BASE BALL MATTERS.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of ball, is an old saying in a new frame. Well, spring is almost here and the cry of the empire will soon be heard thru out the land, mingling with the songs of other birds that make the season of promise joyous.

There is to be a public base ball meeting in the Borough Building on Catherine St. Saturday night March 19th at quarter past eight. All who are interested in seeing a good team represent Milford for 1910 are invited to be present. As base ball is a public institution it seems expedient to invite the public to assist in organizing and maintaining the team this year. Heretofore this plan has not been tried but as Harry Angle suggested the time is now ripe for such action. In the past years private parties were instrumental in conducting base ball, and Frank Cross, Josiah Terwilliger and others deserve credit for the work they did in promoting and fostering the sport in this village.

Last year a board of directors was organized to manage the team and a strong lot of players represented Milford. The men failed, however, to play in the form expected of them and general disappointment accompanied by much adverse criticism resulted. The players were engaged at high salaries and the team besides a falling short of what was looked for was a too expensive luxury. A better condition would have prevailed, had not several of the players met with accidents, and others been retired by sickness. Nevertheless, the nine was a very strong one and it made an excellent showing in contests with some of the best semi professional clubs in the country. Last year experience was valuable from an educational point of view, as it clarified the atmosphere and gave the directors an insight into existing conditions. Mistakes that were made in past years will not be repeated as a better understanding of conditions prevails.

Many curb stone philosophers last summer were wont to gather around the post office and condemn the practice of engaging outside talent in stead of organizing a team of local players. To have heard these gentlemen argue we would have supposed that in our midst dwell ball players of the type of Hank Wagner and Ty Cobb with a goodly sprinkling of Mathewsons and Three Fingers Browns thrown in. Such local pride and patriotism must not be taken too seriously for a first class local team has not represented Milford for years and would be impossible to organize at present.

The Milford boys are all in trade or business and lack the time for practice that is necessary. They are therefore weak in batting and ragged in fielding. As an illustration, in the game that the local team played with the Foresters last year but one hit was made in nine innings by Milford, and after the Foresters began hitting the ball errors were accumulated by the wholesales.

But the more local talent that can be trained and used the better it will be, and various schemes have been discussed to stimulate ambition among our players and afford them more opportunities for practice. It is up to the boys themselves to make good provided from now on they are given substantial encouragement and allowed to use the field without undue restriction. A division of the gate receipts might be given to those who participate in games, and it has been suggested that a gold watch be given to the best local player in 1910.

Milford is educated to fast, clean ball and the public will not support any other kind. This has been proven. It therefore seems absolutely necessary to procure outside talent if we are to meet the demand, and to maintain the high standard that has been established. No invitation is likely to be extended to the unproved players who were with us last year but the Milford Base Ball Club has received several offers of good players who desire to play with us this year on reasonable terms. These are worthy of consideration.

It is said that Newton and Branchville will not have such formidable teams as in the past which is encouraging news as we can meet them on more even terms and without engaging high priced players.

Now at this meeting to talk past Saturday night it is earnestly requested that all those who are interested will be present to vote for a board of directors and discuss all questions of base ball importance. The present management is willing to retire in favor of a new board, and if such a board is elected in satisfactory form they will support it and cooperate in all ways possible. The board of directors last year was representative and influential, and in returning it desires to establish a unity of all factions, to bring about a perfectly harmonious condition and to play base ball on such a satisfactory basis that it will command the support of the public. In conclusion let it be said that Milford must have a strong team in the field if it is to maintain its well earned reputation as an up to date summer resort. Remember and be present Saturday night.

Ever-Busy Woman.
A newspaper writer, sympathizing with women because there is no longer any cradle to rock, or hardly a baby to care for, no home schooling necessary in the presence of the modern kindergarten, no sewing to do in this ready-made age, little housework in this day of bats and suites and restaurants and prepared foods, asks with concern: What are we going to do with the woman out of a job? Let him put that question face to face to his woman acquaintances and he will find them all so busy trying to keep up with their engagements that they won't have time to answer his foolish questions.

A Plea for a Real Home.
There is no subject of greater importance than that of home and home life. Almost everything of interest to the individual, to the nation and to the world is bound up in home life. If the home life of a nation is vicious or not what it should be, the nation can never rise to an exalted position. Home to many people is simply a place where they eat and sleep. Home should be a place where the father, mother and children can enjoy themselves better than any other place on earth. The attractive feature of most homes is that there is no formality, no stiffness, no forms of etiquette to interfere with comfort—Woman's Life.

Johnny's Warning.
A little boy who always guesed at everything was asked by his teacher how many gods there were. First he counted two, then three, whereupon he teacher punished him and sent him home. On his way home he met another boy and asked him where he was going. "To Sunday school," said the other. "You'd better not go there. She'll ask you how many gods there are." "Well, I know how many gods there are. There is one," said number two. "Yes you go there with your little one god. I loved there were three and she nearly knocked my head off."

For the Spelling Class.
"I prophesy an agreeable ecstasy in perceiving the unparalleled embarrassment of a harassed postilion while gauging the symmetry of a potato peeled by a sibilant." Dictate this sentence and find how many of your friends will be able to spell it aright!

Woman's Latest Conquest.
See other has been requisitioned for the adornment of fashionable feminine attire. Heretofore it has been exclusively reserved for the use of men, so doubt on account of its weight and durability.

The Extreme.
Victor—So this town is strongly opposed to corporal punishment?
Walter—Yes, sir. Why, mister, dey don't even let us serve whipped team.

A Little Social Affair.
A woman, dirty and disheveled, went into a public dispensary with her right arm bruised and bleeding. As the surgeon applied the necessary remedies he asked: "Deg bite you?"
"No, sorr," the patient replied, "another lody."

Ameliorating Circumstances.
Socrates had taken the first sip of his hemlock.
"I shall be allowed to go alone, I trust?" he murmured.
After being assured that Xantippe would remain behind, he drained the goblet cheerfully.

There's the Rub.
"Died in poverty!" cried the philosopher scornfully. "Died in poverty, did he, an' you expect me to sympathize? What is there in dying in poverty? I've got to live in it!"—Sporting Times.
