, But they cannot hold a candle To the old Grand Army boys.

For a man that has the money Can learn all about their craft; He can get degrees and pass-words That would make a funeral laugh, And be loaded down with symbols— But for true fraternal joys They cannot hold a candle To the old Grand Army boys.

They may talk about their badges, But the one that has the call To the Star and Flag and Eagle, Which is far above them all, It was won where cannon thundered, 'Mid the battle's smoke and noise; So there's nothing holds a candle To the old Grand Army boys.

Why, they fought and bled together, And they shared the prison pen; They faced the foe in battle With the elbow-touch of men. Then the compact was cemented 'Mid the battle's smoke and noise; So there's nothing holds a candle To the old Grand Army boys.

They fraternal? Well, I reckon; And their charity's all right; Are they loyal? They have proved it, For they left their homes to fight— And this Nation owes them homage For the peace it now enjoys; So there's nothing holds a candle To the old Grand Army boys. —Capt. John F. McGuire.

Barring Anarchists

The United States Supreme Court has rendered a decision which sustains the immigration authorities in deporting one Turner, an English Anarchist, who came from England to lecture in company with Emma Goldman and John Most, pronounced socialists. This may bar out that class of undesirable agitators who come to here foment discord. The Act of Congress provides that no person who disbelieves in or is opposed to all organized forms of government, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization teaching such belief or who advocates the duty, necessity or propriety of killing officers of any organized government because of their official character, shall be permitted to enter the United States.

Just What a Blush Is

If any young lady wishes to know just what a blush is she can study the definition given in Southern Medicines which is perhaps correct. If any one can give a better beyond saying, getting red in the face we would like to have it. This is what one is: "A blush is a temporary erythema and colorific effluence of the physiognomy, actuated by one perceptiveness of the sensorium when in a predicament of unequilibrium from a sense of shame, anger or other cause, eventuating in a paresis of the vasomotor filaments of the facial capillaries, whereby, being divested of their elasticity, they are suffused with a radiance emanating from an intimidated precordia."

Passing of the Locomotive

The great obstacles to the substitution of electricity for steam as a motive power upon railroads, according to President Mellen, are the character of the construction of the roads themselves, the frequency of crossings and the danger attending the conducting of the power by third rail. And in spite of them all, he expects within a few years to see the steam locomotive become in the nature of a curiosity. It has served a useful purpose, but it will have no mourners when it is displaced.

BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, blood must have blood-food and so on through the list.

Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment for soft bones in children. Little doses every day give the stiffness and shape that healthy bones should have. Bow legs become straighter, loose joints grow stronger and firmness comes to the soft heads.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it. In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood.

Competition of Beef Trust

The beef trust is to have competition from an unexpected quarter, according to a special telegram from New York City. It is said that American citizens have joined in an enterprise with cattle and meat men of Argentine and that contracts have been made for a large refrigerator plant and wharves in Argentina, with a view to shipping large quantities of beef and mutton to this country by way of a line of refrigerator steamships to ply between Buenos Ayres and New York. The dispatch says that the beef and mutton will be offered here at prices considerably below those maintained by the beef trust. In European markets beef and mutton from the Argentine Republic have been in keen competition with American meats for several years. Shipped from the South American republic in refrigerator steamers to London, Liverpool and other ports, beef has sold in large quantities from 6 to 6 cents wholesale. The beef trust has met these prices abroad, but invariably has attained higher rates here. But while this plan will hit the beef trust it incidentally will affect an interest quite opposed to beef trust methods—the great live stock industry of the country.

Corsets on Monkeys

A prominent physician in Chicago has been testing the sanitary effects of corsets by applying the tests of tight lacing on monkeys. Miniature "monkey corsets" were constructed and applied to selected specimens of our female progenitors. The V-shaped corsets of our fashionable women when tightly laced were found to be fatal to the young monkeys and some of them died under the pressure in a few days. But in general the monkey lost flesh moped and were attacked by gastric and other internal disorders. The hardest of them died within a few months and the doctor reports that in every case the stays were the cause of it. However, our Simian relatives might not thrive if they had to wear high-heeled boots, goloahs, altitudinous collars, plug hats and ulsters; consequently the monkey argument is not conclusive against the corset. Indeed it would be a sad experiment in evolution if a human being, after surviving the efforts of prehistoric ancestry, could not defy so small a thing as a corset.—Boston Globe.

