PAUPACK

Mrs. Edson Green and children returned to their home at Scranton, Sunday, after several weeks spent with her parents, B. F. Killam and wife.

George Slocum, wife and children of Scranton spent part of the past week with the former's brother, Jos. Slocum and wife.

Mr. Arthur Hoppe and son of Scranton are guests of her parents, Mr and Mrs. George Anley.

There will be no services at Paupack church the following two Sundays, July 4th and 11th as our pastor expects to spend the Y. M. C. A. conference at Mass.

Bertha Finley is visiting relatives and friends at Scranton.

Francis Killam attended the graduating exercises at Perkiomen the past week.

About twenty members of the Y. M. C. A. of Brooklyn have "pitched camp at Big Pond for the summer. The number is expected to increase to the half-hundred mark by the fourth.

We are told there will be great doings in this place July 6th. In the morning there will be a ball game between the Brooklyn and Paupack boys, on the farm of Henry Gumbles. In the afternoon there is a picnic at Fairview Lake at what is known as the Robert Smith cottage and in the evening a large display of fireworks at Camp Brooklyn. Quite a bit all in one day for a quiet little town like Paupack.

Nellie Grant from the west is spending a short time with Mrs. Joseph Slocum.

Louisa Vetterline returned to her home from Bloomsburg school Thursday last.

City people have begun to arrive at the home of Walter Vetterline.

Poor director, C. A. Pellett removed Mrs. Webster Bennett from her home at 2110 Locust St. on Monday June 28th. They were accompanied by Mrs. Harriet Kirkendall.

Francis Killam attended the graduating exercises at Perkiomen the past week.

A multitude of green worms have invaded the flats thru this section of the country and have entirely denuded the trees along the river. Especially the maples are completely bereft of their foliage while other species of trees seem to have been avoided by the ravagers.

Oh, Go 'v. ay.
"Well," said a traveller in the train one evening, "speaking of long lives, my dear aunt died at the age of one hundred and etc."
"That's nothing," said a silly looking drummer. "I had a grandmother who died at two hundred and twenty-three."
"Bosh, do you want us to believe that a relation of yours died at two hundred and twenty-three? It is not only improbable, but impossible," snapped the first.
"Not at all. She died at two hundred and twenty-three Broad Street."

Another Lincoln Story.
In 1864 some gentlemen who had not returned from a trip through the West came to Washington, D. C., and went to call on Lincoln. During their visit one of the men spoke of a body of water in Nebraska which bore an Indian name.
"I cannot recall the name now," he said, in a vexed tone, "but it signified 'weeping water.'"
President Lincoln instantly responded, "As 'weeping water,' according to Longfellow, is 'Minnehaha,' this evidently should be 'Minne-sota.'"

Rival Dignities
An Englishman, fond of boasting of his ancestry, took a coin from his pocket and, pointing to the head engraved on it, said: "My great-great-grandfather was made a lord by the King whose picture you see on this shilling."
"What a coincidence!" said his Yankee companion, who at once produced another coin. "My great-great-grandfather was made an angel by the Indian whose picture you see on this cent."

The Whole Neck of the Woods.
"Did your ancestors have a family tree, Mr. Maguire?" "Family trees is it, ma'am! One of me ancestors controlled th' entire timber privileges of the Garden of Eden."
