Only the Truth.
A virtue carried to excess may become ridiculous. To such action one may well preach, "Be temperate in all things," even in virtue! Amelia Ople, the English authoress, was not content with any half measures, as is shown in a letter from her, quoted in "Quaker Pictorial," by Wilfred Whittier. Mrs. Ople's course of conduct is to be respected as proceeding from her conscientious nature, but fiction-readers may congratulate themselves that her opinions are not universal.

The Ozark Mountains.
The Ozark mountains form a plateau region, from 1,200 to 1,800 feet above the sea level, extending with gradual upliftings from the southern part of Illinois into Missouri, then sloping down, enters Arkansas and Indiana Territory, and extends into Kansas. The highest point is Pilot Knob, in Iron county, Mo. The hills are in separate peaks or knobs, and not continuous ridges. The irregularities which show mountain making processes as existing are not visible here.

Remedy for Choking.
"Holding the left arm as high as you can will relieve choking much more rapidly than the act of thumping one's back," said a physician, "and it is well that every one should know it, for often a person gets choked while eating where there is no one near to thump him. Very frequently at meals and when they are at play, children get choked while eating, and the customary manner of relieving them is to slap them sharply on the back. The effect of this is to set the obstruction free. The same thing can be brought about by raising the left hand of the child as high as possible, and the relief comes much more quickly. In happenings of this kind there should be no alarm, for if the child sees that older persons or parents get excited the effort is bad. The best thing is to tell the child to raise its left arm, and immediately the difficulty passes away."

PRESCRIPTIONS COMPOUNDED BY GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Makes Strong Healthy Children
A child needs nutritious food; not rich, heavy food, but something that feeds the delicate little stomach can easily digest. Such a child can only thrive and grow when given proper food values in the right proportions. For looking up the case children there is nothing quite so good.
Joxall's COD LIVER OIL EMULSION which is both a food and a medicine. It is a scientific emulsion of Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, pleasant to take and children love it. Its body-building qualities are wonderful. If you have children who are "not strong"—especially those at school—do not fail to try this splendid remedy. If you don't yourself it will make you feel like a new person within a week. Try it! Sold with the Retail Guarantee. In large bottles, 75c.

Heard in Some Households.
Absolutely no consideration for me. You are driving me to desperation. Your treatment is beyond endurance.
A weaker woman would be driven into a mad-house. I am surely losing my mind. I never had a moment's peace. You are making my life a hell on earth. You are driving me to an early grave. I am simply worn to the bone. Never get one kind word. Oh, why did I leave home? I can never open my mouth. Oh, if the grave would only open and take me in. I am all unstrung. I am on the verge of nervous prostration.—F. J. W., in Life.

The Limitations of Royalty.
The late King Oscar of Sweden was the last conventional of monarchs, but he had to courtesy to custom, nevertheless.

Confession of a Jury Man.
A lawyer once asked a man who had at various times sat on several juries, "Who influenced you most—the lawyers, the witnesses, or the judge?" He expected to get some useful and interesting information from so experienced a juror. This was the man's reply: "I tell you, sir, 'ow I makes up my mind, I'm a plain man, and a reasonable man, and I ain't influenced by anything the witnesses say, nor by what the judge says. I just looks at the man in the docks and I says, 'if he ain't done nothing, why's he there?' And I brings 'em all in guilty."

Microscopic Writing.
A remarkable machine made by a lately deceased member of the Royal Microscopical Society for writing with a diamond seems to have been broken up by its inventor. A specimen of its work is the Lord's prayer of 227 letters, written in the 1,237,000 of a square inch, which is at the rate of 53,810,000 letters or 15 complete Bibles, to a single square inch. To decipher the writing it is necessary to use a 1-12-inch objective, which is the high power lens physicians employ for studying the most minute bacteria.

Only Us Chickens.
The same thing that prompts one to say yes in answer to the query, "Are you asleep?" may have influenced the negro in the following story from Life:
It was a dark night, and the owner of the chicken-coop, gun in hand, was investigating certain suspicious noises he had heard.
"Who's in there?" he called at the open window.
"Res-ur-ris-ing," replied softly and reassuringly. "Ain't nobody heah 'cep'in us chickens."

Brought Into Commerce.
The fruit of the garlic tree is now being handled in fair commercial quantities for the production of a cheap type of vegetable grease, useful for the manufacture of soap and candles.

