A DEMOCRAT. Ha! ha! ha! What! The unimpeached and unimpeachable witness of our correspondent so effectually impeached so soon! What confidence can he place in any assertion he taining, as I conceive, a moral and political may make in view of the foregoing? He adlibel upon your reputations, and setting forth, mits he has been misinformed by him on this willingly takes the statement of one of the Conferees as of sufficient authority to warrant a dilemma? Why did he not, before making all this bluster and fomenting this " tempest in a teapot," go to the Conferees themselves, the the subject, (as he has now acknowledged) and get the true statement of the matter? Why did he first go to such a source as he has now found to be unreliable?
