

Mr. GALLATIN on the War.—Albert Gallatin, following the example of Mr. Clay, has given his opinions upon the war with Mexico. He arrives at the following conclusions: That the annexation of Texas was an offensive and unjust act to Mexico. That the government of the United States grossly erred in sending a Minister to Mexico instead of a Commissioner. That Texas never had any valid claim to the Rio del Norte as its boundary. That the United States ought not to make a conquest of Mexico; or insist on receiving from Mexico any other indemnification than that due American citizens, by Mexico, before the war began. That, as the preliminary to peace, we ought to evacuate the Mexican territory now in our possession.

THE BISHOP'S CASE.—The House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church have presented their report on the memorial of Bishop Onderdonk, to be released from the sentence of the Ecclesiastical Court.—The report is against the application of the Bishop for two reasons:

First, "Because the memorialist, once convicted on unimpeached and ample testimony of the charge of immorality, can hardly hope to exercise again his high and holy office, to the honor of God and the edifying of the Church, in the face of the same community." Secondly, "The memorialist does not stand in the position of a penitent. So far from it is the fact, that he has chosen, in his memorial, to be an accuser of the law, of the Court, and of the witnesses; and instead of confessing his faults, and professing repentance for them, he assumes the character of an injured man, and claims the re- mission of his sentence as a matter of right. Such being the ground on which the memorialist has chosen to rest his application, it is manifest that without incurring the reproach, either of admitting the justice of his complaint, or of shrinking from the defence of truth through the force of clamor. If they were capable of deserving either of these imputations, they would show themselves unworthy of the confidence of the church, and altogether unfit to guard the holy administration of its discipline which is committed to their care."

DEATH OF AN OLD MAN.—For years past Padre's Island, extending from the Brazos to Corpus Christi, upwards of a hundred miles in extent, has been uninhabited, save by a single individual, familiarly known as "Old Man Tilley." Here, in a little hut, in sight and hearing of the surf, dwelt this old man, upwards of twenty years, as undisputed a monarch as Alexander Selkirk on the Island of Juan Fernandez. Fishing, hunting and gathering upon the beach the cargoes of wrecked vessels, formed his occupation. His wants being but few and simple, he seldom disposed of what he accumulated in this way, but after rescuing it from the mercy of the waves, left it to perish by the noiseless touch of time. He seldom sought the society of men to destroy the monotony of his existence, and excepting when a solitary traveller, journeying across the island, claimed the hospitality of his hut, his solitude was never broken by human sounds. He was kind and humane to all who approached him, and, if he cast himself beyond the pale of society, and circumscribed his powers of being useful to his fellow men, he certainly did them no harm. Here, in this harmless and solitary mode, free from the tumult of a jarring world, lived and died this singular old man. He breathed his last on Friday, the 29th ult., and was buried on the ("my own," he called it) Island. From a bleak sand hill the old man's grave overlooks the ocean, the ceaseless roar of which, occasionally intermingled with the howl of the wolf and the scream of the eagle, chants the requiem of his departed spirit, and proclaims the eternal truth, that the "grave is a republic," which drags the proudest of the earth to a level with the most lowly.

In the hands of DeFoe, the life of the subject of this notice might be made ground work of a beautiful romance. The fact that Padre's Island was once the abiding place of the Crokaway, a tribe of cannibal Indians, and its jungles and fastnesses ranned over by almost every description of wild animals, would seem to favor an undertaking of this kind, and furnish the wool to weave through the story.—Matamoros Flag.

EXTRAORDINARY!

A CURE OF BODY AND MIND.

Philadelphia, Jan. 6th, 1846.
Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir:—Justice compels me to make the following statement of the extraordinary effects of your valuable medicine—the ALTERNATIVE.
I certify that my wife was afflicted for fourteen years, during which time her disease baffled the skill of several eminent physicians, and after finding that every means used to relieve her failed, I concluded to take her in the Pennsylvania hospital, hoping that the care and treatment she would there receive from the physicians of that institution, might again be restored to health. But to my great disappointment she grew worse, and became entirely deranged in her mind, and I was obliged to take her home again "incurable" and "beyond of reason." I will here mention that at this time she was afflicted with nervous symptoms of her disease were Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, attended with vomiting of a very offensive fetid mucus, pains in the head, back, and stomach, and in the region of the heart, with violent attacks of Colic, a troublesome cough from large quantities of phlegm in her throat, which she kept continually gagging and stretching to throw it up. She had no appetite, and was very weak. She also suffered very much from a uterine disease, by which she was confined to her bed. Add to the above, the deranged state of her mind, which finally she was truly awful, and you will be able to form some idea of her afflictions.
By the advice of a friend we commenced using your ALTERNATIVE, in doses of a tea spoonful three times a day, and found that it helped her. We also gave her your Vermifuge to increase her appetite, and the Banative Pills to regulate her bowels. She had not taken two bottles of the Alternative, before she operated on her in a wonderful manner, filling her with small red pimples, and caused her to expectorate large quantities of greenish mucus, which her breath was so offensive we could not remain in the room with her unless the doors were open. Finding the Alternative doing her so much good, we increased the dose according to the directions, and she continued to improve daily, until finally she was restored to health, in body as well as in mind.
I hope you will delay no time in issuing this notice to the public, as I am willing to be qualified at any time to the truth of the above statement, and that it was your Alternative which helped her.
SARCEL FIELDS, Bedford above Marlboro' St.
The above is from a worthy known and worthy citizen of Kensington, and a member of the Methodist Church, and hundreds of families in that neighborhood will testify to the truth of the above statement.
Prepared only by Dr. D. Jayne, Philadelphia, and sold on agency by N. Mitchell & Co., Druggists, Montrose.
