R. E. Humbert in excavating his cellar for his new addition to the Marguerite disposed of considerable dirt in widening Sawkill Ave. A little attention to rip rapping the bank would make the improvement permanent.

Helen, daughter of Jas. P. Van Eton and John, son of John C. Warner who have both suffered whooping cough complicated with pneumonia, are improving.

Irving Angle of Dingmans Ferry recently visited town.

Mrs. John C. Wallace who is in Philadelphia for treatment is somewhat better.

Chas. Person and family will occupy the house of John Degen on Sawkill Avenue for the winter.

There will be a total eclipse of the moon tomorrow morning beginning 2:11 a. m.

A family at Red Lion Pa. was made seriously ill by drinking cider in which was snake juice. No jukes intended. The man took a load of apples to the press and allowed them to remain in the wagon over night. A snake crawled among them and was ground up and squeezed out and this is alleged to have caused the sickness. You may swallow as much of this as you please.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held next Thursday in the Presbyterian church at 10:30 and sermon will be preached by Rev. C. M. White. "Give thanks unto the Lord for he is good."

HINDOO WIDOWS WIN RIGHTS.
Those of the Highest Class Are Now Being Allowed to Marry.

From her role of half-toy, half-torture to man, penned up in the seclusion of the zenana (woman's apartments), the woman of Hindoostan is rising to equality with man. India is daily getting anxious to accord its women a humane and a just treatment. Hereditary inequality had decreed that while the widow was forced to remain a widow, this injunction is no longer being faithfully observed. Widows of the highest castes are being allowed to marry. Moreover, Hindoos are making special efforts to establish homes where young and old widows are kindly treated and taught how to be nurses, doctors, teachers, and missionaries. The aim of these institutions is to inspire the widows to help toward the uplift of East Indian society and also to make them capable of supporting themselves instead of being charges on their relatives, as has been the case heretofore.

Polygamy was never very common in India, but to-day it is doomed. To-day the woman of India is leaving the privacy of her apartments, going to modern schools for education, and entering the arena of public activity, to help along the evolution of Hindoostan. Schools and colleges, especially designated for girls and neighborhood centers meant for the advancement of matured women, are coming to be pronounced features of East Indian cities.

Liverpool's Drunkenness.
In no centre in the Kingdom have more earnest efforts been made to fight drunkenness than in Liverpool, but the latest report of the head constable shows that no great success has attended these efforts. Indeed, the convictions under this head, which in 1908 were 7,877, and in 1907 were 8,725, were last year 8,239, although it should be stated that the head constable regards the figures as indicative of the measure of police activity rather than of the amount of drunkenness. The supervision of the public houses is very strict, and the causes of the evil appear to be an increase in drinking in the home fostered by cards being from door to door and supplying beer—if need be, on credit; the resorting to public houses of women early in the morning, and grocers' licenses. The Liverpool city justices have just been considering these matters, and have passed a series of resolutions in favor of action concerning them. Liverpool has already initiated many reforms in regard to licensing; we trust its latest efforts to further cope with a great evil may again be fruitful of results.

WHAT A WOMAN WILL NOT DO
There is nothing a woman would not do to regain her lost beauty. She ought to be fully as zealous in preserving her good looks. The herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine or Lane's Tea is the most sufficient aid in preserving a beautiful skin and will do more than anything else to restore the rosy to faded cheeks. At all druggists' and dealers', 75c.

A Power Remedy.
One day while running a fox over some very rough ground, Major was violently thrown from his seat on a very spirited horse, and rendered insensible. Until a doctor could be procured, his old colored servant was asked to care for him.

When the doctor arrived, he found the major quietly smoking on his terrace, and was curious to know what medicine had effected such miraculous results.

Uncle John, being questioned, explained his mode of treatment as follows:
"Mass his inside an' I give him alum an' rum."
"What for?" asked the astonished physician.

"De alum to draw de parts togidder an' de rum to sadder dem."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any disease that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
Address F. J. CHEENEY & CO., Tol. O.
Sold by all druggists, 75 cents.

Helpful Beauty Hints
A Few Valuable Beauty Hints—For a Scrawny Neck—The Face of Sixty—For Braided Nails and Their Cause—Recipe For Liquid Face Powder—Orange Flower Cream.

Don't scowl or frown or knit your brow. An unlovely expression will mar the most perfect features.
Don't mouth or bite your lips or bang your lips open. Twisting and contortion do not improve an ugly mouth and ruin a pretty one.
Don't squint or wink your eyelids or utter "goo-goo" expressions. Your eyes may not be glorious orbs, but if left as nature made them they will attract less unfavorable notice.
Don't look coquettish or pose or smirk. Naturalness is one of the biggest beauty factors known.
Don't sleep on rouge or peroxide or bought locks under the impression that the world is easily fooled. All bree have their places, but should be used discerningly.
Don't wear unbecoming collures or hats or gowns just because they are the style. No one is so beautiful that she can afford to be a slavish follower of fashion.
Don't try to look younger than you are nor older than you are, nor as if you had more money than you have. The girl who poses womanly clothes is as unlovely as the old woman who tries to be kittenish; while attempted innery is hopelessly inartistic.
Don't stoop or slouch or hunch your shoulders. A beautiful face is half forgotten in a poor carriage, and the girl who has "an air" will carry off ugly features.
Don't neglect the value of sunlight, fresh air and a good digestion as beauty-makers. Live out of doors and eat sparingly and the measure of beauty that in years will be sensibly enhanced.

