The pasturage is deficient for this large stock of cattle, the whole farm containing but 160 acres; and it is therefore neccessary to feed them through the summer, mostly in the barn, and for this purpose, clover, corn, early rye, &c., are sown, to cut and feed green. The cattle bave, however, a small pasture to range upon a few hours daily for exercise. The mannure heap is increased greatly by this summer feeding poat-mud being thrown into the trench-

These were removed, the field plowed about six inches deep, and the stones brought to the surface in the operation, picked up and carted off; thirty loads of compost to the acre were then spread on top and harrowed in, and the field planted to corn.-The crop averaged between seventy and eighty bushels per acre, and the next spring the surface was loosened and leveled with the harrow; a compost of 6 bushels of lime to 3 loads, or 12 cord, of peat-mid was spread, 12 loads per acre, and the field sowed to wheat. The yield averaged 20 bushels to the acre, of fine quality. At the same time it was stocked to grass with bushel herd's-grass, 1 bushel red-top, and 10 lbs. clover seed per acre. The seed took well, and the next bear the job of making and securing the hay was let out, and judged by those to whom it was referred, to be 40 tons, when in the barn! The grass crop has been
