

VILLAGE RECORD.

WAYNESBORO.

Friday, Sept. 21, 1866.

OUR TERMS.

The following are our terms for subscription advertising and job work, which we will strictly adhere to while the present "war price" continues: SUBSCRIPTION, Per Annum, if paid within the year, $2.00

AFTER HIM.—The loyal Southerners appointed at the Philadelphia Convention to follow the trail of Andrew Johnson to the West to enlighten the people of the North on the subject of national affairs, are now on their tour.

A frightful accident occurred at Johnstown, while the Presidential train was halting there. A platform over the canal gave way, precipitating hundreds of men, women and children to a distance of probably twenty feet, and piling them one on another.

THE GRAYBACKS.—ANOTHER MASSACRE.—Another terrible outrage was perpetrated on Saturday last upon the Union citizens of Platte City, Missouri. It appears the Radical Convention had met in that place and nominated a ticket. After the convention adjourned about four hundred rebels assembled on the streets with a band of music, which played "Dixie," "The Bonny Blue Flag," etc.

A few months before the murder of our noble President, Abraham Lincoln, the La Crosse Democrat published the following incitement to his assassination: If Lincoln is elected for another four years we trust some bold hand will pierce his heart with a dagger point for the public good.

The President is reported to have said, in speaking of Jeff Davis, that if he was not tried at October term by the Court in which he has been indicted he should be released. As it is understood that he will not be tried at that time, his release may be expected soon after the beginning of October.

A PERSONAL REFLECTION.—At Cleveland, during the delivery of Mr. Johnson's speech, that interrogatory gentleman repeatedly asked, "What pledge have I broken?" A dilapidated boot-black, on the pavement below, getting tired of the repetition, responded in a shrill voice—"The temperance pledge." Oh, how boot-blacks will lie!

The Johnson Soldiers' Convention assembled at Cleveland on Monday. The convention is represented as a slim affair. Of course Booth's President, the Philadelphia "grayback" convention, etc., is fully endorsed.

To ask men whose sons have shed their blood for the Union to vote for men who have been disloyal to it, is the greatest insult that could be offered.—Gen. Grant. This does not sound very much like an endorsement of "My Policy," the proceedings of the Philadelphia Convention considered.

The New York Herald says: "We regard the contest between the President and Congress as virtually decided by Maine.—We bow to the judgment of the people of the mighty North, and we trust that the President will shape his course accordingly."

Secretary Seward arrived at Washington on Saturday so ill that he had to be removed to his house on a stretcher. His disease has been pronounced to be the cholera.

Senator Doolittle, on his return home to Wisconsin, vainly attempted to address his townsmen, but they would not listen.—The traitor.

Andrew Johnson wants to hang Wendell Phillips and Thaddeus Stevens. Jeff Davis has been wanting to do the same thing for five years.

A monster Wigwag is to be erected in the city of Pittsburg for the accommodation of the Sailors' and Soldiers' Convention to assemble there on the 29th inst.

Gen. Bird has been relieved of his command at New Orleans.

"WHITE BOYS IN GRAY."—It appears the Johnson-Dick Taylorites, or, "White Boys in Gray," held a meeting at Frederick, Md., recently, which was doubtless largely attended by returned rebels and rebel sympathizers. The Philadelphia Inquirer, a conservative paper, gives the following account of the meeting, which is corroborated by a gentleman who was present and witnessed the proceedings. The Inquirer says:—

The speakers and those assembled appeared to have an idea that the "Confederacy" still existed, or that it would again arise from its ashes, like the fabled phoenix. Cheers, loud and long, were given for JEFF DAVIS, BEAUREGARD, LEE, FOREST, &c., &c. To add eclat to the occasion, a six-wheeled wagon, from the country entered the town with a Rebel flag fastened to the head of each horse.

Comment on such a demonstration seems almost useless. The flag was cheered to the echo, and those composing the assemblage gave unmistakable evidences of their fealty to DAVIS and the emblem of that Rebellion which was crushed by the men of the North and the West. If the Southern people are earnest in their desire to participate in the blessings of the Union, they must exhibit it in some other way than that of applauding JEFF DAVIS and his Rebel flag. The North is in no humor to succumb to the conquered or lose the fruits of its toil, its blood and its treasure expended for the preservation of its free institutions and the integrity of the nation. We are sorry to note, day after day this foolish and wicked spirit on the part of Southern communities. They find fault with Congress, and yet they furnish in their actions the very arguments which are advanced against them in Congress. Until they do better, until they evince a readiness to abandon their love for treason and prove it by electing loyal men to our national councils, as still opposed to the Government, and as men willing, whenever opportunity offers, to renew their efforts for its destruction. While they display the Rebel flag, cheer JEFF DAVIS, and prate about the superiority of the South over the North, they are entitled to no more than they have already received at the hands of Congress.

