Depth of Manure.

Considerable discussion is going on in the papers relative to the proper depth to bury manure. Some assert that its best parts decend, and, therefore, it should be but slightly covered --- while others maintain that nearly the whole strength becoming gaseous, rises, and it must, therefore, be buried deep. All this dif-ference of opinion results from the attempt to make a rule that will applyte all circumstances. One farmer applies manure to the surface of a and being only partially covered, much of it cscapes in vapor, and is wasted-the few light rains which occur are insufficient to wash much of the soluble portions into the soil, it never reaches the roots of the crop, and consequently produces little or no effect. Again, he ploughs it deeper into the soil, and the reverse in every respect takes place. Hence he becomes thor-ougly satisfied that manure should always, under all circumstances, be buried deep.

Another farmer applies his mannre late in autumn, to the surface. Cold weather prevents fermentation, and the enriching portion which otherwise escape in vapor, is washed by the abundant rains, in form of liquid manure into the soil and by the usual time of plowing in. spring, the sufface of the soil for a few inches, is saturated with the most fertilizing parts, the surface application is invariably the best. They "both are right, and both are wrong." should act according to circumstances. Every farmer is aware by the smell that but little manure escapes from his yard in winter, but much in summer. Hence in winter and late autumn; and in early spring, may safely lie at or near the surface, and its soluble parts will descend deep enough into the earth. But in dry soil, and during the dry warm season, it can scarcely be ploughed too deep, for benefiting the roots of plants.

Butter Made in Four Minutes.

Farmers' wives and daughters will probably rejoice to hear that a churn has been invented by means of which butter may be made in four or five minutes. The New York Mirror gives the following account of this truly useful contrivance.

We saw yesterday sweet milk converted into butter in four minutes; probably a dash of iced water would have brought the butter in less time. This wonderful effect was produced bax, having a hollow, perpendicular shaft with box, having a hollow, perpendicular shaft with two hollow arms or tubes at the lower end.— The shaft rests on a pivot, and is turned by a small crank and cog wheel; the motion causes the air to rush down into the milk and pro-duces a committion like boiling water. The butter began to come immediately, and after it was made the milk was as sweet as new. By this process good churn butter may be made for breakfast by any family after the milk-man has comg in in the morning, and the lux-tround. While the cakes are baking or the sumusing himself by churning the butter to cat with them. BEANS.—Ohe of our agricultural friends pre-sented us, recently, with a small quantity of beans on which he made some experiments in order to ascertain whether it were not practica-ble to increase their forwardness, as well as their powers of prolification. The specimen presented was struly superb, and we were in-
