

VILLAGE RECORD.

WAYNESBORO.

Friday, January 19, 1866.

H. Miller, Saturday, January 27th. David M. Stoner, Wednesday, January 31st. J. L. Ryder, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 30th and 31st. Jacob Bonebrake, Thursday, February 1st. J. H. Clayton, Thursday, Feb. 8th. John Price, Jr. Tuesday, February 13th. A. S. Monn, Monday and Tuesday, February 19th and 20th. Henry Baer, Tuesday, February 20th.

CONGRESSIONAL.—We have no news of special interest from Congress since our last issue.

Gov. Curtin it is expected will be in Harrisburg to-morrow. He was to have departed from Cuba on the 15th.

Conscience money continues to be forwarded to the Treasury at Washington, but the sums are all small. Large sums don't press so heavily on the consciences.

A Southern paper, referring to the report that the test oath will be repealed by Congress, says that when such a repeal is secured Congress will be insulted with the presence of the meanest traitors in the South.

Districts in certain parts of the State, are infested with thieves who ask for lodging at farm houses on the plea that they are discharged soldiers. The result of the hospitality on the part of kind hearted farmers is robbery on the part of those entertained, as they are only burglars in disguise.

The Tidonté Chronicle says the oil excitement in that locality is on the increase. Speculators are flocking there from all parts of the land, and operations in property have become as vigorous as in the halcyon days of '61.

Wm. Milnes, Esq., an enterprising Pennsylvanian, and a citizen of Columbia county, has purchased fifty-nine thousand acres of land in the Shenandoah Valley, Va., on which are three furnaces and a forge.—It is his design to put them into operation immediately.

It will be remembered that some weeks ago says a correspondent, Major Dixon, paymaster was shot and killed near Alexandria, Va., by Dr. Maddox, of Fauquier county.—After the death of Major Dixon, who was one of the staunchest Union men in the country, the ex-rebels determined to drive his unprotected widow from the county of Fauquier, and they proceeded in guerilla style to burn her house over her head, at the dead hour of night. A kind Providence, however, averted the doom intended, and the fire kindled against her door failed to ignite the house. This attempt was sufficient, however, to drive Mrs Dixon from her home, and she is again an exile in Washington from her home and from her native State, as she has been during the past five years.

The late rebels are getting the offices in the South and are treating men who were loyal to the Union there through the rebellion as if "loyalty were a crime and must be punished." The guerilla Morby is acting as prosecuting attorney at Warrenton, Va., and is arraigning all Union men of that vicinity upon petty trumped up charges.—These rebels need a different kind of "reconstruction" from that which they are getting. It will be a shame on our government if it allow the Union men of the South to suffer persecution now for having been true to the country.

Large bodies of Northern men who had gone South to settle in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, are being forced to leave their new homes by the hostile attitude of the whipped rebels, who threaten to burn the property and take the lives of all Northern men who attempt to settle in the South.

The Louisville Journal, in speaking of Mr. Buchanan's book, thinks the fishy old man has committed a foolish waste of time to argue his case after the verdict had been rendered and the punishment (universal condemnation and contempt) inflicted.—Benedict Arnold's ghost might as well attempt to reverse the world's decision as James Buchanan.

A woman named Mary Watt was found with her throat cut on the floor of her residence in Philadelphia on Saturday morning. The deceased was over seventy years of age, resided alone, and was reported to be rich and miserly. She was found with her skull fractured and throat cut from ear to ear. No clue has been discovered as to the murderer, who was careful to leave no weapon behind him or anything which might lead to his pursuit.

It is now ascertained beyond a doubt that more than three-fourths of the money sent by the friends of Union soldiers who were captives in rebel prisons, was stolen by the keepers thereof.

At Home.—The brave boys of the 77th.

Judge Field, of California, now in Washington, received by express, on Saturday, a small box with a printed address, which came from San Francisco by the last steamer. Not knowing its purport he proceeded to open it, with the ordinary caution which curiosity inspires, in the presence of Judge Lake. Upon unsewing and raising the lid about half an inch Judge Lake caught sight of several little copper wires, and instantly suggested that it was an infernal machine. Further operations were suspended, and the box placed in a tub of water until to-day, when it was taken to the War Department, where it was opened, and twelve large metallic cartridges with heavy ball, nicely adjusted with fulminating powder, so as to explode upon the raising of the lid, were found. There was a single line upon the inside of the lid, as follows, "last October you decided the Puebla case."

The following joint resolution was offered in the House, at Harrisburg, on the 15th inst., by Mr. McKinley, of Lawrence county.