We have it from the best authority that a rebel flag was displayed at a "gray-back" meeting at Mechanicsville, in the same county, a few days previous to the one referred to. So much for "My Policy."

OBEDY THE LAWS.—The law of Pennsylvania, plain and simple, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, disfranchises all men who deserted the army and the navy before the regular expiration of their term of enlistment.—

The passage of this law was made necessary by the fact that an organized effort was being made at that time by politicians, to induce men to desert the army. In fact, Gen. Grant bitterly complained of the desertions which were taking place, and it was understood that he desired the adoption of such a measure to preserve the compactness of his armies and enable him to defeat rebellion. Pennsylvania had a right to place such a law on her statute books. And while it is the law of the State, every election officer who fails to enforce it renders himself liable to prosecution for malfeasance.

It must be borne in mind that the action of the Supreme Court on the law of Congress does not affect the law of Pennsylvania. The Supreme Court merely decided that Congress had no right to interfere with the elective franchise in the State. No decision has been rendered against the law of the State, disfranchising deserters, and it is this law, regularly published in every sheriff's proclamation, which all election officers are enjoined by their oaths to enforce. Let there be no mistake about this important business. The law of Pennsylvania disfranchises deserters. It is a plain law. The election officer who disregards or violates it is rendered liable to prosecution and severe punishment. And this prosecution and punishment will be sure to follow such a violation.

Col. Grant, the father of Gen. Grant, came aboard the Presidential boat at Cincinnati and informed President Johnson that he supported his policy. The President said he was glad to see him and such solid men standing by the Constitution and the Union in this hour of peril. The President said he wanted nothing but the Union of the entire States. Col. Grant, the brother of Gen. Grant was present during the conversation.

The above is a flat falsehood, manufactured from the whole cloth. Gen. Grant's father told the President nothing about supporting his policy—while the father and son were present merely to see the General.—On the contrary, the elder Grant is a radical unreserved in his denunciation of the Johnson cheat, and is engaged as one of the most active men of his years in Kentucky, upholding the Congressional policy.—Har. Telegraph.

The Albany Evening Journal is authority for the statement that Governor Parsons, after the battle of Gettysburg introduced a bill into the Alabama Legislature decreeing the penalty of death against the Union men of his State who refused to fight in the Rebel army. This same Parsons is now at the North making speeches for Johnson.

Some of the Johnson-Dick Taylor, exchanges are trying to deceive the "Boys in Blue," by asserting that "Gen. Logan" endorses the Cleveland Convention. It is Gen. G. W. Logan, of the rebel army, and representative from North Carolina in the rebel Congress, who endorses the Cleveland Convention. Major General John A. Logan, United States Army, endorses the Pittsburg Convention, and will probably preside over its deliberations.

LOCAL MATTERS.

We would have such of our patrons as are indebted at this office know that we are largely in arrears to the "paper man," and must have money. How many of hundreds owing us will respond to this appeal? If we could defer payment for paper and everything else for years after it had been consumed, "dunning" our patrons might be avoided, but such is not the case. The business motto is now, "down with the dust."

Messrs. Price & Hoetlich have received their first supply of new fall goods. Advertisement next week.

NEW GOODS.—It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that Messrs. Ambersen, Benedict & Co. have received their first supply of new fall goods.

DRUGS.—Friend Fourthman, druggist, has just returned from the East with another supply of fresh drugs, medicines, fancy articles, etc., etc.

ANOTHER SUPPLY.—D. B. Russell, Esq., requests us to say to his customers and the public that he is now receiving another supply of stoves, tinware, house-furnishing goods, etc. His advertisement will appear next week.

A CARD.—It will be seen by reference to the card of Drs. Frantz & Soively, in today's paper, that parties maliciously disposed, have put in circulation a report that they charge more than the customary price for medical attendance. Read the card.

LIVERY.—Franklin Weagly of this place has largely increased his Livery stock recently, and is now prepared to furnish fine traveling horses and comfortable conveyances, new and latest styles. See his advertisement in another column.

POSTPONED.—The Union Mass Meeting announced to be held in "Waynesboro" on the 25th inst., we are authorized to say has been indefinitely postponed. As soon as the necessary arrangements are made notice will be given.

RELIGIOUS MEETINGS.—Religious meetings have been held in the M. E. Church in this place for the past week or more, and we understand quite a number profess to have been converted and have attached themselves to the church. The good work, we believe, is still progressing.

GOOD TEMPLARS.—It appears the order of Good Templars in this place continues to increase rapidly in numbers. On Friday night last some dozen or more individuals were initiated. The order is certainly doing a vast amount of good in our community.

COMMENCED.—The work of preparing the foundation for the new Presbyterian Church has been commenced. The congregation expect to have the church under roof this fall.

LARGE PEACH.—A Peach was exhibited to us a few days since, which measured a few inches in circumference and weighed eleven ounces. It was taken from a tree in the garden of Mr. Thos. J. Filbert, in this place. If any of our fruit growers can equal this specimen we would be glad to hear from them, and would not refuse trying the quality of a few.

