The election in the Boro Tuesday was something of a surprise, but it should not be classed as a partisan victory, but rather as an indication that people here are beginning to consider their upper ends as good for something else than hat racks, and concluded to use their best judgment in selecting officials. Such a condition is healthful and when persisted on will eventuate in better local government. A party trade mark should not be an open sesame to office holding. Fitness and the desire to faithfully and conscientiously perform the duties pertaining to it should guide the voters in making selections. It is a good sign when such sentiments prevail. The people of the town have entrusted their public affairs to a set of men chosen by them. They have confided the interests of the boro to their hands and it is up to these officials not to betray the trust in any manner. Let them show by their acts that they are worthy of the confidence reposed, and strive to improve in every way with all possible economy the physical and moral conditions of the Boro. Nature has lavished her bounties here, let that generosity be supplemented by making such material improvements as will aid in adorning the town and making it more comfortable and attractive. So doing the officials will merit appreciation. If they do not turn them out.

Some are saying the school board now will be tied between Democrats and Republicans. It will not be tied in any other way than in an effort to promote the best interests of the schools and to afford every boy and girl in the district the best possible opportunity to obtain an education. They are entitled to this advantage and, speaking individually as one member of the new board, they shall have it to the best of our ability. We have no personal interests to serve, no axe to grind. The vote received is a flattering testimonial which we do not appreciate and for which we cordially thank the citizens. We will endeavor to do so as to be worthy of this mark of favor and confidence.

Mrs. A. M. Meador has come to visit her brother Floyd Williams at 411 1/2 ton who is critically ill. Her daughter Mary accompanied her.

Several friends met last evening at a birth day party in honor of J. Henry Ludwig Esq. The guest of honor is an admirable one and gave us a very pleasant evening of the good event. That he may continue to prosper here and do the same for his friends is presented with a most happy.

President-elect Taft yesterday was made a Mason at night.

Principal Wildrick has gone to his home in Luzerne Co. to pass Sunday.

Senator Tillman says he will keep right after the President. This means, of course, the President will have to maintain a sharp lookout, both fore and aft while in Africa.

 Stroudsburg, Pa., February 9, 1909.

MARKED FOR DEATH
 "Three years ago I was marked for death. A grave-yard cough was tearing my lungs to pieces. Doctors failed to help me, and hope had fled, when my husband got Dr. King's New Discovery," says Mrs. A. C. Williams, of Bac, Ky. "The first dose helped me and improvement kept on until I had gained 58 pounds in weight and my health was fully restored." This medicine holds the world's healing record for coughs and colds and lung and throat diseases. It prevents pneumonia. Sold under guarantee at both drug stores 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

How They Were Curiously Discovered and Returned to their Owner.
 Ten 1,000 franc bank notes, representing the savings of a woman who lived at Nanterre, near Paris, were hidden by her in an old envelope. "Which was placed in a drawer." In a moment of forgetfulness the envelope found its way into a dust bin.

In the morning the ragpickers turned out the bin, but tossed aside the tattered envelope without inspection. Some carters happened to pass that way. They picked up the now mud splashed piece of paper, one remarking to the other: "Perhaps there is a fortune inside!" They drew out the notes. "This is some fool's plesantry," they said; so by way of revenging themselves on the unknown joker and not believing the notes were genuine they tore them to pieces and threw them aside.

Two market women came along shortly afterward. With the shrewdness of their class they recognized the scattered pieces of paper and gathered them up and took them to the Commissary of Police.

There they were placed together and it was found that none was missing. Two hours later the notes so curiously discovered were restored to their owner.

A Large Profit.
 Life is a matter of adjustment and not of circumstance. The financial affairs of the old watercrass man in James Greenwood's "The Wilds of London" were as large and seemed to him to be of as much moment as are the manipulations of the Wall Street broker. The watercrass man was a crippled old Londoner who had been a soldier in his younger days and who, at the time of writing, numbered seventy-six years.

