Ever-Busy Woman.
A newspaper writer, sympathizing with women because there is no longer any cradle to rock, or hardly a baby to care for, no home schooling necessary in the presence of the modern kindergarten, no sewing to do in this ready-made age, little housework in this day of flats and cafes and restaurants and prepared foods, asks with concern: What are we going to do with the woman out of a job? Let him put that question face to face with his woman acquaintances and dollars to designate he will find them all so busy trying to keep up with their engagements that they won't have time to answer his foolish questions.

A Plea for a Real Home.
There is no subject of greater importance than that of home and home life. Almost everything of interest to the individual, to the nation and to the world is bound up in home life. If the home life of a nation is vicious or not what it should be, the nation can never rise to an exalted position. Home to many people is simply a place where they eat and sleep. Home should be a place where the father, mother and children can enjoy themselves better than at any other place on earth. The attractive features of most homes is that there is no formality, no stiffness, no forms of etiquette to interfere with comfort—Woman's Life.

Johnny's Warning.
A little boy who always guessed at everything was asked by his teacher how many gods there were. First he guessed two, then three, whereupon the teacher punished him and sent him home. On his way home he met another boy and asked him where he was going. "To Sunday school," said the other. "You'd better not go there. She'll ask you how many gods there are." "Well, I know how many gods there are. There is one," said number two. "Yes, you go there with your little one god. I loved there were three and she nearly knocked my head off."

Take Her Choice.
"You know the engagement between Jack and myself is off, and I asked him to send back my presents and a lock of my hair that I gave him."
"Well," he sent a servant this morning with a large packet containing innumerable locks of hair from gray to flaxen, raven to red, with a message that I could choose from among them my own property!"

Johnny and the Whale.
Mother—Johnny, you said you'd been to Sunday school.
Johnny (with a far-away look)—Yes, mamma.
Mother—How does it happen that your hands smelt of fish?
Johnny—I carried home the Sunday school paper, and the outside page is all about Jonah and the whale.

Make-Up of the Tailor.
It requires the originality of a genius, the wisdom of a philosopher, the brains of an inventor and the tact of a diplomatist to make a success in the tailoring trade. To bring about a restoration of color and grace in men's clothing will need the qualities of a hero and a martyr.

A Little Social Affair.
A woman, dirty and disheveled, went into a public dispensary with her right arm bruised and bleeding. As the surgeon applied the necessary remedies he asked: "Dog bite you?"
"No, sorr," the patient replied, "another loidy."

Amplifying Circumstances.
Scorpion had taken the first sip of his hemlock.
"I shall be allowed to go alone, I trust," he murmured.
After being assured that Xantippe would remain behind, he drained the goblet cheerfully.

There's the Rub.
"Died in poverty!" cried the philosopher scornfully. "Died in poverty, did he, an' you expect me to sympathize? What is there in dying in poverty? I've got to live in it!"—Sporting Times.

What, indeed?
"James was always kind of morose," said Mrs. Page to her caller, "but now he's married again, seems as if he couldn't bear to have anybody smile." "There you go, he says to Almy, the other day, 'always stung them secular songs in this vale of woe. What if you was took sudden,' says he, 'and called to your last account with the 'Soldier's Tear' in your mouth?"—Exchange.

Lunchroom.
Three men went into a quick-lunch restaurant and ordered a ham-and-egg sandwich and a glass of milk, two poached eggs on toast, and two sausages on macaroni. Here's what the lunch-counter man sang out to his invisible cook:
"One combo with a cow; two men on a raft, two Bierlots on the Channel."

All Going Out.
Judge (sternly)—Three times in a month! What do you make of this, sir?
Custas (apologetically)—"Deed I don't make nuffin." You fellows up here seem to be de only ones dat get any 'century profit out of hauling me up."

Uncultivated Land in Japan.
Three-fourths of the area of Japan is mountainous, and less than sixteen per cent. is under cultivation.

Novel Institute for Brazil.
Rio de Janeiro is to have a government zootechnical and economical institute dedicated to the study of stock raising and agricultural experiments.

His Query.
A foreigner, watching a young kitten playing with its mother, asked of his friend: "Vat you see cat call he is a little pup?"

