W. BLAIR,
Editor and Proprietor.

SUICIDE.—Senator Lane of Kansas shot himself on the 2nd inst., inflicting a wound from the effects of which he since died. He was riding with his brother-in-law, Mr. McCall, and Capt. Adams, a brother of his son-in-law. When he got out of the wagon at the residence of Mr. McCall, he stepped to the rear, drew a pistol and shot himself in the mouth, the ball passing out through the top of his skull. The act was the result of temporary mental derangement.

DESERTING "MOSES."—Hon. W. Dennison, Ex Gov. of Ohio, and Post Master General of the United States, disgusted with "my policy," has tendered the President his resignation as a member of his cabinet, as has also Attorney General Speed. It is rumored that other members of the cabinet will resign on account of a difference of political views with the President. These positions will doubtless be filled with the peculiar friends of the "reconstructed" chivalry, if not the open, the covert enemies of the Government during its great struggle to suppress a causeless and wicked rebellion.

ANOTHER VETO.—On Monday last President Johnson sent to the House of Representatives, in which body the new freedmen's bureau bill originated, a message vetoing the bill recently passed. Immediately upon the conclusion of the reading of the message the bill was passed over the veto by more than a two-thirds vote. The Senate immediately followed, and by their official act denounced the veto. The bill, therefore, is now a law of the land.

A correspondent of the Press says:—"The Tribune's" last blow at the freedmen in his fifth veto was nobly warded off by the loyal congressional majorities; and now the bureau will stand under the shelter of the law, with no thanks to the Moses of Tennessee. You will recollect his first veto killed the original bill, and that the bureau was liable at any moment to be dismantled by his orders. He had often threatened to discontinue it. Hence the imperative necessity of this bill, and the priceless importance of the votes of Congress. The extraordinary feat of reading the veto and passing the bill over his head in both Houses on the same afternoon, shows the granite solidity of the Union forces in Congress, and is a good pattern for our politicians to imitate.

General Howard, the beloved chief of the freedmen's bureau, and the object of so much rebel hatred, feels especially proud over this splendid result.

Major General O. O. Howard recently received reports from the State of Mississippi, which represent that outrages upon the freedmen are frequent, and their lives are constantly in danger. The civil authorities take no measures to properly punish the guilty parties, and it is almost impossible for freedmen to obtain justice. The officers of the bureau are unable to furnish necessary protection, in consequence of the withdrawal of the military, and affairs in this section are consequently in an unsettled condition.

Outrages and assaults on the freed men living in Loudon county, Virginia, having been so frequently reported of late, and the civil law having failed, it is alleged, to administer justice, the Assistant Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau of Washington, by authority of Gen. Grant, has sent a company of cavalry from Washington, to be stationed in that county, with headquarters at Middleburg.

General Grant has issued a timely and most important order, directing a general arrest and detention by his subordinates of all persons in the lately Confederate States who have committed or shall hereafter commit outrages upon loyal persons of any color which the local authorities do not and shall not punish.

Among the sad occurrences incident upon the late Portland fire may be mentioned the fact that an old gentleman, 74 years of age, who, on the 3d inst., was worth at least forty thousand dollars in real estate, is now one of the daily applicants for rations, which he obtains in a tin pail. He wears to the city delivery the only suit of clothes which he has left.

Japan must be a good place to go to. It is said that you can buy a first-class house there for thirty dollars, and live comfortably in it for two cents a day. Servants charge fifty cents a month, and horse and groom may be had for the same time for one dollar and fifty cents. If you don't like it when you get there, you can kill yourself with a sheeps knife, and no questions will be asked.

WHERE THE NEGRO LOVES TO LIVE.

