Bravery and Cowardice.
Cowardice is often ignorance. Are any men brave, more ready to take their lives in their hands, to reckon death as one of the daily encounters, than the deep-sea fishermen? Yet a group of these men, brought to London by one of their missionaries, have been seen too terrified to cross the street. The police had to stop the traffic to allow them to cross. The quick, quarrelsome, fearless Cockneys who laughed at them—how would they feel in a freezing storm in the North Sea? A spider may terrify the most courageous women and a V. C. shrink from a cat. Every hero has his weakness, and we may believe every coward has a point where he comes to bay and will fight the world.
A Steady Worker.
A gentleman seeing a colored man of his acquaintance starting out on a fishing excursion, says a writer in Judge, thought it an excellent time to improve him for his laziness.
"Hufus, you old loafer," said he, "do you think it's right to leave your wife at the wash-tub while you pass your time fishing?"
"Yassah, Judge; it's all right. Mah wife don't need any watching. She'll sholy waz jes' as hard as I. I was dah."

FACTS ABOUT ANIMALS' EYES.
Confirmation of Darwin's Theory that Man is Closely Related to Primates.
For some years past the eminent British ophthalmologist, Dr. Lindsay Johnson, has been investigating the eyes of animals, and has made some valuable discoveries of great interest to zoology and our knowledge of the evolution of various animals. One of the most remarkable of these discoveries is a confirmation of Darwin's theory that man is closely related to the primates. From his investigations Dr. Johnson has found that the eyes of all the apes, including man, are practically identical. Each has the highly complex system of veins and arteries, and the direct or paraxial vision. According to this authority the dog has two ancestors, one round-eyed and the other oval-eyed. The first is the hyena, and the latter the bear through the racoon. All animals exposed to chase by enemies, such as the hare, rabbit, and squirrel, can see all around, and all the rodentia squint. The lower an animal in the scale, the further is its eye from paraxial vision. According to this authority also, the corpus stiger, or black body of pigment, in the eye of the horse, which has proved such a source of speculation to the naturalist, veterinarians, and zoologists, reveals through the ophthalmoscope a new means of tracing the ancestry and relationship of the horse. The eye curtain is precisely the same as that which is found in all tropical animals, such as the onea, camel, antelope, etc., and fulfills one important function—the protection of the eye from sunlight. One result of Dr. Johnson's research, according to Prof. Ray Lankester, the celebrated zoologist, will necessitate a reclassification in one section of zoology.
Original Names.
With the exception of a few families in Athens and Sparta, the Greeks had no family names. Latin surnames were derived from various qualities of mind or body, as Cato, from catus, wise; Crassus, fat; Macer, oar; Calvus, bald, etc. Originally names were all signified. This is strikingly the case among the aboriginals of America, our American Indians, as Red Jacket, Black Dirt, etc. It is possible that his intimate and a few of his wives called King Solomon. We speak of the sun as "sol." But Solomon in Hebrew means peace. Who ever heard of Mrs. Abraham, or Mrs. Sarah Abraham? Sarah means princess. The great progenitor of the Jews was not Mr. John Abraham, or Mr. Saul Abraham. He was simply Abraham, meaning the father of a multitude. He was originally Abram, meaning the father of height, the additional syllable being stuck in when the promise of a numerous and beautiful posterity was renewed to him by God.

To Keep Flowers Fresh.
The popular person whose admiring relatives and friends shower upon her large and small tokens of their regard in the form of flowers may profit by a few suggestions as to how to treat them so they will last.
With the proper sort of care they could be kept alive for three or four days and in some cases a week. First, put the flowers in paper boxes in the evening, wrapped in oil paper. They must be sprinkled well, being careful not to wet the petals, as delicate roses and sweet peas become spotted brown when wet. If the stems are wet thoroughly, then the flowers wrapped and put in a box, and kept in a good place they will be fresh in the morning. Before placing them in the vase, cut off about a quarter of an inch of the stem where it has become hardened and wash thoroughly with warm water in order to remove all traces of slimy exudum.

Everyday Repartee.
"I would like," said the gentlemanly agent, "to call your attention to a little work which I have here."
"Well, let me call your attention to a whole lot of work which I have here," replied the man at desk.
Having the ability to appreciate a quick comeback, the gentlemanly agent caught the next elevator down.