The Craving for Sugar.
But there is this fundamental difference between the craving for sugar and that for "sours," acids, vinegar, pickles, etc., alcohol, and for other keen flavors and highly attractive luxuries, that it is a real food of very high food-value and very promptly and readily absorbable, which none of the others are, except in small degree. As we have seen, this violent craving for sugar, leading to excess, largely disappears in children when their healthy demand for it is supplied by a proper mixture with their food; while no child yet has ever inherited or been born with a taste for alcohol, pickles, tea, coffee or tobacco.—Success Magazine.

Patron Saint of Aviators.
It has been stated that the Vatican had been approached with the view of selecting a patron saint for aviators, and that it had been suggested that Elijah would be an appropriate person. The originator of the story seems to have not taken into account that Elijah was an Old Testament character, and as such would be ineligible. No doubt, going to heaven in a chariot of fire would have made Elijah an appropriate patron. A Paris contemporary suggests that Santa Columbe should be chosen. Her name alone has much to recommend her. She suffered martyrdom at Sens under Marcus Aurelius—London Globe.

A Kick for Consistency.
The commuter with a grievance opened the door of the General Passenger Agent's department, pushed aside the boy at the railing, and stalked to the Chief Clerk's desk and relieved himself as follows:
"Maybe I have no kick coming when I go to the station on time every morning for six weeks to catch the 3:05 train, only to find it from five to ten minutes late. Maybe I haven't, I say. But when I get there two minutes late on the first morning of the seventh week only to see the rear end of the train disappearing cityward then, by thunder, I have a kick coming, and I'm here to register it!"

For the Spelling Class.
"I prophesy an agreeable ecstasy in perceiving the unparalleled embarrassment of a harassed position while gauging the symmetry of a potato peeled by a sibil." Dictate this sentence and find how many of your friends will be able to spell it aright!

Woman's Latest Conquest.
Sea-otter has been requisitioned for the adornment of fashionable feminine attire. Heretofore it has been exclusively reserved for the use of men, no doubt on account of its weight and durability.

Bible for All Immigrants.
More than 450,000 immigrants have landed at Ellis Island during the last six months, and each one who wished it got a copy of the Scriptures in his own language from missionaries of the New York Bible society.

The Extreme.
Visitor—So this town is strongly opposed to corporal punishment?
Waiter—Yes, sir. Why, mister, dey don't even let us serve whipped cream.

A Dusty Spot.
Most of the Negro messengers at the doors of Cabinet members and their assistants are well-educated men. The other day, when Secretary Knox looked at the big globe that stands in his office, he was annoyed to find that the globe was dusty.
"William," the Secretary of State said to the messenger, putting a finger on the globe, "there's dust here an' inch thick!"
"It's thicker than that, sir," replied the messenger.
"What do you mean?" said the Secretary sharply.
"Why, you've got your finger on the Desert of Sahara."

Heavenly.
A clever lady, who is an ardent believer in the immortality of the animal, is often rebuked by her clerical friends, who say that "dogs and cats would be quite out of place in Heaven." She replies: "Certainly, in our Heaven, but God would not wish them to pass their future life in the company of those who had neglected or ill-treated them on earth. No, God will give them a better Heaven than that!"

A Return in Kind.
Mark Twain once asked a neighbor if he might borrow a set of his books. The neighbor replied ungraciously that he was welcome to read them in his library, but he had a rule never to let his books leave his house. Some weeks later the same neighbor sent over to ask for the loan of Mark Twain's lawn-mower.
"Certainly," said Mark, "but since I make it a rule never to let it leave my lawn you will be obliged to use it here."

At Last.
As soon as a man really feels that he can at last put aside his business cares he lies down and dies.

Love Letters.
Women generally write love letters merely for the purpose of getting a chance to keep the answers.

Lost One Should Fall.
It is well to moor your bark with two anchors.—Publius Syrus.

Personal Friendship.
The wealth of life lies in personal friendship.

Mind Like Other Products.
As the products are improved by cultivation, so it is with the mind. Education brings the seeds of thought that have been produced by the noblest masters in the arts and sciences and industries in all ages and all lands and sows them in our mind to spring up and fructify in accordance with the care we take in their cultivation.
