we will leave to others to say what might be said upon the other side. In one of our former "talks" with you, we predicted that the abominable "waterfalls," so much beloved by the "angels in dry goods and glory," would soon die a natural fashionable death. However we had not the remotest idea that their demise would be so sudden and unexpected. But farewell, "waterfall"-vive "l'Empire." Do you know, ladies of Waynesboro, that those wretched Parisian modestes have constructed a new bonnet called l'Empire, which is to do away with back and bag hair altogether. The 'Empire" is a dignified and imposing affair, and not as those who have not seen it, and who have trusted to description, conceive it to be like, in shape, a Conestoga wagon. It is hard to give a true idea of it by mere description. Perhaps the best thing to say about it is that it is like a regular old-fashioned Gipsy hat, secured under the chin by a ribbon running straight across the brim. with a narrow, stiff cape departing from the bottom of the crown, and a veil pendant from

TERRIBLE RAILROAD ACCI-DENT.

NINE PERSONS INSTANTLY KILLED! From the Harrisburg Telegraph.
One of the most horrible railroad accidents that occurred during the present year, haproses were still blooming. But, alas! sum- that occurred during the present year, hapmer is gone. The glory of the season has peuced on Saturday afternoon, on the Penndeparted. Aye, the bright Italian skies and Lancastor, as the Day Eapress train reached that point, en route for Philadelphia .-The train consisted of seven cars. The choly days have come. We shall pass no The train consisted of seven cars. The more those sweetly pensive nights when the grand harmony of nature swept away the end of the car at once fell to the track, and drowsy spell of slumber-when, leaning romartically on a lattice casement, like "Juliet," we lisped apostrophes to the pale shining moon, and caught the grateful echoes sons and maining a large number of others -trumor says thirty or more. The scene is said to have been heartrending and sickencounts of ladies falling out of bed and break- ing in the extreme. The shricks and grouns of the wounded and dying were such as to at the high-toned little warblers, for the unman the stoutest heart, and cause many warblers have gone and flitted; and not again passengers to leave the vicinity of the accident to obtain relief from the sad spectacle presented.