Before the Emancipation proclamation was issued, says a correspondent, the sympathizers with rebellion insisted that its practical working would be to fill our Northern cities and towns with a refuse population of idle negroes. Free the negroes, they said, and they will come North to compete with white laborers. Free the negroes, and they will glut the Northern labor market, reduce wages, provoke fearful riots, and burden every community as paupers. Now, what has been the actual result? Accounts from all parts of the South, as published in the shape of correspondents to Northern journals, or as printed in the local newspapers, show that the negroes who were forced to fly from plantations and seek refuge in out of the way localities, are returning to their homes and seeking employment from their old masters in seven cases out of ten. The reason of this is obvious. Home, be it ever so homely, has its charms. The South is the home of the negro. Its climate is as much adapted to his nature as water is for fish. He thrives best in the tropics. Hence, instead of the Southern negro coming North, the time is not far distant when the Northern negro will go South. Let the spirit of treason be fully curbed and crushed out—let there be an assurance of social protection to the negro, a respect for his right of person and property, and the South will not merely become the home of the negro, but it will be ruled by the black man, in all that relates to its development, its growth in prosperity, and its true allegiance to the National Government.

Major General O. O. Howard has received from Brevet Major General J. W. Sprague, assistant commissioner of the bureau for the States of Missouri, Arkansas, and the Indian Territory, an estimate of the number of rations required for issue to the whites and freedmen respectively during the month of August, 1866. He estimates that 60,000 rations will be required for the subsistence of freedmen, making a total of 75,000 rations required during the month.

A negro in Galveston, Texas, while smoking his pipe near an open keg of gunpowder in a grocery store, dropped a spark amongst the powder, the result of which was that the negro was blown to pieces, and Galveston had one grocery less.

There is no tax upon imported cigars in the new internal revenue bill just passed.

While staying in your town a short time I submit the following, hoping that your reader may heed the injunction, Learn Wisdom before it is too late.

We see a great many persons who prove by their walk and conversation, that they have not heeded the injunction, learn wisdom before it is too late. When we see parents neglecting the moral and intellectual culture of their children, and permitting them to grow up in idleness and wickedness, we may safely say, those children will bring their parents grey hairs in sorrow, to the grave, and that those parents will learn wisdom when too late. When we see a young man lounging about the streets with a cigar in his tobacco smeared mouth, indulging in the vulgar slang of shop-loafers, we certainly think, if that young man ever learns the value of good habits, industry and decency—it will be too late. When we see young ladies occupying more time before the toilet and promenade the streets than at their work; more time in the parlor than in the kitchen; much time in making an effort to glitter and flutter in the fashionable world like butterflies in the sunlight (fall's) we may well say, poor creatures, if you would learn wisdom you had better begin before it is too late. There are ministers of the gospel, who waste that time in discussing politics which should be devoted to study and use their pipes and tobacco frequently as long as they read the Bible; ought they not practice aught, rather than preach the sin of learning wisdom too late? When we see wealthy persons cling to their money as to their life's blood, if aid is asked for building churches, school-houses, &c., you think, without a doubt, that if they will not go to a place of punishment hereafter there is no place for any. But every one has his faults while the Devil will have his pleasure here, and his profits hereafter.

The details of the great fire in Portland, Maine, add to the immensity of the destruction. One half the city is destroyed, nearly all the business portion being inclosed. All the banks, newspaper offices, jewelry establishments, dry goods stores and telegraph offices, eight churches, and other public buildings, and the majority of the business houses have been destroyed by this terrible visitation. Over fifty buildings were blown up in the hope of making a space between the fire and the other buildings, but the effort was useless. It is estimated that about two thousand buildings were destroyed, involving a loss of ten million dollars. Two thousand families were rendered homeless, losing nearly every valuable they had possessed, and are now dependent on the generosity of those who were fortunate enough to escape the sweeping disaster. Two thousand tents for shelter to the homeless were forwarded by the United States authorities from Boston, and the people of that city are forwarding supplies of provisions and clothing. The total loss by the fire is thought will be fully ten millions of dollars. Our readers will regret to learn that Senator Fessenden loses very heavily by the fire.

