THE THRIVING FAMILY.

BY MRS. L. H. SIGOURNEY.

Our father lives in Washington. And has a world of cares, a but gives his children each a farm, Enough for them and theirs. Full thirty well-grown sons has he, A numerous range indeed, Married and settled, all, d've see, With boys and girls to feed, And if we wisely till our lands, We're sure to earn a living, And have a penny too, to spare, For spending, of for giving. A thriving family are we, No lordling need deride us. For we know how to use our hands And in our wits we pride us; Hail, brothers, hail-

Let nought on earth divide us. Some of us dare the sharp north-east, Some, clover fields are mowing; And others read the cotton plants That keep the leoms a-going; Some build and steer the white-wing'd ships. And few in special can mate them; While others rear the corn and wheat, We grind the flour to freight them. And if our neighbors o'er the sea Have e'er an empty larder, To send a loaf their babes to cheer, We'll work a little harder. No old nobility bare we,

 No tyrant-king to ride us; Our sages in the Capitol * Enact the laws that guide us. Hail brother hail-Let nought on earth divide us. Some faults we have—we can't deny A foible, here and there;

But other households have the same And so we'll not despair. 'Twill do no good to fume and frown, And call hard names, you see, And 'twere a burning shame to part

So fine a family!
'Tis but a waste of time to fret, Since nature made us one, For every quarrel cuts a thread That healthful love hath spun. So draw the cords of union fast. Whatever may betide us. And closer cling through every blast, For many a storm has tried us.

Hail, brothers, bail,-Let nought on earth divide us.
