J. B. VAN ETEN, PUBLISHER, Milford, Pike County, Pa.

In order to determine if there is a sentiment here to form a village improvement society all interested are invited to meet at the home of Mrs. J. H. Van Eton on Fourth street, Tuesday afternoon, June 14, at 4 p. m. There are volunteer offers of liberal subscriptions if an organization is effected so that the funds will be judiciously and systematically expended.

Without underrating the merits and ability of a number of gentlemen in this state, it would seem that Hon. John P. Elkin would make an ideal senator. He is an excellent lawyer, a good speaker, a man of broad mind with liberal views and fearless in expressing his opinions. His presence in the Senate would give Pennsylvania a suitable rank among her sister states and give her a voice which would have weight in shaping the affairs of the nation.

The question of United States Senator to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Hon. M. S. Quay is now engaging a coterie of politicians from Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Plots and counterplots appear to be the order. The latest name conjured with is that of Attorney General Knox. Hon. John P. Elkin, William Flinn, Henry W. Oliver and others in turn have been mentioned. Governor Pennypacker has not signified his intention and it is not known whether he will act of his own volition or take orders. The wealth and importance of this state demands that she should be represented by some one of commanding ability and with statesmanlike qualities.

Acquired Idleness

According to Mrs. Theodore W. Birney, who gives so many valuable suggestions every month in The Delineator to those who have the care of children, habits of idleness are acquired, and not due to that convenient bugbear, "natural depravity." These are some of the wise thoughts in her paper for July: "It is as natural for children to be busy as it is for them to breathe. We are all familiar with the ceaseless activity of the wee toddlers, who are here, there and everywhere. . . . It is true that children who are habitually unoccupied want to be eating continually; it is also true that by presenting artistic pleasures and pursuits to young people, the gross and objectionable ceases to attract them. Every member of a family should daily be responsible for some effort which should conduce to the comfort, convenience or pleasure of the household. . . . Young children should be allowed to spend by far the greater part of their time in play; but while the greatest possible liberty should be permitted children in their recreations, we should bear in mind that, as one author has expressed it, 'Lawlessness and ungoverned caprice during play hours are the foundation of misdeeds of civic freedom.'"

Cookery for Outdoors and Indoors. Summer picnicks and garden-party hostesses may turn to the July Delineator for novel and attractive ideas. Many forms of outdoor festivities are therein set forth, in addition to innumerable suggestions of domestic value. A vegetable breakfast, illustrated, will appeal to a large class, while of general ordinary interest are the recipes for summer fruits and for dainty dishes from yeast. An article on insect pests will be of great service at this season.

Reformed Church Notes.

(By Rev. A. J. Meyer of Monticello.)

The Willing Workers society held a very interesting meeting at the home of Miss Margaret Westbrook last Friday evening.

The Ladies Aid society will give a strawberry and ice cream festival in the church parlors on the evening of Tuesday, June 14th, if stormy the next fair evening. A cordial invitation is given our Milford friends to renew old acquaintances that night.

The Dorcas society met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. De Cole and completed arrangements for their usual June festival to be held Thursday, June 16th, but if stormy the next fair evening. Strawberries and ice cream will be served and the customary good time is in store for all who attend.

The pastor will preach in the lower Clove-school house next Sunday afternoon at 2.15 and will continue to preach there every second Sabbath afternoon thereafter.

George Armstrong, who has been in the Port Jervis hospital for nearly six weeks suffering from appendicitis, is now convalescing at the home of Mr. Ayres in Port Jervis and Mrs. A. J. Briak who has been suffering from the same malady is now on the fair way to recovery.

Democratic contemporaries have a way of cheerfully making the best of facts and uniting their arguments to whatever conditions are thrust upon them. In other words they assume to get in their blows on every question going and coming. This plan might be very successful if it were effective. Unfortunately for the party, the people of the country prefer fixed tactics and policies. Take the case of the Roosevelt-McClellan incident. In the President's speech at Antietam he made no mention of General McClellan and we were told that this omission would make Mayor McClellan a powerful factor in the presidential election and that the old soldiers would rally by the thousands to the son as a rebuke to the President. Later, in his speech at Gettysburg, on Memorial Day, the President paid a most generous tribute to General McClellan and coupled his name with those of the great heroes of the Civil War. Now we are told that the President was frightened into this course and his remarks about the Union Commander will bring to the McClellan Jr. standard great numbers of the boys of '61-5. If the McClellan boom rests upon nothing more substantial than this sort of talk, it will hardly electrify the country.

Signal Cruelty. William Waldorf Astor spoke recently before the London Clubmen's Benevolent Society, an organization in which he takes a deep interest. Mr. Astor's subject was kindness, and at one point he said: "Kindness is a virtue that stands out brightest by contrast with some signal piece of cruelty. I'll tell you of a piece of cruelty that was practiced, my gardener informs me, on a certain costermonger. "This costermonger lay dying. As he neared his end his wife said to him: "'Don't you think you could eat a bit of something, John?' "'I might,' the man answered. "'Good,' said she. 'Now, what can I get for you?' "'Well,' said the costermonger, 'I seem to smell ham-a-cookin' somewhere. I think I could eat a bit of that.' "'Oh, no, John, dear,' said his wife. 'You can't have that. That's for the funeral.'"

ADDITIONAL NEWS ITEMS

The borough council has levied a 7 mill tax. The Jagger appeal case will be argued June 21st.

C. E. Williams and wife of Paopac were in town Tuesday. Arsene E. Ragot, a brother of Louis F., died last Thursday at Schocopee aged about 48 years.

