BRIEF MENTION

Ferdinand P. Earle of Monroe, N. Y., who sent his wife and child to France and married his "soul affinity" Miss Kuttner who deserted him is now being sued by her for divorce. She alleges he is insane and was when she married him. There is no doubt but that he is not only crazy but bad—and little more can be said of her. Any woman who will wring in on a family, displace the real wife and become a "soul affinity" lacks sense and good morals.

Mrs. A. M. Mettler and son Benjamin were at Scranton the first of the week to attend the funeral of the former's sister Mrs. Spencer.

Mrs. S. L. Van Alkin of Lackawaxen underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Port Jervis hospital last week.

When Mr. Bryan's automobile was stalled in the mud in Pennsylvania, the Nebraskan got out and pushed. Still, they all have to do more or less of that.

Talk about taxing coffee we have met coffee that could hardly stand having a tax put on it.

Things have grown worse for the kidnapping business since the Charley Ross days.

There will be as little cheer as there is in aeration in the cup if a tax of eight cents a pound is put upon tea.

March blizzards bring forth April showers, and you know what they do. So cheer up.

If our Sandyston correspondent voices the sentiment of the people, there is decided opposition to the proposed new R. F. D. Route starting here, by those living adjacent to it. But why did they not manifest that spirit when the route was suggested?

Hawley Basketball team defeated Milford last Saturday evening by a score of 36-19.

Jack Bolson who has lived in the old Halfway house for a couple of years has moved to Dingman township.

A valuable horse belonging to Wheeler and Morgan died last week of pneumonia.

The New York Central R. R. Co. pleaded guilty this week to charges of rebating on co-sage supplies and paid a fine of $10,000. Now will the company deposit this amount from its dividend fund or will it make good by overcharging some other concern by re-entraining expenses. The parties guilty of making the arrangement should be compelled to pay the fine.

The big cantilever bridge across the East river, known as the Blackwells Island bridge, was informally opened for travel this week. It carries eight railway tracks, two promenades, and a 36 foot roadway, and is 8617 feet long including approaches. One span measures 1183 feet and is the longest trussed span in this country. It is estimated to have a capacity of one hundred and fifty million persons annually.

Center County masons are urging the location of the three million dollar home, to be built by the Grand Lodge of Penns. F. & A. M. for aged and feeble masons and their wives and the large school for orphans of masons to be built in connection with the above, in that county. A tract of 500 acres near State College is suggested.

The Senate has passed finally the pure food bill which allows the use of one tenth of one percent of benzoate of soda as a preservative, but provides that when used the package must plainly state the fact. Howland voted for the bill.

Ex-Sheriff Courtwright of Matamoras was in town last Tuesday.

So far there have been reported to the Boro Board of Health 85 cases of communicable diseases this year, nearly all of them measles. A reason for the spread of the malady has been the neglect of many families to call in a physician and allowing children to go around while in a condition to communicate the disease. There have been no fatalities and all the cases were of a very mild nature. It is hoped the end is reached, as no new outbreaks are reported.

The Legislature is working over appropriation bills, and no doubt many pet schemes of members will fall by the wayside. It looks as if the state highway bills and the new school code might pass. The bill for Capitol grounds extension it is said is also slated to go through.

There has been no more beautiful sight in town this winter than was seen last Tuesday morning when the trees were laden with feathery snow on which the sun shone. The landscapes presented the appearance of being festooned in purest lace, with a silvery sheen, and you did not have to get up very early either to behold the gorgeous decoration.

The New Jersey Senate has passed a bill allowing automobiles to run at a speed of twenty five miles an hour, and violations must continue an hour to warrant arrest. It is also hoped the bill authorizing the recognition of licenses of other states will pass.

A bill has been passed to prohibit the sale of adulterated liquors in this state. It is designed to halt the sale of manufactured whiskies brought in from other states.

Congressman Palmer of this district is being urged to vote against a tariff on tea. It is generally understood that in democratic strongholds ordinary tea is not much of a beverage "cold tea" being much more popular.

Some New York papers are charging that Chief Forester Pinchot has changed front on the question of a tariff on lumber. It is alleged that he formerly favored putting lumber on the free list, so as to save as far as possible the forests of this country, and that now he appears as an advocate of a tariff on lumber and Congressmen are enquiring what has brought about his change of opinion.

D. W. Cooke, former General Passenger Agent of the Erie, will now be in charge of the traffic department with headquarters in N. Y.

Mrs. Catharine A. Quick who has passed the winter in New York with her daughter Mrs. Talmage, has returned home to Manor Hall near Dingmans Ferry, which was vacated by Elias Albright who moved to a farm in New Jersey.

On account of the increase in passenger travel across the continent, induced by the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, it is announced that the Yellowstone National Park will open the season ten days earlier than usual. The regular season will open on June 10.

Walter D. Wild, he of elgar fame, of Newton who with his wife has been spending part of the winter in Florida has returned home.

There are rumors that C. W. Courtwright, who died at Banters Range in Porter township last week, may have received injuries in a fracas which caused his death. Several days after the alleged fight a physician found him with both eyes badly cut and a deep gash in his head. He was buried last Sunday and it is possible the body may be exhumed and an autopsy held.