CHICAGO, July 16.—A fire to-day destroyed all the frame buildings on State street, south of Polk street, for half a block, and south of Peck court the same distance—thirty in number, and occupied as stores and saloons below and tenements above. Fifty families were rendered homeless. The loss amounted to $100,000.

LOCAL MATTERS.

AN APOLOGY.—An apology is due our readers for the non-appearance of the Record for the last two weeks. It is our custom to suspend publication one week during harvest, but on this occasion the boys failed to return until the end of the second week, and being indisposed myself from the effects of a severe attack of Neuralgia, we failed to issue last week. These omissions we will make up to subscribers at the end of the year and guard against like occurrences in the future.

COMING TO TOWN.—Plenty of Whortleberries at 8 and 10 cents per quart.

RECEIVED.—We acknowledge the receipt of $5 from Samuel Middour, Mt. Morris, Ill., and $2 from J. W. Ren, Woodside P. O. Ill.

HARVEST.—Our farmers generally have finished harvesting. The wheat crop does not promise as large a yield as was anticipated, much of it being materially damaged by the rust. The rye and oats crops are pronounced good.

BALLOON ASCENSION.—John A. Light, the renowned aeronaut will make an ascension in his new balloon, the "Flying Cloud," from the Diamond in Chambersburg, on Saturday the 28th. We understand an effort will be made to have an Ascension in this place.

DEAD.—The death of James Davison, a prominent citizen of Antrim township, and a soldier of the war of 1812, is announced in the last GreenCastle Pilot.

THE WEATHER.—The weather for a week or more, has been oppressively warm, the thermometers in the shade ranging at from 93 to 105°. Everybody complains of the heat except the vendors of ice cream, lemonade, etc.—who are doubtless reaping quite a harvest. P. S. We are being favored this (Thursday) morning with the most refreshing showers of rain which are just in the niche of time for the growing corn and potatoes.

BANK CLOSED.—We have reports from Hagerstown to the effect, that owing to a difficulty between J. D. Roman, President of the old Bank, and its Cashier, Wm. M. Marshall, the former closed the doors of that ancient institution on Wednesday last. Roman is said to be a reasonable sympathizer, Mr. Marshall a loyal and upright citizen. As it is hard for water and oil to mix, this is doubtless the origin of the trouble.

LOCATED.—Dr. A. J. Snively has located himself at Williamsburg, Blair county, this State. The Dr. graduated last spring at Bellevue Medical University, New York, passing a highly creditable examination. He is a young man of more than ordinary energy and will not be long, we predict, in securing the confidence and patronage of citizens of Williamsburg and its surroundings.

LADIES FAIR AND FESTIVAL.—The Ladies of the M. E. Church will hold a "Fair and Festival" in the Town Hall during the evenings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July the 26th, 27th and 28th. A fine lot of fancy goods will be on hand which will be disposed of at as cheap a rate as possible. Plenty of Ice Cream and cakes, and also a novelty in the eating line, never before introduced into Waynesboro—better than ice cream and quite as cold. Season tickets.—Adults 25 cents, children 15 cents. Single admission 10 cents, children 5 cents.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION.—The Linden Female Seminary, under charge of the Misses Kemble gave an entertainment in the Town Hall on Friday eve, 20th ult. The exercises consisted of the reading of Essays and vocal and instrumental music. It was a very creditable affair throughout, showing the diligence with which the pupils have pursued their studies, and the patience and faithfulness of the teachers.

The Misses Kemble have done a good work in opening this school, and we trust that they may meet with the encouragement they deserve so that the "Linden" school may be a permanent institution.

On the occasion of this entertainment free tickets were issued and the Hall was filled to overflowing, and but very few could obtain seats. In our opinion on such occasions a very limited number of tickets should be issued or a reasonable admission fee charged so that those who did attend would be able to obtain seats or at least comfortable standing room.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—From the Herald & Torch we learn that the Canal Bridge at Williamsport gave way while a drove of cattle were passing over it. Some boys were bathing in the stream, and one of them, Alexander Wolff, aged 13 was caught by the falling timber and injured so severely that he died in a few hours.