WHEN NIAGARA RUNS DRY.
Nature Will Destroy Cataract in Three Thousand Years.
According to an official of the Geological Survey, a comparison of the sage records for a period of 20 years shows that the land surrounding the Great Lakes is being gradually tilted from northeast to southwest at such a rate that, of two points 100 miles apart, the northern rises five inches with reference to the southern in 100 years.
At Chicago the lake level rises about one inch in 10 years.
The official quoted predicts that, if this movement continues, in about 3,000 years all the upper lakes will discharge into the Illinois River, the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers will flow backward, carrying the water of Lake Erie into Lake Huron, and the Niagara River will run dry.
Women in Ethnology.
The recent investigations of Dr. G. Seligman, among the Veddas of Ceylon, and the great importance of the aid which Doctor Seligman's wife was able to give him, lead Mr. A. C. Haddon to point out the desirability of women of a scientific turn of mind interesting themselves in work of this kind. But for the presence of his wife Doctor Seligman would have been unable to secure many of the facts which he has accumulated. The Veddas, who live in caves, are extremely averse to having white men visit their families; but Mrs. Seligman was warmly welcomed among them, and among other things she collected records of the songs of the women and girls. They took the greatest delight in the phonograph, and their amazement was unbounded at hearing their songs and lullabies repeated by the instrument.
Natural Rotation in Forests.
Observations in India indicate that just as agricultural land, after many repetitions of the same crops, becomes exhausted for that particular species so in forest lands, after long periods the seedlings may fall owing to changes in the soil, and new varieties may take their place. Forests of blue pine in that country have been observed to fall, the dead-tree tendency to take the place of pine. In another case forests of pine and oak have been found, each invading and tending to take up the ground occupied by the other. Elsewhere in India spruce and silver fir have been found advancing into a falling oak forest, and guthery extending upon land formerly occupied dominantly by "ashisham" trees.

DOG A TRAIN BEARER.
Lifts His Mistress's Skirt When She Walks Over Wet Pavement.
Clipped and blanketed dogs, French poodles, pugs and such excite the contempt of the average person who likes dogs of a more vigorous sort. These folks also have a dislike for the small dog that is trained to carry packages or what not. Those who do not like this use of a really very fine animal should have seen an exhibition on a New York street one wet afternoon recently.
A woman was about to cross the street followed by a small and mean looking pet dog. The pavement was wet.
She called to the dog and the dog trotted obediently up and took the hem of her skirt in his teeth. Then staying just far enough behind to keep all the skirt clear of the street the dog followed her across.
Some other woman going along said: "Isn't that cute?" A man who saw the performance remarked, "Poo beast."
Disadvantage of Jezeby.
"One disadvantage of being goose-looking," said the woman who admit that she knows she is handsome, "is that I never get a chance to beat my way on top street cars. Just because I am good looking the conductor spots me when I enter the car and he hisses right up to ask for my fare."
Fills the Asylums.
In an ordinary asylum 25 per cent of the patients owe their insanity to alcoholism.

Change in Style of Penmanship.
Chicago.—The Board of Education has employed J. N. Dowd, of East Providence, R. I., to change the system of penmanship now taught in the Chicago schools. Vertical and backward writing will be abolished, and the old-fashioned, "slant" system adopted.

Time's Changes.
When the "old schoolboys" studied geography they were familiar with a blank space on the map known as the Great American Desert, a hopeless region. Now the best apples in the United States are raised there.

Warding Off a Catastrophe.
A fat woman entered a crowded street car and, seizing a strap, stood directly in front of a man seated in the corner. As the car started, she lunged against his newspaper and at the same time trod heavily on his toes. As soon as he could extricate himself, he rose and offered her his seat. "You are very kind, sir," she said, panting for breath. "Not at all, madam," he replied. "It's not kindness, it's simply self-defence."

Chief Prolocuer of Insanity.
Dr. Frederic Peterson, of New York City, in an address before the New York Conference of Charities and Correction, declared "Alcohol is the chief poison factor in the production of insanity. Twenty per cent. of all the insane in the United States owe their condition to alcoholic poison." Dr. McDonald calculates that one insane person is an approximate loss to the state of $400 per year. Hence the actual loss to the United States is $13,000,000 per year.