Resolved, That we, the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania, do hereby declare our solemn conviction, that the penalties incurred by the chief participants in the late rebellion should by no means be abated, and that the people whom we represent, sternly demand that Jefferson Davis, chief instigator of, and leader in treason, be brought to a speedy trial before the civil court or a military commission, whichever will most certainly secure the capital punishment of his acknowledged guilt. Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

MAKING HISTORY RAPIDLY.—Ten years ago, Wm. Lloyd Garrison was in derision called an Abolitionist. He was stoned, almost hunted from town to town, and denied the right of speech in three-fourths of the United States. To-day he is welcomed everywhere, sought as a lecturer, and has recently spoken in South Carolina.

About six years ago Gov. Henry A. Wise hung John Brown, because he was an Abolitionist. To-day the same Governor Wise stands at the gate of Andrew Johnson, whom the Copperheads styled the "Boorish Tailor," begging for a pardon, with the privilege of styling himself an Abolitionist the remainder of his days. Are not the rulings of an All-Wise Providence rapid and wonderful.

Gov. Parsons of Alabama having asked the withdrawal of the Federal troops from the State and the arming of the local militia, Gen. Grant has made the following reply:—"For the present, and until there is full security for equitably maintaining the rights and safety of all classes of citizens in the States lately in rebellion, I would not recommend the withdrawal of the United States troops from them. The number of interior garrisons might be reduced, but a movable force sufficient to insure tranquillity should be retained. While such a force is retained in the South I doubt the propriety of putting arms in the hands of the militia."

Last week, as a railroad train was stopping at Gordonsville to put off a mail, quite a crowd who had assembled there made an assault upon the mail agent, who was a Northern man—as the Post Office Department appoint none who cannot take the oath. They informed him that they would not allow any Yankees to run on their roads. Words led to blows, and the train moving off the mail agent escaped with his life. On reporting this to the Post Office Department, Governor Randall immediately struck Gordonsville from the list of post offices, and trains now run by that point.

ECLIPSES FOR THE YEAR 1866.—There will be only two eclipses during the present year, viz: I. A partial eclipse of the Sun March 16th. Invisible in the United States. Visible in Siberia, Behring's Straits, and the north Polar region. II. A total eclipse of the Moon in the evening of March 30th and morning of March 31st. Visible throughout the American continent. Size of eclipses, 17.04 digits.

Pennsylvania farmers would do well to plant as largely of sorghum the coming season as possible, and to make as much maple sugar as they can for home use. It is now tolerably sure that very little sugar and molasses can be expected from the sugar producing region of the South.

Another counterfeit greenback $10 bill has made its appearance. The signatures of Spinner and Chittenden are good, but the portrait of Mr. Lincoln is coarse, and the bill generally much heavier in appearance than the genuine.

The man who is reported as having made an assault upon Senator Wade, is said to be well known. He comes from Massachusetts, and is understood to have been several times in trouble.

In Missouri and Arkansas there are thirty two negro schools, with forty teachers and 2,827 scholars.

A Connecticut lady sent a forty-eight pound turkey to President Johnson for a New-Year's gift.

Miss Harriet Lane, niece of ex-President Buchanan, was married, on Thursday, to E. H. Johnson, of Baltimore.

Over a million of Springfield rifle muskets, and immense supplies of ammunition for small arms and cannon, are stored away in the Northern arsenals.

Gen. Hunter has been rendered unable to move hand or foot by paralysis.

A new counterfeit fifty cent fractional currency note has been discovered.

LOCAL ITEMS.

RECEIVED.—We acknowledge the receipt of $2 from J. B. COXITT, Hookstown, Md.

FOUND.—A door key found on Leitersburg street has been left at this office.

READ the communication of a "Railroad" on first page.

SALES.—Several sales of valuable personal property will be found in to-day's paper to which we invite special attention.

HOMINY.—A prime article can be had at the mill of Rev. D. F. GOOD. See advertisement.

HOTEL SOLD.—HUMPHREY HICKS' last week purchased, at public sale, the "City Hotel" in Leitersburg, for the sum of $1,005.

BURNED.—On Saturday morning last, the Hallowel School House, in Antrim township, near the Marsh Store, was burned to the ground. The fire is supposed to have been the result of accident.

RAILROAD FEELING.—In November last a proposition on the part of the Gettysburg Railroad Company, for the extension of their road to this place was made to the citizens of this valley. For $150,000 the company agree to complete the road to this place in two years from June next. Considering the wealth and extent of country through which the road must pass from Gettysburg to this place, the proposition must be regarded as fair and reasonable. $150,000 to place this whole region of country in direct communication with Baltimore and other Eastern markets! Compared to the advantages to be derived from the road the sum is really an insignificant one. Washington township has wealth enough of itself to make up this amount, but she is only asked to lead off and do her part fairly and other sections will lend a helping hand. Of this there is not a doubt. The advantages to be thus secured are not to be temporary but permanent—to us it is therefore amazing that an apathy should now prevail among our people in regard to this matter—a matter fraught with so much interest to every class of citizens of the town and entire country. The opportunity to put ourselves in communication with the business marts of the East is now, and perhaps for the last time, at our option.