Some misapprehension exists as to the method by which children who have had measles may be readmitted to the Borough schools. The rules of the Health Department seem to make it necessary that they should have a physician's certificate, the fact of fumigation and expiration of the quarantine period not being sufficient to entitle them to readmission. It may seem that such precautions are somewhat burdensome but it is the design of the Department that the safety of the public should be conserved even at some inconvenience to individuals. In township a certificate of the Health Officer that premises have been fumigated is sufficient.

NOTES FROM SANDYSTON

I see in your last the Civil Service examination for a P. M. at Sandyston was slated to be held at Dingmans on April 24. This should be a host of applicants for that job as the receipts were $60 last year. That he is getting out lies.

Wissac C. Gena will move from the Dr. Cole farm, at Layton, to a part of the Kysar house Branchville on Wednesday. The premises owned by Mr. Gena will be occupied by George Green, of Newark.

The printing of the list of past and Grand Jurors I see is done in Pike county. The list of Grand Jurors is kept secret until court convenes in this state, but they are known beforehand, all the same.

Work will begin on the new road from Branchville Boro limits to the Gap this week. The cut made by the contractor, near Asher Brooks, is almost impossible for loads, and a good many teams have been stuck. The Berden milk teams have to double up through that cut.

The R. F. D. route from Milford to Bevans to begin on May 1st. is bitterly opposed by all, and even those signing a petition for it would gladly sign a petition for the retention of our present mail facilities.

From questions sent the Hainesville and Layton Post-Masters by the Second Assistant Post Master General these offices will be closed, and we will have no mail facilities going Eastward, but all mail will go around via New York, thus making all mail from one to three days late. The present stage mail route 9270 is to be discontinued, and the many privileges we now enjoy, will come to an end, not only this, the Eastern part of this township will have no mail facilities at all, and they will be compelled to have boxes along the mail R. F. D. from one to four miles from their homes.

All we ask of the Post Office Department is to let our present mail privileges alone, for they cannot be restored. Only those familiar admit that the R. F. D. will benefit them, while all residents of this town bitterly condemn it.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dupre returned to their home at Summit, N. J., after a brief visit with relatives here, on Friday last.

Loose stones are only too numerous in our roads, and it would seem that our overseers think it will be time enough for that work after working the roads. But how about the law about removing loose stones monthly.

The parties endeavoring to take away the license of a certain hotel in this town thought better of it, and "all will be quiet on the Potomac" for another year. Those attempts are spasmodic or annual.

Allan Smith a life-long resident of this town died at the home of Harmon Clifford, near Fereus, on the 24th. inst. aged about 61 years. He made his home wherever employed and was unmarried.

At present writing the question as to whether the Montague creamery will be run this year or not is not settled. Some of its patrons have solicited the Berdens, and Mr. Seaman of the Bevans creamery to operate the creamery. As it is the patrons are in something of a fix.

Inside of a year a Layton party sold out his property, in that valley, and is now very, very anxious to repurchase the property, but the present proprietor says "nothin' doin'."

Fish Speculation.

Newspapers in this vicinity are speculating as to the trout season this year and some are of opinion that by reason of low water in streams last summer trout will be scarce. They argue that as the fish were confined to pools the large ones devoured the small fry. The Scranton Tribune remarks that indications are that trout will be scarce in this county this season but that the crop of them will no doubt hold out. Well, there are lots of Scrantonians who come over in Pike to fish and likely the home paper best knows their characteristics.

The constitutional amendment abolishing spring elections has passed finally and goes to the Governor. It will be voted on at next November election and lengthens the terms of officials which expire in 1911.

The new school code bill has been defeated in the House, but the vote was reconsidered and it may yet pass.

Horse Thief Caught

An emery looking individual who stole three horses at Paterson, N. J., last Friday night was caught last Tuesday morning up at Rattlesnake. He passed through here Saturday with a horse and buggy behind which he led a valuable team and stopped in town to feed. He was making an effort to sell the horses in the vicinity of Gleeley but people were suspicious and would not buy. It is said he was familiar with that locality having worked in the lumber woods there last season. He was brought here Tuesday after being caught and detained in the lock-up until the Jersey Sheriff arrived when he was taken back to Paterson, where no doubt he will get a good dose of compulsory restraint.

"I'd Rather Die, Doctor, than have my feet cut off," said M. L. Bingham, of Princeville, Ill. "but you'll die from gangrene (which had eaten away eight toes) if you don't," said all doctors. Instead he used Bucklen's Arnica Salve till wholly cured. Its cures of Eczema, Fever Sores, Boils, Burns and Piles abound the world. 25c. at all druggists.

