The Grecian Puff.

OF the many elegant articles now in use for the purpose of adoming the heads of our "modern beauties" the Grecian Puff is certainly the most beautiful and attractive; although a very recent invention it has nevertheless already been deemed by many noble ladies one of the "indispensables" to a complete toilet. As regards its origin we think it dates back many centuries, for Athens fair maidens were want to wear their resplendent dark tresses, magnificently braided, and adorned with precious ewels. As an ornament to the head, it has been acknowledged by many persons of refined tastes to be supremely beautiful, delicate in construction and perfect in symmetry, it cannot fail to gain the admiration of beholders. Most thankful for past pa-tronage we cordially invite all those who wish to a vail themselves of the present opportunity of select ing "Puffs" from our immense stock now on haid, to visit our establishment, on Main street, 3d door South of the Diamond, Chambersburg Pa., where