The business men of our town and the farmers of the country generally are mutually interested for the success of the proposed railroad extension, and they should act in concert and act promptly, for the time allotted for the work is fast passing away, and but little has yet been accomplished. For the credit of our town and country let it not be said that this golden opportunity was permitted to pass beyond our grasp without even an effort on the part of the people to improve it. Taking into consideration railroad advantages in general to a business and agricultural community we can conceive it hardly possible that a single intelligent business man or farmer should be found here unwilling to contribute of his means and influence to this great work. We would almost as soon be branded with the opprobrious epithet of "rebel" as to be charged with opposing this much needed enterprise. Such men not only put a barrier in the way of their own interests but seek to retard the progress and prosperity of the community at large. There is one class only for whom there is the least excuse, and they are almost invariably found in opposition to enterprises of public benefit from native ignorance.

To the friends of the railroad in our town and township we once more appeal for a renewal of the work of canvassing for the sale of stock. The enterprise is worthy of all effort, and should earnestly engage the attention of each and every one for the few months yet remaining for the work.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—A meeting will be held in the Methodist Church this (Friday) evening, commencing at half past six o'clock, to adopt means to further the cause of temperance in our town.

All the ministers of the town will be present and participate, and the presence and co-operation of all our citizens is asked.—Both ladies and gentlemen are invited to be present.

DEAD.—MR. GEO. STUFF, residing near Upton, in this county, died on the 10th inst. from disease contracted from glandered horses. This is the second announcement we have been called upon to make of death having been occasioned from this cause. It should serve as a warning to others who may deal in glandered stock.

NOTICE.—Unless those persons who are in arrears to this office for subscription, bill printing and advertising settle their accounts shortly, their bills will be placed in the hands of an officer for collection. Our expenses being cash we must require prompt payments. We do not refer to subscribers in arrears for one but for several years subscription.

No kicking out of the traces, Mr. Spirit.—Village Record.

Being neither a horse nor an ass we never work in harness. Valley Spirit.

If mistaken, Mr. Spirit, we ask pardon.

RAILROAD MEETING.—At the Annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Gettysburg Railroad held on Monday of last week officers for the ensuing year were elected:— President—W. G. CASE. Managers—David Willis, Robert McCurdy, C. S. Maltby, F. W. Northrop, Howard S. Case, Robert Crane, John Bachman, Wm. McConkey, Henry Kauffold, Philip Small, Peter Diehl, Wm. Billinger.

The Law.—It has heretofore been believed been customary with our "town fathers" before putting in force any special edict of theirs to first publish the ordinance enforcing it. Whether an ordinance was required or a simple resolution by the Council in regard to the Evening Police, we know not, but we would be pleased to have our town readers enlightened on the subject.

ENCOURAGE HIM.—A young man named JAMES HASLER, who lost a leg in the United States service, has opened a shop adjoining Jones' hotel in Quincy, where he proposes to repair harness, &c. He is recommended as a young man of strictly moral habits and should be liberally patronized.

ANOTHER SNOW.—A snowstorm prevailed in this region on Monday afternoon and evening last, covering the ground on Tuesday morning to the depth of six or eight inches. Sleighing has since been good and a lively time had generally.

THE BOYD-HILL TRAGEDY.

Execution of Marshall and Frecke.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 12, 1866.—To-day the last scene in the terrible Boyd-hill tragedy was enacted.—The murderers, Frecke and Marshall have paid the penalty of their crimes, and the curtain falls. They were recently convicted of the murder of a German named Foerster, at Boyd's Hill, near this city. Throughout the whole of last night and up to the time of his execution this morning, Frecke walked the narrow limits of his cell. His spiritual adviser, Rev. G. A. Wessell, of the Lutheran Church, was with him, and sought by all means in his power to prepare the wretched being for his inevitable fate.

This morning he was fresh and in good spirits, and at about eleven o'clock, shaking hands with the sheriff, said in German, "I have no fear of death." He was dressed in a suit of dark gray, with a large colored handkerchief about his neck. His clothing was much worn. He leaves a wife and two daughters, thirteen and fifteen years of age, respectively, in Bokenen, in the kingdom of Hanover, Germany. He has several times, since his imprisonment, written to his wife, and the Rev. Mr. Wessell has a letter which he intends to send, confided to him by Frecke for that purpose shortly before his death.