A Local Option Speech

Ex Governor Hanley of Indiana declared in a speech in Philadelphia this week that Pennsylvania is the battle ground of local option and that the feeling in the state is more intense and purposeful than ever before. Giving great credit to churches for the good they accomplish he yet charges that the Christian church lacks intensity of conviction, and lacks consecration. He said it has too many tin soldiers in its ranks, who are only militant on dress parade. It is too patient with sin, too tolerant of evil, too placid, too well pleased with itself, too well satisfied with the world as it finds it. The church needs a living, virile Christianity, consecrated men and women who not only hate unrighteousness but are ready and willing to fight it.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON

The leaders in the House have formulated tentative plans for the passage of the Payne tariff bill and unless these plans miscarry the measure will be voted on about April 15th. Mr. Payne's hopes are that the general debate will be allowed to run until next Wednesday, when a rule will be presented providing for ten day's debate under the five minute rule; then three days to be consumed in the consideration of and voting upon amendments. Republican leaders realize of course that the rule must contain some restrictions upon amendments if the bill is to be disposed of before the late summer. The present indications are that there will be no united opposition to the bill as a whole.

President Taft has told the members of his cabinet that he expects each to assume all responsibility for and exercise supreme control over his department, and that each head of a department will be held responsible for the conduct of that department. He has emphasized the fact that he wants results and has assured the members of his official family that they are free to select their own assistants without personal or political assistance from the White House.

Mr. Taft thinks it would be unjust for him to hold his cabinet officers responsible for results should he, for political reasons, dictate the men on whose assistance they must rely for the success of their respective departments. While assistant secretary and similar officers are "Presidential officers" the President has indicated his intention of exercising this prerogative only to appointing men desired by the department heads. As a result of this policy, Members of Congress and that portion of the public which has to deal with federal appointments, will soon find that they must deal directly with the department heads, if they wish things accomplished, instead of carrying every request and every complaint to the White House.

In this way the President hopes to find more time for the important affairs of the government.

The one question constantly asked at the Capitol, in every informal discussion of the tariff is, will the Payne bill raise a sufficient amount of revenue? and the question of additional revenue is causing the leaders in both Houses of Congress no little uneasiness. The inheritance tax, a possible income tax and the duty on tea are all criticized and objected to. There seems to be a strong sentiment in the House for the removal of the duty on tea and its replacement by an additional fifty cents a barrel on beer. A number of representatives are endeavoring to organize a movement to demand a vote on this question; and doubtless all representatives from prohibition districts will join in such a movement. The suggestion is frequently made, and meets with favor, that the best way to increase the Treasury balance is to cut down the annual expenditures.

At his own request President Taft has been elected a member of the Legal Aid Society. Ex President Roosevelt has been one of the vice-presidents for many years, and among others are Governor Hughes, Andrew Carnegie, Joseph H. Choate, Seth Low, Elihu Root, Jacob H. Schiff, Robert De Forest, William B. Hornblower and Mrs. Douglas Robinson one of Col. Roosevelt's sisters. This society was organized in New York City many years ago, and its chief purpose is to provide attorneys free of charge for poor persons under arrest or indictment who prove after a careful investigation to be in need of counsel.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma has introduced three measures in the Senate which are considered typical of political and economic thought in that state. One is a bill to authorize national banks to conform to the laws of any state where deposits in state banks are guaranteed; another is a joint resolution to provide by constitutional amendment for the popular election of United States Senators, while the third provides for an amendment to the constitution to authorize the national government to levy an income tax.

At the request of the Maritime League of New York, Senator Dewey has introduced an interesting resolution. It calls for the Secretary of State to send to the Senate all correspondence between the State Department and the Republic of Cuba relating to the question of recognition.

In Memory of W. E. Adams.

Mr. Editor: I have recently learned of the great loss which the church, the community and society in Pike County sustained in the death, last autumn, of Mr. W. E. Adams, of Dingman's Ferry. To many, indeed, in that county, and elsewhere, the loss of one so able and amiable, so worthy and useful, will be felt as a personal loss. There are not very many men as worthy as he; and of those who are, there are few who are as thoroughly lovable. And among those who are both worthy and lovable, how few are found, who equal Mr. Adams in that which was, perhaps, his most individual distinction—the power of radiating from his countenance, his speech, his manner, his very presence, a sustained, and genial, and all-comforting sunshine—and that without effort, and almost unconsciously. May his memory and his example long be cherished; and may the Divine consolations be with the loved ones who survive him!

Again President Taft has expressed to Col. Goethals his earnest desire to see the Panama canal completed by 1913, and while the Chief Engineer cannot promise this accomplishment before 1915, he told the President that every force would be put to work to hasten things. Some of the President's friends think that this desire to see the canal finished in January 1913 means that Judge Taft expects to serve his country as President only four years.

Coal First Mentioned

The first mention of coal in the annals of mankind occurs in the Bible, Proverbs 26: 21 where it is said, "As coals are to burning coals and wood to fire, so is a contentious man to kindle strife." This was written about 1016 B. C. when King Solomon came into power. Part of his dominion was in Syria, and ancient coal mines are worked in the country to this day.

Years before the Christian Era coal was in common use in China. Marco Polo speaks of seeing in 1275 "a kind of black stone in Cathay that is used to burn better than wood." Coal in the United States was first mentioned by the French Jesuit missionary, Hennepin who in 1679 wrote of traces of coal on the banks of the Illinois river and also located a coal mine near Richmond, Va. In 1765 anthracite was discovered in the Wyoming valley and a sample was sent to the Penns in London.
