Hon Hannibal Hamlin, Vice President of the United States from March 4. 1861, to March 4, 1865, has resigned the post of Collector of the Port of Boston. Mr. Hamlin will speak in opposition to Andrew Johnson's policy.

The leading rebels in the lower countics of Maryland are making an effort to secure the release of Dr. Mudd, now in confinement at the Dry Tortugas. As soon as the -tPresident returns they are to make applicaion to him for his pardon.

The Southern Loyal Convention, which assembled in Philadelphia on Monday is represented by the best men of the South, including such persons as Botts, Brownlow, Maynard, Hamilton, of Texas, and others equally noted for their legalty during the Rebellion.

THE CONVENTION .- Philadelphia on Monday extended an earnest and loyal welcome to the Southern Unionists who have asumbled in that eity to expose the perils to which they have been remitted by the President's policy, and to consult with the delegates appointed from the loyal States on the means by which the great principles for which the war was fought can be secured and "treason made odious." The whole city was decorated with flugs, and the Southern delegates were received at Independence Hall and escorted by a large procession to the Hall in which the sessions of the Convention will be held. The streets were lined with an immense mass of spectators In front of the Union League House, on Broad street, the procession halted, and the delegates were welcomed to the city by the Hon. Charles Gibbons. Governor Hamilton, of Texas. responded. The Southern Convention was or ganized by calling Hon. Thomas J. Durant, of Louisians, to the chair, and after the appointment of a committee on Credentials and permament organization, adjoined until Tuesday morning. The Northern Conference delegates organized by electing .Governor Curtin, of Pennsylvania.

THE PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS,-A there seems to be a diversity of opinion as to the position of the President and Congress in regard to the reconstruction of the Rebel States, we make the following extract on the subject from an ably written article which recently appeared in the Atlantic Monthly. Of the Constitutional amendment the writer

Certainly these conditions, as embodied in the constitutional amendment which has passed both houses of Congres, by such overwhelming majorities, are the mildest ever exacted of defeated enemies by a victorious nation. There is not a distinct'y "radical" 2.50 idea in the whole amendment-nothing that President Johnson has not himself, within a comparatively recent period, stamped with his high approbation. Does it ordain uni versal suffrage? No. Does it proscribe, dis-tial suffrage? No. Does it proscribe, dis-2.00 3.50 franchise, or expatriate the recent armed enemies of the country, or confiscate their property? No. It simply ordains that the national debt shall be paid and the rebel debt repudiated; that the civil rights of all persons shall be maintained; that rebels who have added perjury to treason shall be disqualified for office; and that the rebel States shall not have their political power in the Union increased by the presence on their soil of persons to whom they deay political rights, on population. The pith of the whole amendment is in the last clause; and is there anything in that to which reasonable objection can be made? Would it not be a curious result of the war against rebellion, that it should end in confetring on a rebel voter in South Carolina a power equal, in national affairs, to that of two loyal voters in New York? Can any one have the face to assert that the South should have, through its disfranchised negro freemen alone, a power in the Electoral College and in the national

House of Representatives equal to that of the States of Ohio and Indiana combined? Yet these conditions, so conciliatory, moderate, lenient, almost timid, and which, by the omission of impartial suffrage, fall very far below the requirements of the average sentiment of the loyal nation, are still de-nonneed by the new party of "Union" as the work of furious radicals, bent on destroying the rights of the States.

CHANGE IN THE MANNER OF VOTING .-At the last session of the Legislature an act was passed changing the manner of voting in the several counties of this Commonwealth. Hereafter the voting will be done in the following manner: "One ticket shall embrace the names of all indges of the courts voted for, and to be labeled 'judiciary;' one ticket shall embrace the names of all State officers voted for, and be labeled 'State;' one ticket shall embrace the names of all-county officersvoted for, including office of Senator, Members of Assembly, if voted for, and Members of Congress, if voted for, and be labeled 'county;' one ticket shall embrace the names of all township officers voted for, and be laand be labeled 'borough;' and each class $3,000. shall be deposited in separate ballot-boxes."

"No one can say that, if the perpetrator of this fiendish deal be arrested, he should not undergo the severest penalty the law knows for crime. None will say that mercy should interpose. But is he alone guilty? Here, gentlemen, you perhaps expect me to present some indication of my future policy. One thing I will say. Every era teaches its lesson. The times we live in are not without instruction. The American people must be iau ht-if they do not already feel-that treason is a crime, and must be punished : that the Government will not always hear with its enemies; that it is strong not only to protect, but to punish.

Audrew Johnson is now punishing treason by giving its fiercest advocates more power than they had ever hoped for or enjoyed before, even during the reign of the traitorous and imbecile Buchanan. "Treason must be made odious" by pardoning every rebel, big and little; and by inciting guerrilla mobs, as at Memphis and New Orleans, under Exccutive sanction and protection, to slaughter Unionists! "Treason is a crime, and must be punished," but in what manner does "My Policy" carry out this doctrine? By pardoning every crimson handed robel; inciting fiendish rebel mobs to slaughter loyal men and placing them in high official positionsa good reward for their efforts to destroy the country Verily, the loyal men and boys in blue have been compelled to give place to the Knights and gurrillas of the "Lost Cause," in the affections of our "accidental President."

The Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist speaks of the Stars and Stripes as a "flag all over befouled with wrong, and a blackguard despotism that daily affronts God by the villuinies it does his poor and persecuted people."

WITY CROWDED OUT -- Vallandigham was crowded out of the Philadelphia Convention. He was not quite rebel enough for the rebels and too much rebel for the people, and he had to go out. Had he proposed that the rebels should raise the black flag, as did Col-Langdon, of Alabama, or commanded a regwere both at the Convention, be could have joined in, as they did, without question .--Val. must kill a score of 'niggers,' or butcher, a few Union men at once to recover his status in the new party.