At precisely one o'clock P. M. the sheriff approached his cell, and called upon him to prepare; at the same time stating that he much regretted to be compelled to perform this unpleasant duty." Frecke replied: "I don't blame you. It is all right. You are only doing your duty." His arms were then pinioned with a white linen bandage. He had on a dark slouch hat, and was about following the sheriff out, but was told to wait until Marshall was ready. The sheriff, upon reaching Marshall's cell, said to him, "This is very unpleasant, but we have to do it. You must take this off"—meaning a neck handkerchief. Marshall did so.

The prisoner has been in close communication with his spiritual advisor, Father Amadas, for some days past, and was praying with him all morning. He had on black clothes, which were seedy and much worn. He weighed two hundred pounds, had a good countenance, and up to the last moment said he felt no depression of spirits whatever.—At ten precisely the two condemned men ascended the scaffold, which consisted merely of a pair of uprights, a cross-beam and a trap-door. The clergy, sheriff, deputy and prison warden accompanied them. Marshall knelt in prayer upon the front part of the platform, with Father Amadas, for some minutes. Frecke, however, sat upon a chair, and said to the sheriff, in German, "I have to go this road; but I am innocent, and I hope God may be merciful. Then turning to Marshall, he said, "Confess that I am innocent." Marshall replied, "I have nothing to confess." The chairs were then removed, and both prepared to die. The drop fell at fifteen minutes past one, causing the men to fall eighteen inches. Frecke died hard, but ceased to live in thirteen minutes; Marshall in eleven. Marshall's neck was broken by the fall. Frecke's, however, was not. He died of congestion of the brain, caused by strangulation.

The bodies were allowed to hang thirty minutes and then cut down. Frecke has been buried by the authorities and Marshall by the Catholic Church.

Marshall's wife visited him this morning. She is Irish, he German. She is about thirty-one years of age, and brought with her two children, both girls, six and eight years of age respectively. She also visited her husband yesterday, and upon leaving him showed the gallows to the children, and said "that is going to kill your father to-morrow."

Mexico to be Evacuated.

New York, Jan. 15.—A special dispatch from Washington to the Tribune says: "A private letter, from a trustworthy source, has been received from Paris, stating that the legislative bodies of the French Empire will assemble about the 18th inst., and the Emperor, in his opening address, will express the most amicable and peaceful sentiments toward the United States; and unless in the meanwhile the relations of the two countries become hostile by menaces on questions of honor, he will advocate the evacuation of Mexico as promptly as practicable."

Henry Dunne, coal operator and superintendent of the New York and Schuylkill Coal Company, at Pottsville, Pa., was brutally murdered by three men, on Wednesday night, about seven o'clock, while on his way home. The murder was committed on the public highway, about two miles from Pottsville. No arrests have yet been made. Mr. Dunne was an accomplished gentleman and a universal favorite with every one, and his death causes the most intense excitement all through the country.

Attempted Assassination of Senator Wade.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—On Wednesday evening, between eight and nine o'clock, a man of unusually large proportions called at the residence of the Hon. Benjamin F. Wade, United States Senator from Ohio, on 4th street, and asked to see the Senator. He was shown up stairs by a servant to Mr. Wade's room. After being seated he stated that he was trying to obtain employment in the United States navy, and asked Mr. Wade to sign a paper of recommendation from him in order to further his object.

Senator Wade refused to do so, saying he did not know him, and advised him to procure the signature of some person to whom he was known. After listening to this reply, the stranger, whose physiognomy Mr. Wade describes as singularly malicious and brutal, looked at the Senator with a significant scowl, which the latter plainly interpreted to mean mischief. At this juncture of the interview Mr. Wade arose, and stepping into another room, armed himself with a loaded revolver, and quietly returned again into the room where the visitor was sitting.

After looking at each other for some time in silence, the man began his conversation by saying, "Ain't you going to sign my paper?" To which the Senator returned an emphatic negative, adding that he had no knowledge of him. Matters now began to reach a crisis. The stranger arose to his feet and drew out a large bowie knife, remarking, "I suppose you know we are now alone, sir, in this room?"

He was proceeding to unsheath his weapon when Senator Wade sprang to his feet and drawing his revolver, placed it within a short distance of his head, telling him to clear out immediately or he would shoot him.

Taken somewhat aback, the man began to find his way to the door, followed up by Mr. Wade, with his pistol still in close proximity to his head. The Senator saw his visitor to the door, quietly informing him that he had a great mind to shoot him anyhow. Upon this the stranger departed. During the visit he failed to produce any papers for signature, and evidently made this a mere pretext for the interview. At the time of the visit there were no persons in the house besides Senator Wade, excepting Mr. Matthews and his wife and servant.