Neck Too Scrawny.
Massage with a skin food, deep breathing and neck exercises will contribute toward making your neck plumper. Below is printed a formula for a tissue-building cream, with which you might massage your neck every night after bathing it in warm water. Practice deep breathing exercises twice a day for about five minutes at a time and try the following exercises for the neck: Lower the head backward slowly six times; repeat on each side and to the front. Turn the neck slowly so as to face the right; repeat on the left. These exercises should not be done too strenuously and care must be taken not to strain the muscles. The formula for the skin food follows: White wax, 1 ounce; spermaceti, 1 ounce; lanoline, 2 ounces; sweet almond oil, 1 ounce; cocoanut oil, 2 ounces; tincture of benzoin, 30 drops; orange flower water, 2 ounces. Melt the first five ingredients together. Take off the fire and beat until nearly cold, adding little by little the benzoin and lastly the orange flower water.

SETTLED.
Friend—If your wife treats you so shamefully why don't you get a divorce?
Mr. Henpeck—I did want to, but she said "no," so, of course, that settled it.—New York Telegram.

A Strict Constructionist.
A widow in a Maine town, according to "The Boston Herald" was a strict constructionist in her theology, and would admit no lodger into her boarding house who had a leaning toward Universalist views. One day in old sea captain happened along to ask for rooms.

"But what do you believe?" asked the widow.
"Oh, most anything," replied the captain.
"Do you believe there is a hell?"
"Sure," was the reply.
"Well, barrier the widow, how many do you think will go there?"
The captain cautiously remarked that he thought twenty thousand would be a fair estimate.

The widow paused, then stated that he could come in "twenty thousand," she said, "is better than none."

The Climax.
He was telling a jinxing story out of his wallet of a thousand and one hairbreadth escapes over in Santiago, de-chaer-know, and his pretty listener was leaning anxiously toward him, hanging on his every syllable.

"The wolves were upon us," he said, "belonging and roaring, as I have so often heard them. We fled for our lives. I don't deny it; but every second we knew the ravenous pack was gaining on us. At last they were so near that we could feel their muzzles against our legs."
"Ah!" gasped out the lady. "How glad you must have been they had their muzzles on!"—Answers.

Poor Woman.
"I am so sorry for Mrs. Flite," says the lady with the display of coral rings. "She is so unhappy since she came home from her summer trip. You know she left her husband at home alone all summer."
"Ah!" significantly breathes the lady with the two-dollar bracelet. "And did he scrouse around and do things he shouldn't? These wren!"
"That's why she is unhappy," explains the other lady. "He believed himself, and she was so in hopes she might have a chance to get a divorce."

A Suggestion.
A certain retired coal dealer of Newburg is in the good old phrase a tight as wax, but has a passion to be considered a "spender" and good liver, never neglecting an opportunity to "refer to his 'wine cellar,' etc. A short while ago he snared a well-known clubman and had him at his house for dinner. A bottle of sherry was produced with considerable ostentation and the glasses filled. The host held his to the light, then drank, and snatched his lips.

"What do you think of that, hey?"
"Very good," the guest commented, getting his glass up to the light. "But I say, old man, be a bit more confidential, you know a place where you can get wine even cheaper than this!"—Brooklyn Life.

What Cynics Are.
Cynics was the name applied to a school of philosophers founded by Anaximenes, a pupil of Socrates. The main tenet of the extreme Cynics was that civilization is a curse, and true happiness can be obtained only by gratifying the most primary physical appetites which man has in common with brutes. The general attitude of the Cynics, as distinguished from that of the Stoics, who regarded everything in the external world with indifference, was one of contempt. They were not an important philosophical school numerically, but attracted attention largely by their eccentricities and insolence. On account of their contempt for refinement their name came subsequently to be applied to any one who takes a mean view of human life.

Clearing House Operations.
A clearing house is an agency established by the banks of a city, to which all checks drawn upon one city bank and deposited in another are sent for payment. Every morning there is a clearing or settlement of accounts, in which the checks deposited in each bank and the checks drawn upon each bank are separately summed up and compared. If there is more deposited in a bank than there is drawn upon it the bank receives the difference in cash. If the reverse is the case, the bank pays the balance instead of receiving it. The term clearing means either the act of settling up or the sum of all the checks presented for payment. The amount of business done by the clearing house is a pretty sure index of the general condition of business.
