I. That some such organization is very nuch needed and should be entered into with the least possible delay; for these Reasons,

ation, viz:-

(1) That our youth are in great danger of being led far away from the paths of virtue, religion and good citizenship by the formation of habits of intemperance.

(2.) That there are many moderate or ha bitual drinkers (not to say drunkards) in our community who might be reclaimed.

(3.) That past experience, long and painful, plainly proves, that, as a rule, the different Christian Congregations mainly because of fewness of members and feebleness of discipline, have needed and will continue to need an auxiliary or handmaid in the work of counteracting the evils resulting from the use of intoxicating liquors both within their own pale and in the community around.

11. That the organization now and bere needed should combine in itself all the excellencies and avoid, as far as practicable, all the defects of the different Temperance organizations heretofore tried in our midst, viz:

(1.) The principle feature, or sine quo non of membership should be a pledge guaranteeing total abstinence from all intoxicating liquors as a beverage and the discountenancing of their sale and use as beverages by

(2) The membership should be made up of men, women and children.

(3.) The organization should be under the patropage of the Christian Church, should borrow her principles of morals and should guarantee to tolerate nothing abhorrent to or not sanctioned by Christianity and patriotism. hour. (4. It should be no beneficial society as the sons of Temp, or O. I. O. F. (5.) The mode of admission should be nore solemn and impressive than that practiced by the earlier Temp. societies and more likely to be considered binding by all parties. (6. It should hold public meetings and furnish addresses etc , to impress the public in favor of the cause of temperance and private meetings to band together, harmonize and make stable the membership and to immanency and strength. The duty of aiding a suffering brother may also be inculcated.

That such an organization as is here sketched we find "The Good Templars to be." luasmuch then as it does not appear that there is in our midst any organization operating specially to combat or prevent the giant aggressions of intemperance or that is tikely to be efficient in doing so, and inasmuch as a sufficient number have already expressed a desire to have a "Lodge of Good Templars" opened here, and inasmuch as the difficulties in the way of securing a suitable place of meeting can no doubt be obviated, the committee recommends the immediate signing of a petition for a charter and the speedy organization of a Temperance society similar to those in existence in neighboring towns.
