How Pat Saved his Quarter A physician, whose sign once hung out on Essez street, tells the following good story: He was sitting one day in his office, when there came in an Irishman who, after making his bow, (which an Irishman always has the politeness to do,) addressed him thus:

"Can ye pull a tooth for me, doctor?-Sure it's the devil's own brother I've got in my head, that's been keeping me awake these three nights intirely."

"Yes, I think I can take it out for you," replied the doctor; "sit down and let me look at it." The tooth proved to be a large double one badly inflamed around it; and very sore.-When the instruments were brought out to commence operations, Pat showed evident signs of nervousness.

"Och! sure, ye'll be murtherin me quite," said`he.

"To be sure I shall hurt you," said the doctor in a jocular way; "if I dont't I won't charge you anything for pulling it?

Pat said not another word, and the doctor went to work. The tooth was firmly knit to a firmer jaw, and stuck "like a Democrat to the Constitution," but our persevering doc-tor tugged and pulled, fairly lifting his patient in the struggle, who bore it all the way through like a martyr, "making no sign." At last offending molar was out, and triumphantly laid upon the table.

"There," said the doctor, "didn't I hurt -you-bad-enough?" "Not a bit, sir," said Pat, "and sure you're not the man to be going back from your own

Query.-Which got the worst of it, Pat or the Doctor?

The Final Test.

A worthy old Irishman was told one evening that his wife was very sick and likely to die. Profoundly grieved at the information, he hastened to her hedside to ascertainthe progress of disease, and in his own way to make a diagnosis. He first wiped the tobacco from his lips and gave her an affectionate smack.

"Och! by the powers, said he, "and sure her mouth is as cowld as the kay hole of a jail door!"

Filling his cob pipe he sat down by the fire and cogitated. A thought struck him, and he rose and offered his pipe to the sick woman, begging her to take a whiff or two. She mouned a feeble refusal, and the sorrowful man sat down again. The pipe was soon finished, and the canteen of old Irish whiskey was brought down; after a generous draft, he sweetened a little for his companion. As before she shook her head, and seemed to be utterly incapable of appreciating her usual luxurics.

The good man's heart failed him, and as he drained the toddy which she refused, he · Och, Bridget dear, and yees going to lave me entirely! Ye'll nither smoke nor dthrink, and sure thin ye are not long for this world, at all at all !"

And, sure enough, she did die.

Western officers are proverbial for shocking uniforms, and, in a majority of instances, it is rather difficult to distinguish them from the privates. Among this class is a Brigadier General named James Morgan, who looks more like a wagon master than a soluier .-On a certain occasion, a new recruit who had just arrived in camp, lost a few articles, and was inquiring around among the "vets" in hopes of finding them. An old soldier fond of his sport, told the recruit the only thief in the brigade was in Jim Morgan's tent,-The recruit immediately started for Jim's quarters, and poking his head in, asked:

"Does Jim Morgan live here?" "Yes," was the reply, "my name is Jim Morgan."

"Then I want you to hand over those books you stole from me!" "I have none of your books, my man,"

"It's an infernal lie," indignantly exclaimed the recruit. "The boys say you are the only thief in camp; turn out them books, or I'll grind your carcass into apple sass."

The general relished the juke much, but seeing the sinewy recruit peeling off his coat, infornel him of his relations to the brigade, and the recruit walked off, merely remarking, "Wall, blast me if I'd take you for a Brigadier. Excuse me, General, I don't know the ropes yet."

That the negro can sometimes say a shrewd thing is unquestionable. I have been told of au intelligent contraband, who, escaping from Dixie into the land of Abraham, was pressed by a white patriot to euter into the military service of the North, but manifested an unaccountable reluctance to shoulder a musket. Why don't you enlist Ginger? asked the white patriot 'Wal, mas'r' repliced the contraband, 'did ye ever see' two dogs fightiu' for a bone?' 'Certainly Ginger.'— 'Wal, did ye ever see de bone fight?' 1.' 'Wal, mas'r, you' se both a fightin', and Ginger's de bone, an' he's not gwine to fight in this hyar difficulty.

Farmers will please look at the great advantage in Thrashing Grain with GEISERS' PATENT SELF-REGULATING GRAIN SEPARATOR CLEANER AND BAGGER.

At a time like the present, when labor is very scarce, it is important that farmers who are interested should give attention to the above improvement, which will considerably reduce the expense of threshing grain over the common way.

This machine has been before the public for a number of years, but not very widely circulated, al-This machine has been before the public for a number of years, but not very widely circulated, although it has competed with all the best of the different patented Grain Separators, and proved a decided advantage, and now has the reputation of being the best Separator ever before the public. In order to prove this in new neighborhoods where it is not known, I am-willing to forward a machine for a test to any person desiring a trial, and have its merits tested; and I wish to have it understood that I put the machine upon its own merits, and want farmers to judge for themselves. If it does not fully meet their wants and they do not wish to purchase, I am perfectly willing to bear all expenses of skipping.

The machine is particularly adapted to farmers for their own use, and will apply to lever or railway power, will thresh and clean, in good grain, from 100 to 150 bushels per day, using four to six horses and the same number hands, but under very favorable circumstances will thresh more per day.

It cleans the grain thoroughly clean by one operation, which is not generally done by other Separators. Grain cleaned in the common way. There is also a great saving of grain, in straw and chaff over the common way of thrashing and cleaning, and also over other Separators and Cleaners.

The machine is conveniently arrangel for hauling and threshing, being permanently fixed on two wheels. One man can easily move or shift it about, so that it is not half the trouble in a barn floor as the common thresher and shaker. It is also easily put in operation, being simple, easily managed, relia-

As Kunkels Bitter wine of not be known world for the permanent cure of Dyspepsia and Debility, and as the common thresher and shaker. It is also easily put in operation, being simple, easily managed, reliations offered to the public of initiations offered to the public, durable, compact, and cleanly to work by while in operation, not making near the dust as the compact of the public of the p mon machine or other Separators.

Far ners can rest assured that this machine is no humbug, and judging from the high recommendation from farmers that are using them, I must come to the conclusion that it is the very machine that farmers want and will have as soon as they have an opportunity to appreciate and attest its merits, which I hope they will give me an opportunity, as I am willing to be responsible, as already stated, Price of Machine at Shop, (all complete, ready to attach to belt Lever or Railway Power,)