A. D. Brown and daughter, Mrs. F. A. Westfall, are on a visit in New York. Miss Beattie Armstrong is home from Dickinson College for the summer vacation.

We appear to have an abundance of rain here, and down in Georgia they are praying for more. The net proceeds of the festival of the C. E. society held in the Presbyterian church last evening were about $23.

R. V. R. Stuyvesant of New York who for many years has been a regular visitor here is again a guest at the Dimulok cottage on Ann street.

J. B. Hendershot of Newton, fish and game warden of Sussex county, has been appointed a special for this county among others by the State Game Commission of Penn.

The damage by lightning to the house of Edward Shepherd in Dolans was has been adjusted and paid in full through the agency of C. H. Wood & Son. It is satisfactory to have business done in this prompt manner.

Miss Carrie Westbrook of Blooming Grove, who has been visiting friends here, returned home this week. She was accompanied on her return by Mrs. Arminda Bull who will remain several days.

A proposition is on foot to establish a colony of Syrians in Middle Smithfield, Monroe county. A representative has examined the grounds and appeared satisfied. It will be an industrial establishment for making silks and laces and will employ 500 people. The site contemplated is near Winona Falls.

Three appeals were taken from the mercantile appraisement, all relating to pool tables. They were by E. F. Peters, P. M. Nills and P. N. Bourneque. Formerly a proportionate license was granted for part of the year, but this being abrogated the proprietors thought the tax for a year would be onerous.

Albert Halton, whose birth place was Dingmans in this county, died at Binghamton June 3d, aged 68 years. He was a civil war veteran a member of the 117 Pa. Vol., and held several important offices in the city of his adoption. One daughter, Mrs. L. E. Stardevant, three sisters, Mary of Binghamton, Mrs. Howard Crawford of Port Jervis, Mrs. Ed. Hazen of Notch, Pa., and two brothers, Martin of Delaware and James of Dawson City, Alaska, survive.

Eva C., a daughter of Arthur N. Roe of Branchville, died at the home of her brother, Irving N., last Sunday evening of typhoid fever. She graduated last January in the training school for nurses of the Orange Memorial Hospital and then resided in Newark. About two weeks ago she came to Branchville for a visit and soon developed symptoms of the fever. She was an active member of the Presbyterian church and the C. E. society. The funeral services were held Wednesday.

One Way Fare to N. Y. and Return. In order to afford the people of Milford and vicinity an opportunity to see the magnificent scenery of the Hudson river which beauties can never be fully realized when seen from the windows of a railway car, the Erie has arranged to run a special excursion to New York, leaving Port Jervis at 10.20 a. m., Saturday, June 11th; running to Newburgh, N. Y., thence via Hudson River Day Line Steamer to New York and good returning on or before Monday, June 13th, at the low rate of $2.50 for the round trip.

Rheumatism

What is the use of telling the rheumatic that he feels as if his joints were being dislocated? He knows that his sufferings are very much like the tortures of the rack. What he wants to know is what will permanently cure his disease.

That, according to thousands of grateful testimonials, is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It promptly neutralizes the acid in the blood on which the disease depends, completely eliminates it, and strengthens the system against its return. Try Hood's.

GREENTOWN.

(Notes from Scranton Business College) The students of the school show their appreciation of Prof. Bess's teaching by attending his class in the Elm Park Sunday School.

Miss Cora Cross of Greentown was a visitor at the college a few days ago. F. G. Hames was in town on business last Saturday.

Charles Carlton is doing fine pen-work and card writing in the Penn Arcade on Lackawanna avenue. Lloyd Smith and Harry Madden expect to attend a wedding in Greentown, June 8.

Mrs. William Davies and Olive Cross expect to visit friends and relatives in Greentown next week. W. L. Riley lectured in favor of the anti-salon league in the Simpson church Sunday evening.

An entertainment given in St. Lukes Auditorium Tuesday evening, June 6th, under the auspices of the B. L. A. was a grand success. Much credit is due to Supt. Madden for securing good music and especially in drilling the boys in the drill and song "I want to be a soldier", also in training the boys in an aerobic work which was fine for young boys.

A Competing Express Company. The Adams Express company, which runs over the O. & W., has opened an office opposite the Erie depot in Port Jervis and will compete for business. It is thought that as soon as the new short cut on the O. & W. is completed, so that trains can be run over that road direct to Monticello, there will be a complete divorce from the Erie.

The business over the Monticello branch is estimated at $25,000 a month and this the Erie will lose, besides having competition in express business to New York and points east. All this should be an object lesson for Erie and impel her to build a spur to Milford and thus secure for all time the business of the upper end of this valley.

How great is true greatness! According to a recent dispatch Charles W. Bryan of Lincoln, Nebraska, a brother of William Jennings, denies all stories of dissension in the Nebraska democracy. That body is a unit. We had never heard of Charles W. Bryan. We do not plead to special ignorance in this matter, we think there are others. But we submit that it is the radiant and scintillating effulgence which has persistently emanated from the cranium of William J., that has cast Charles W. into the gray and gloomy depths of unheralded mediocrity.

Not long since, it was stated that Port Arthur was impregnable and the Russian sympathized with the fanatical Japs bent upon only their own destruction; next it was learned that Russia proposed to leave the fortress to its fate and Japanese capture; now we hear that Russia deems Port Arthur not only pregnable but important and that she will endanger her whole campaign by going to its relief. In the mean while, Japan seems to continue sawing wood.
