MESSES. EDITORS:—One fact, it has been said, is worth an hundred theoretical arguments. I have a fact to communicate about the growing of potatoes, which I think worth something to myself; and perhaps it may be also to my brother farmers. Let them read, and try for an experiment to grow potatoes that should not rot, as they had previously done with me Paysician and Susacor Montrose, and my neighbors. It occurred to me that tween Salisbury's and Post's stores. green manure might contribute to produce the disease, so I determined at a venture to alter the usual plan of manuring for the crop of this excellent and almost essential food of man.

Instead of putting on long manure in the green state in the Spring, I concluded to put green state in the Spring. I concluded to put the first named in the firm, over the Engineer's office, of the latter at his residence. it in. This I did. In the spring, I furrowed it out, and planted my potatoes, without any additional manure.

Last fall (1847,) I gathered the crop, and I never before had sounder, or so large, so mealy, and in every respect such superb Potatoes, as my whole crop was. The crop in amount was a fair average yield. There were fewer small potatoes than usual found in it. They have kept well, both in the pit, and in the cellar, without the slightest sign of rot. The rot, however, was not at any rate as prevalent in our neighborhood last fall and winter; but still there was some of it among my neighbor's po

O. Susquehanna Township, Dauphin Co., Pa.

Judge Longstreth, one of the most distinguished Agriculturists in this State, mentioned to us casually, in a conversation a short time since, that he had at length got his farm hands into the practice of scattering, every morning when they visit the stables a handful or so of Plaster over the manure excremented during the night or previous day. In this way the ammonia of the dung is fixed, and reduced to the condition of sulphate of ammonia or rather an ammoniated Sulphate of Lime: That is, the ammonical gas, which is the most fertilizing part, is kept in the manure; until you want it for the crop, and then, like the Western man at the fight, you will "always find it thar," ready to feed the maws of your plants. In morning when they visit the stables a handful

In consequence of this practice of Judge L's, his horses' eyes are not injured, nor do their human attendants suffer inconvenience by the sharp, pungent and valuable salt escaping into and filling their confined atmosphere of the stables, subsequently to be lost in the air. Their eyes case to pater in a few moments after the plaster is put on.

He had some difficulty at first in making his people comprehend the necessity for the practice. A quantity of the plaster was always kept in a tim cup in the stables, with postive orders to uselt, and with directions how. But prejudice is strong, and ignorance indifferent to what it does not comprehend: it was therefore not done. One morning the Judge was down in the barn with the men, at a time when ammonic filled the stables, and was exceedingly pungent and disagreeable. Calling the attention of his men first to the fact, he then took as a short of some three inches thick, and is along the there are one is some and the necessity for the practice.

I will do mit indeption and to make it and is split; as I am with consumption, by inheritance and include the indiction to the share it is and do challenge the world in state of most such as the world in state of most and attendants suffer into one three intendents and the injurious effects in inc cases out of the of the stables, subsequently to but a state of our premium Airtight Fire-proof safes, and with the real recommended by our most popular and scientification to the practice, and with the real many of the expenditude of the planter. While he was doing this the hands left the stables; but returning in the course of a few minutes, they were requested to notice the change. The stables seemed like another place entirely. They said nothing .-A hint to the wise was sufficient, The plaster puts the ammonia "in a fix," every day regularly !- Penn. Cultivator.

Another fuct relative to the Potato disease -At a late meeting of the Executive Committee of the N. Y. State Agricultural Society, held at Buffalo, Mr. F. J. Betts of Newburgh. communicated the following information relative to the disease of the potatoe :- " I have this year planted potatoes in my forcing house, which ripened some three weeks since, and upon digging them I found several entirely rotten. I deem this fact of some importance in ascertaining the nature of the disease, as it certainly refutes some of the theories in respect to it.-The house is kept at as even a temperature as practicable, without the use of artificial heat, and the ground is continually moist; neither sudden alternations of heat, therefore, nor sudden changes from dry to wet, can be the cause of the disease. The soil is made 31 feet deep, very rich, from an admixture of well-rotted manure, muck, and shell marl, and limed very heavily. Such are the facts, and they may assist in arriving at some just conclusions in respect to the disease. - Amer. Agriculturist.

Facts in Regard to Cutting Unripe Corn. -It is stated in the American Farmer, that Indian corn, if cut many days before it is fairstances, without any apparent diminution either in quantity of quality of the grain. In several instances, which have fallen under the observation of the editor of that paper, it has when cut at the roots before the kernels had become fairly "specked," filled even more rapidly than while standing. They were pronounced by the attending physicians to be pulmonary consumption, and abandoned by them incurable. One of the persons had been under the treatment of several very able practitioners for a trumber of years, and they said she had "the old fashioned; one diconsumption combined with scrofuls," and that she might linger for some time, but could not be permanently pelieved. In both cases the effect of the panacea has been most gratifying. Only four or five bottles were rapidly. The other took about ten. Dr. Townsend—I verily believe that your Sarsaparilla has been the means, through Providence, of saving my. life. I have for saveral years had a bad cough. It became worse and worse. At last I raised large quantities. name worse and worse. At last I raised large quantities of blood, had night sweats, and was greatly debilitated and reduced, and did not expect to live. I have only used your sarsaparilla a short time, and there has a wanderful change been wrought in me. I am now able to walk all over the city. I raise nd blood, and my cough has left me. You can well imagine that I am thankful for these results.

Your obedient servant,
Wm. Russell, 65 Catherine-st.

This is only one of more than four thousand cases of theamatism that Dr. Townsend's sareaparilla has cared. The most severe and chronic cases are weekly eradicated by its extraordinary virtues.
