SAFETY BRIDLES .- Henry Corwell, of St. Thomas, in this county, has obtained letters Davis, Mr. O'Connor, ex Governor Pratt patent for a certain improvement on bridles and lines, called the "Safety Bridle and Lines." On Saturday last he met a number of our citizens and farmers from the neighbothood near this place for the purpose of with ease, which heretofore with the ordinard bridle and lines proved unmanageable.

The difference between a Safety Bridle and a common bridle is simply this: With the common bridle a horse can kick; with the Safety Bridle a horse cannot kick. With the common bridle he can run away; with the Safety Bridle he cannot run away. In have been required or permitted to resume short, there is more difference between the two bridles, than there is between a common bridle and co bridle at all.

No person with a horse in the habit of running off or kicking in harness should be without the "Safety Bridle and Lines."-They can be had of Saddlers in every town throughout the county.

could get any here. A number of them, learning that transportation has been furnished by the Government, have applied to General Barry to send them home. General Barry telegraphed to General Meads for instructions on the point. It is pretty certain, if the Government does not send them home, they are likely to stay here for some time. Most of the men have no money, and General Barry's orders of yesterday prevents them from traveling on the

MALONE, N. Y., June 9.—General Meade has issued the following:

All persons assembled at this place in connection with and in aid of the Fenian organization, for the purpose of invading Canada, are hereby ordered, in compliance with the President's proclamation, to desist from their enterprise and disband.

The men of the expeditionary force will, on application to the officer in command of the United States forces, on giving their names and residences and satisfying him that they are unable to provide for their own transportation, be provided with transportation to their homes; also, all officers below the rank of field officers, who are unable to provide for their own transportation, on giving their parole to abandon the enterprise and return to their homes. Officers above the rank of field officers will be required to give such bonds as may be satisfactory to the civil authorities.

--It-being the determination of the United States Government to preserve neutrality, and the most stringent measures having been taken to prevent all accessions of men and material, the commanding general trusts that these liberal offers will have the effect of causing the expedition, now hopeless, to be quietly and peaceably abandoned, and he confidently expects that all those who have any respect for the authority of the United States will conform to the requirements of the President's proclamation and of this, which, if not promptly obeyed, a sufficient force will be brought to bear to compel obedience. GEORGE G. MEADE,