Criticism of Nature.
"It has always seemed to me that Nature is at fault," observes the Philosopher of Folly, "when she gives a man a mouth capable of biting more than he can chew."

A Use for the Dish-Mop.
The best thing to clean a gas or gasoline stove is a string dish-mop and sugar balls.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any disease that is failed to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHERNEY & CO, Tol. A Sure-Enough Knocker
J. A. Harmon, of Liscomb, West Va., says: "At last I have found the perfect pill that never disappoints; and for the benefit of others afflicted with torpid liver and chronic constipation, will say: take Dr. King's New Life Pills." Guaranteed satisfactory. 25c at C. O. Armstrong Druggist.

Well Dressed.
The custom attributed to the Hollanders of wearing several pairs of breeches at a time has been a source of amusement to those who do not rely the idea of carrying all their wardrobe on their own persons, but the Miami Record man knows of a recent comrade from the Tropics who rather "beats the Dutch" in that respect, and tells this story in Thursday's issue: "A young man who was raised in Nassau was asked by his employer yesterday, if he was not suffering from the cold. 'No, sire,' was his answer. 'I have on five shirts and three pairs of pants, and old Jack Frost can't get me.'"

An Informal Challenge.
"The burly prisoner stood unabashed before the Judge. 'Prisoner at the bar,' asked the clerk of the arraigns, 'do you wish to challenge any of the jury?'"
The prisoner looked them over carefully. "Well," he replied, "I'm not exactly not you'd call in training, but I wouldn't mind a round or two with that there fat old fellow in the corner."

Personal.
"I think it only proper to remark," Mr. Seel, said the haughty girl, who thought she detected "signs," "that I would not marry the best man living."
"Don't be alarmed," replied Mr. Con Seel, "he isn't going to propose. My interest in you is merely platonic."

Japan Increases in Area.
As a result of its war with Russia the area of Jaapan's territory was raised from 160,000 square miles to 183,000 square miles, and her population increased by 10,000,000.

THE ARISTOCRATIC HEN
When we read in the poultry journals of hens that are valued from 5 to $10,000, we begin to realize that the hen is getting into the plutocratic class.
As a money maker she is a top-notch. Just now your hens should be turning out dollars for you. If this is not the case encourage them with some of DR. HESS POULTRY PANACEA that makes hens lay.

The Malacca Whittens.
In the forests of Malacca and other islands in the Indian ocean may still be found the animal known as the whittens. The upper parts of it are generally of a clear yellow color with black spots; the lower parts are white, with black spots also. On the back the spots lengthen almost into lines or rings, black on yellow.
The average length of the animal, excluding the tail, is almost two feet; the tail averages nine inches. Its height when standing erect is about 12 inches at the shoulders and 15 inches at the hind-quarters. Its temperament is mild and gentle; it plays almost like a domestic cat, or, rather, kitten, chasing its tail and amusing itself with anything that it can roll with its paws.
Modern Helplessness.
The best inheritance that either boy or girl may have is that of resourcefulness and self-reliance. It is a common experience of those who employ the best brought up children of the present day, the young men who go to the best schools and acquaint themselves well at the universities, that they are afflicted with a kind of helplessness. This matter, adds Country Life, to which the attention of education leaders should be directed.
"Lorraine Day."
I have heard of a village in New York where a certain day of the week is set apart as "cabbage day," and upon that day nobody is at home to anybody else. This seems a good plan, but all villages are not so systematic, and so, despite the assurances of the cooking teachers that there is no need for cabbages to smell at all, the dwellers in small city houses are often mortified at feeling that a caller ran guess from the front door what the family dinner is to be. I have lately learned a great scheme—to set beside the cabbage cup a small cup of vinegar where it will gently simmer. This done, the lady at the front door will not preserve a delicate reticence, but will ask in the very moment of greeting, "Oh, what good things you are cooking!" For the aroma of cabbage and boiling vinegar mingles into a fine counterpoint of the smell of pickles cooking.—Farm Journal.
Serviceable Tray Cloths.
Take some all-cloth (white preferred), and cut the size you wish; bind the edges with suitable braid or button-hole-stitch all of them. Either looks very well, and if you spill it does not go through onto the tablecloth, and can easily be cleaned.