BASS BALL.—A contest took place at GreenCastle on last Saturday between the "Liberty" club of Chambersburg and the "Dahlgreen" club of GreenCastle, in which the latter club was victorious. The score being Dahlgreen 28, Liberty 13.

FIRE.—On Saturday night last the back building of the First National Bank of Chambersburg was fired and considerably damaged before the flames could be arrested. The Directors of the Bank have offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the incendiary.

THE FOURTH.—Although it is considerably past the 4th of July, yet as the Record has not since been issued, we may be permitted to say a word. The day here was ushered in by an attempt at martial music on the part of "Young America." The bass drum sounded as if it had a bad cold. We heard a pistol-shot or two and that was all that was done to remind us of this anniversary of independence. The stores and shops were closed giving the town a Sunday look. In the afternoon a "buss load of the ma e sex" went to Hagerstown to witness the Union demonstration which took place there on that evening. The address of Hon. Mr. Ward, M. C. of N. Y., was a very able and eloquent affair.

Philadelphia had the day of days, on the occasion of returning the battle flags of the Penna. Regiments. There were present representing the 126th, Col. J. G. Elder, Lieut Col. D. W. Rowe, Lieuts. J. G. Rowe and McWilliams, Sergts. Thomas Daily, Jno. A. Siders, Wm. Snyder and Harry Strickler; Privates, Jos. Zaman, George Pilkington and Parker; Sergt. Daily and Corp. Kauffman were the color bearers.

HAGERSTOWN BAND.—This Band, while on their way to Monterey Springs on the 5th inst., stopped here a while and discoursed several very fine pieces of music. They spent the day happily at the springs and returned home next evening. This Band is under the leadership of Mr. Heysler, and having been reorganized since the close of the war, it again takes its old rank of being one of the best Bands in Western Md.

NEW AND USEFUL.—Jos. H. Crebs of this place is an authorized agent for the sale of the "Anderson Spring Bed Bottom," a useful invention which is now being very generally introduced. Call and see it.

ICE CREAM.—E. W. Washbaugh requests us to announce that he has opened an Ice Cream Saloon at his residence on Mechanic street, where ladies and gentlemen can be served with a superior article during the season.

BLACK ROCK.

The Old World has its sacred and classic scenes and associations of which it may justly boast. Italy is full of classic beauty, and Switzerland is world-renowned for the grandeur, beauty, and picturesqueness of its mountain scenery. And long before this Western World was thrown open to the gaze of the European, the beautiful valleys and mountains of Palestine were hallowed by the feet of the Savior and of the Prophets, Columbia, in natural beauty and grandeur, does not fall behind her older sister, but she is less renowned in Poetry and Song, and in Sacred and Classic recollections than she.

Niagra has inspired all the lovers of the grand who have gazed upon her with admiration and awe; and Jefferson declared the passages of the Potomac through the Blue Ridge alone worth a voyage across the Atlantic. In grandeur and wild magnificence the White Mountains of New England rival the Alps themselves; while for richness of beauty and deep sublimity the view from BLACK ROCK on the Blue Ridge in Washington County, Maryland, does not fall, we opine, very far below that enjoyed from the top of Pisgah.

Our party of eight left the village of Boonsboro' for this spot on the morning of the 23rd ult. The sky was overcast with clouds and the ROCK was enveloped in fog, but before we reached the mountain top the sun was out in splendor illuminating every object in the valley below.

By the time the sun had reached the zenith our party had reached the beautiful spring whose crystal waters gush in sparkling jets from the mountain top. A long journey up the rugged mountain side had sharpened our appetites, and we gathered eagerly around the Cloth which fair hands had spread on the green sward beneath the chestnut tree. Royal banquets have been spread in palace halls, and music and wine have added to revelry and merriment, but the little party that that day dined on the top of the mountain was Happiness herself in Nature's banquet hall.

