BINGHAMTON ADVERTISEMENTS.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE & APPENDIX.

We issue this Prospectus to apprise the public of renewed preparations on our part to publish the Congressional Globe and Appendix for the approaching session, and invite subscriptions. The two Houses having contracted with us for the work, on such terms as enable us now to make complete reports, to multiply and issue the numbers in quicker succession than heretofore; and without increasing the price to subscribers, we hope to make a good return for the liberality and high official sanction thus bestowed on the publication. We shall increase the volume at least one third beyond the ordinary bulk, and endeavor to add to its usefulness by extending still further its large circulation.

This last is not the least important point in the view of Congress. Faithful and durable reports of the debates of the body are of value in proportion to the extent of their circulation among the people. It is in this way that Congress is brought into the presence of its remote constituents—that obtains easy access and holds communication with them from day to day, and renders the government really representative.

Having received from all parties in Congress the strongest marks of confidence and approbation, in the liberal manner and permanent contract voted to continue the work, we shall not be found wanting in the impartiality and industry necessary to the fulfillment of the engagement on our part. The next session will task to the utmost the best efforts of those connected with the undertaking. It will be distinguished by discussions of extraordinary interest, and results of abiding concern. The war, its origin and conduct by officers in the cabinet and in the field, will furnish subjects for profound inquiry and consideration. The terms of peace, the disposition to be made of conquests, the consequences to be drawn from all that has been done, as affecting parties in this country, and especially as bearing on the approaching presidential election, will open up novel and powerfully operating discussions, rendering the counsels at Washington during the next year as pregnant of good or evil to this continent as those of Rome were to the Old World in the days of her early energy. Such a field for deliberation and action was never presented to any previous Congress. All that has transpired or may hereafter transpire before the close of the approaching session of Congress, in New Mexico, California, and the capital of Mexico, and the provinces still dependent on it, will come under the consideration of the next Congress. Its debates will contain the history of the war, and its action determine its results, whether they be decided by arms or diplomacy. And whatever is developed concerning this vast and interesting matter on the floor of Congress or in the executive messages, will be found recorded in the Congressional Globe and Appendix.

The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two houses of Congress, and printed on superfine double royal paper, with small type, (brevier and nonpareil,) in quarter form, each number containing sixteen royal quarto pages. The speeches of the members, in this first form, unreduced—the full report of the prepared speech being reserved for the Appendix. All resolutions, motions, and other proceedings, are given in the form of the journals, with the yeas and nays on every important question.

Every member will have an opportunity to read his remarks before they are put to press, and alter our report if he should think it incorrect.

The Appendix is made up of the Presidents annual message, the reports of the principal officers of the government that accompany it, and all speeches of members of Congress, written out or revised by themselves. It is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe, and usually makes about the same number of pages during the session.

During the first month or six weeks of a session, there is rarely more business done than will make two numbers a week—one of the Congressional Globe and one of the Appendix; but during the remainder of a session, there is usually sufficient matter for two or three numbers of each every week. The next session will be unusually interesting; therefore we calculate the Congressional Globe and Appendix together will make near 3000 large quarto pages, printed in small type—brevier and nonpareil. We furnish complete Indexes to both at the end of a session.

We will endeavor to print a sufficient number of surplus copies to supply all that may be miscarried, or lost in the mails; but subscribers should be very particular to file their papers carefully, for fear that we should not be able to supply all the lost numbers.

We have a few surplus copies of the Congressional Globe for the last session of Congress, which we will sell for the original subscription price; $1 a copy. We have no surplus copies of the Appendix for that session.

TERMS.—For one copy of the Congressional Globe, $0 00
For one copy of the Appendix, $0 00
For six copies of either, or part of both, 10 00
Proprietors of newspapers who copy this prospectus before the first day of December, and send us one copy of their paper containing it, marked round with a pen to direct attention to it, shall have their names entered on our books for one copy of the Congressional Globe and Appendix during the session.

Our prices for these papers are so low that we cannot afford to credit them out. Therefore no person need consume time in writing for them, unless the money accompanies the order.

Subscriptions should be here by the 13th of December, at least, to secure all the numbers. B. & C. Oolong, 50