The rheumatism was to him a malignant foe. His home was wretched, but he could not be would rather die than go to the workhouse. I saw him one morning in November, down at the watercrass beds near Hackney, and I talked to him as he stood on the frosty planks stretched over the coxy beds, where the cresses grew, and from which the men were gathering by torchlight. It was fully three hours before daylight.

Choice of Two Evils.
 Nearly every girl thinks a man clumsy who misses her hair when he kisses her, but they all think worse of him if he does not even run the risk of missing it.

Cause of Neuralgic Headache.
 At least 90 per cent. of all cases of neuralgic headache are attributed to Dr. Toms, an American oculist, to defects of the eyes.

Costly Snake Poison.
 One of the strongest poisons as no one's articles of commerce is snake venom, for which there is a growing demand in medicine and other branches of science. The supply comes from Australia, and a recent Sydney quotation placed the market price at 20c to 3c a grain, or about $30,000 a pound Troy, no attempt seeming to have been made hitherto to distinguish between the poison of snakes whose bite is usually fatal and that from reptiles that seldom kill. Dr. Tidwell, of the New South Wales Health Department, states that the venoms are now being classified. Laboratory experiments place the tiger snake venom first, as it is sixteen times as deadly as that of the black snake and four times as potent as that from the brown snake. The death of a man in average yield a bite the death of a snake supplies three times as much as the tiger snake venom, so far as the snakes have been mostly captured by hand to avoid loss of poison, and, as even greater personal risk, have been held in the hand while being enraged and made to bite through a rubber band, clamping upon a glass plate the venom from the two poison fangs in the upper jaw. Each snake has supplied the material from one bite, averaging about a grain.—Dundee Advertiser.

Farmers' Lot in New England.
 Anybody who thinks the farmers of New England are living in solitude, out of touch with the great world and indifferent to the advantages of organization, is destined to a rude awakening if he subjects his impression to the test of fair-minded inquiry. Much "pity" is patronizingly bestowed on the farmers, who resent it and reject it. Their winters are said to be depressing, whereas that season is in reality the period of their social gayeties, grange suppers, neighborhood sleigh rides, festivities within the reach of moderate purse and moderate desires. Taken as a whole, the farmers' lot is not an unhappy one any more than that of the hired man. The hired man have not been "unionized" yet, and that accounts for a great gap in the ranks of organized labor.—Boston Transcript.

Youthful Suicides.
 There is a shocking proneness among youthful Bengalis to kill themselves on the least pretext. It seems to be an exaggerated form of suicide, and one would like to have a medical opinion on the matter. A student is reprimanded by his parent because his studies don't show the advancement expected. The boy swallows some opium and ends his studies. A girl wife in Howrah takes a dislike to the second choice of her husband. She also secures an exit by the easy means of opium. A Bengali woman in Howrah wanted to go on a pilgrimage to Gaya. Her mother said she could not advance the railway fare and the girl went out to a tree and hanged herself. These are all recent cases.—Calcutta Enquirer.

Un doubtedly.
 "Do you play any instrument, Mr. Jimp?"
 "And your sister?"
 "She's a pianist."
 "Does your mother play?"
 "She's a sitherist."
 "And your father?"
 "He's a violinist."—Tit-Bits.

Weight of Air.
 There is no uniform weight for air. For instance, say the weight of a cubic foot of air at sea level is 1,700 grains, the pressure removed, say, by its elevation to an altitude of 10,000 feet, its weight would be about the half of 1,700 grains. In other words, the cubic foot, at ten or twelve thousand feet above the sea, would expand to two cubic feet, each of about 850 grains weight.

Haunting Hungarian Melodies.
 What makes Hungarian music so typical, so fascinating and so fresh is that it is almost entirely based on popular themes. The soul of the people is reflected in it, and, such inspiration produces a better result than so-called scientific and elaborate concoctions.

The Spitting Tug.
 A little tugboat passed astern of the Lakewood, kicking up a fierce amount of foam with her propeller. A small boy, age three, jerked his father's coat-tail and exclaimed: "Oh, papa, see how that thing can spit!"—New York Press.