From the Spring we journeyed half a mile to the ROCK. On emerging from the shady mountain path the scene breaks upon us with a suddenness and sublimity that almost overcome the soul. The ROCK stands like a huge giant on the brow of the mountain, a monument of the Eternal Power that placed it there. Its awful form rises almost perpendicularly more than one hundred feet from its base. It laughs in derision at the storm god as he hurls the thunder-bolts of heaven against it, and rattles his car over its dizzy summit.

As long as the bill on which it rests shall stand, it will stand as it has stood for centuries, the sentinel of the valley.

As we look upon these giants of the mountain our feelings sink within us and we gaze in silent astonishment.

"O sacred forms, how proud you look!
How huge you are! how mighty, and how free!
Ye are the things that tower, that shine,—whose smile
Makes glad, whose frown is terrible, whose forms,
Robed or unrobed, do all the impress wear
Of awe divine."

And the scene from the top of those Rocks! Who shall describe it! We can not, for others more gifted have tried and failed. From the Blue Ridge on the south to the Blue Mts. on the north,—and from far up the Shenandoah Valley on far down the Cumberland the eye rests on what seems like the enchanted scene of some fairy land. Towns, villages, hamlets, farms, streams, and groves are taken in at one view, and the eye feasted on a scene that is not surpassed in beauty on the Western Continent. We clambered down around the ROCK and over the loose stones at its base. We gathered flowers and moss and curiosities to carry away with us to bring up those scenes in after days.

The ladies of our party and myself lingered behind after the balance of the party had started back to the Spring. We found it almost impossible to tear ourselves away.

"—the tall rock,
The mountain, and the beautiful landscape,
Their colors and their forms were to us
An appetite, a feeling and a love."

The sun was sinking toward the western hills as we turned our backs upon the beautiful scene and left the ROCK in silence to the culture and the raven that shriek around it, and bathe their bodies and plume their wings in the huge basins that the Almighty's hand has carved in its cloud capped summit.

J. R. G.
Chambersburg, July 17th 1866.

THE RICHEST WOMAN IN AMERICA.
The Hartford Courant of the 28th publishes the following account of a financial transaction which, if true, is one of the greatest of the year:

The fickleness of fortune is well illustrated in the experience of a worthy family in this city, who have suddenly found themselves from that condition in society where people are said to live in "moderate circumstances," to the highest pinnacle of wealth. The facts are these: Mrs. Eli Walker, residing at No. 100 Maple avenue, is a woman of English birth. Her husband (who is a machinist by trade) and herself have resided here for a number of years, and have several children. It was reported some months ago that a large property, valued at $55,000,000, had fallen to Mrs. Walker's father, as a direct heir, and he being dead, that the whole amount belonged to her as his only child. Steps were at once taken to ascertain the truth of this report, and ex-Governor T. H. Seymour was employed to investigate. The result of his investigation is entirely favorable to Mrs. Walker, documents having been received which show beyond question that she will come in possession of this immense property, and she, together with her husband and children, will start for England next week to receive the golden egg.

BRIGHAM IN A PASSION.—If we may judge from the tone of a speech recently delivered by Brigham Young, that "potentate" will hardly submit without a struggle to the innovations of the bill to regulate the mode of selecting jurors in Utah, and for other purposes, now before Congress. Hear what the old sinner says:

"If they undertook to try him in a Gentle Court he would see the Government in hell fire and was ready to fight the government the rub. He had soldiers, and rifles, and pistols, and ammunition, and plenty of it, and cannon too—and would use them. He was on it—The Governor of the Territory was useless, and could do nothing. He was the real Governor of this people and by the power of the Most High he would be forever and ever. If the Gentiles didn't like this, they could leave and go to hell."