Exploded Delusions

How science does destroy our pet whims. Our ancestors long held the delusion that the ringing of the church bells had the effect to break up a thunder storm. It was supposed that the vibration of the air caused the dissipation of the electric fluid in the air. Hence on the approach of thunder storms somebody used to brave the elements, rush out and ring the village bell, thus affording the necessary space of mind to the frightened sojourners. All is changed now. In fact, the contrary opinion is held. The vibration caused by the sound of a bell on an overhanging cloud may cause it to discharge its contents upon the ringers of the bell in the church tower.

Women Farmers

Nearly all agricultural departments of Western Universities, and a number of Eastern institutions, now admit women on equal terms with men. Special branches of farming, such as market gardening, small fruit growing and dairying, have been profitably taken up by women all over the country. Experiments in growing varieties of nut trees is the latest field in this line to which women have turned their attention.

One Bright Incident

Political campaigns in Florida can never be wholly devoid of interest so long as one of the candidates spells his name Tallaferra and pronounces it Tolliver.—Chicago Chronicle.

If you want folders for leap year parties or dances, THE PRESS has handsome ones at an easy price. Just remember we do any kind of printing from a large poster down to a beautifully engraved card, and at reasonable rates. Will be glad to have orders for vintage bills.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The Town Council will receive bids for roofing the Borough Building with slate; also erecting a building in rear of the Borough Building for housing the Street Sprinkler, Road Machine, etc. Bidders to submit plans and specifications with their bids. A general idea as to the work to be done will be given upon application to G. R. Quick, President of the Town Council. The Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids. The bids will be opened at the regular meeting, June 5, 1904. By order of the Council, H. T. ARMSTRONG, Secretary. Milford, Pa., May 6, 1904.

Peculiar To Itself

In what it is and what it does—containing the best blood-purifying, alterative and tonic substances and effecting the most radical and permanent cures of all humors and all eruptions, relieving weak, tired, languid feelings, and building up the whole system—is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No other medicine acts like it; no other medicine has done so much real, substantial good, no other medicine has restored health and strength at so little cost. "I was troubled with scurf and came near losing my sight. For four months I could not see to do anything. After taking ten bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I could see to walk, and when I had taken eight bottles I could see as well as ever." S. A. HAINES, Fox, Withers, N. C. Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

Hewitt—So we have hugged the same girl. Jewitt—Yes, I suppose she looks upon us as members of the associated press.—Town Topics.

Miss Corsetta—What a beautiful bouquet Clair has in her lap over there in the third back! Miss Pompadura (looking)—That's her hat.—Cleveland Leader.

"You don't mean to say you girls have started a secret society?" "Yes; it's a society, whose members pledge themselves to tell all the secrets, they know."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"B. But I thought the cannibal king was banished and was not eating any meat," protested the shipwrecked sailor. "So he is," responded the cannibal queen grimly; "but he regards you as sea-food."—Judge.

Freddie—What is circumstantial evidence? Colwigger—As a general thing, it's the theory of an expert which is proved to be entirely wrong when the truth comes out.—Town and Country.

Impatient Young Man—Nellie, how is our romance—yours and mine—going to end. Nellie (apprehensive)—Why, Geoffrey, you don't want to skip to the last chapter yet, do you?—Chicago Tribune.

"It serves her good and right." "How now?" She became engaged on a Friday and married on the thirtieth. "Well, now she can't get a divorce!"—New York Evening Sun.

"Young man," said the employer sternly, "you misinformed me when you said yesterday that you wanted to get away to go to a funeral."

"Well," answered the youth who had seen the Yale club defeated, "it wasn't exactly a funeral. But it was almost as sad."—Washington Star.

Wyckoff's New York Store Weekly News YOUR SUMMER OUTFITTING

Your Summer outfitting can be done in this store to your complete satisfaction and it's not a bit too early to make selections. We cannot too strongly emphasize the worthiness of our equipment of warm weather wearables. Can't tell you about the whole stock, so we'll just hint here and there and cordially invite your earliest inspection.

Introductory Sale of Two Piece Suits. The two piece suits hold the right of line for a summer favorite. We've got a very handsome showing in Lawns, Mualins, Percales and soft silks. We have been very busy in this line, many numbers closed out but new one coming to take their places. This seems as though it would be a Shirt Waist Suit season.

White Waists. There's more style, more comfort and more economy in a shirt waist than in any other garment in a woman's wardrobe. This department, considering the backwardness of the season, has been unusually busy. Reason is apparent when you see the style and quality we offer for the price. Every single garment is new,—positively this season's make.

Lawn Wrappers. The warm weather is on in earnest and you can make yourself comfortable by using our lawn wrappers for working and one of our matinee suits—really a two-piece lawn suit, a dressing sacque and skirt. These at about the price of an ordinary wrapper, neat and dressy. Our lawn wrappers are in light and dark colors. All sizes up to 46.