The Union Mass Meeting at Chambersburg, on Monday last, is said to have been a grand affair, perhaps one of the largest political meetings ever convened in the county.

A Democratic Mass Meeting is announced to be held there on the 26th.

UNION MEETING.—A Union meeting was held in this place on Tuesday evening, which was ably addressed by Capt. Reynell, of Lancaster City, Brig. Gen. Lee, of Connecticut, and Hon. Ed. McPherson. Before the speaking commenced the "Boys in Blue" turned out, each carrying a lantern, and marched through the different streets, preceded by the Green Castle Band. After the meeting adjourned the Band discoursed a number of popular airs at the "Waynesboro Hotel," and "Bowden House," the members of which, as musicians, have been highly complimented by our citizens. As should be the case on all public occasions, good order prevailed during the evening.

NOMINATED.—We observe from the last Berkeley Union that Maj. E. S. Troxel, who has been acting by appointment for several months Clerk of the Courts of Berkeley Co. Va., was nominated for that office on the 8th inst., in convention by acclamation.—The "graybacks" being fortunately in the minority in Berkeley county the Major's nomination may be regarded as equivalent to his election.

NOTICE.—Members of the "Waynesboro Coal Club" are notified to call at the Bank and deposit the money for coal ordered tomorrow, otherwise they will not be supplied by the company.

QUINCY.—A large Union meeting was held at Quincy on Friday evening last, which was addressed by Wilson Hays, Col. Wiestling, and others.

POSTMASTER.—Matthew Welsh has been appointed Postmaster of Chambersburg, in place of J. W. Deal, who could not stomach "My Policy."

NEW METHODS OF CALCULATION.—Prof. J. B. Andrews, of Philadelphia, is visiting our town for the purpose of giving instruction in his new, short and simple methods of calculation, including short methods of Addition, Subtraction, Multiplication and Division, and their application to Interest, Gain and Loss, Banking and Partial payments.

We have investigated Prof. Andrews' concise and beautiful system of calculation and we must say that we regard it as far superior to the old system. It is much shorter, more simple, and in every way possesses superior advantages.—We take great pleasure therefore, in recommending him to any who may need his professional services.—We are authorized to say that the Professor gives instructions to Ladies and Teachers at a reduced fee, and to wounded soldiers free of charge.

His rooms are at the Bowden House, in this place, where he may be found at any time when not professionally engaged.

CORN CUTTING.—Some of our farmers have already commenced the work of cutting off their corn. The crop generally is represented as promising an extraordinary yield. Many are of the opinion that the yield will largely exceed that of 1865. With corn so abundant and fine potato crops, grumblers need have no fears of a famine for the next year or two.

THE WESTERN MARYLAND RAILROAD.—Joseph S. Gitt, Esq., has been appointed Chief Engineer of this road, in place of Col. Taylor, resigned. Mr. Gitt is now in this county, engaged upon the work of locating the line. He has established the Tunnel, and is now working in the direction of this place. It is supposed that he will have the survey completed as far as Smithburg this week. When done on this side of the mountain, he proposes to commence at the summit and locate the line to Mechanicsville.

We learn from the Baltimore papers, that the injunction to restrain the Company from putting the road under contract has been dissolved.—Hag. Herald.

JUDGED BY HIMSELF.—Andrew Johnson in a speech made at Nashville, Tenn., in September, 1864, said, "Whenever you find a man anywhere prating about the Constitution of the United States, spot him; he's a traitor."

The Hotel Bill of the Presidential party for one night's entertainment at Springfield, Illinois, amounted to eight hundred dollars. Wheat and beef must be high in that locality, or whisky commands a great price in the West.

Railroad Accident.

READING, Sept. 18.—A fatal accident occurred about 11 o'clock last night, on the Reading railroad, at the cannon-proving ground of Messrs. Seyfert, McManus & Co., two miles below this city. The switch at this point having been misplaced the loco motive Pensacola, with a coal train, ran off the main track, down the grade leading to the proving-ground, and into the hill, with such force as to completely demolish the engine and about twenty cars.

The engineer, Samuel Griffith, was buried beneath the coal and ruins of the cars, and was not exhumed until this afternoon, when he was taken out dead. The fireman, Barney Farwell, was caught between the locomotive and tender, from which situation he was not extricated for several hours, enduring meanwhile excruciating tortures from contact with the fire-box. His legs were severely burned and otherwise injured, and his recovery is regarded as doubtful. Griffith leaves a family in Philadelphia. It is thought that the switch was maliciously misplaced, though the object of the fiendish act cannot be conjectured.

WHEN A UNION MAN is murdered in the South, and the military authorities inform the civil powers of the fact, the reply is that "the President is determined that the Southern States shall be represented in Congress, and as soon as the men who lately ravaged the Southern States while marching through them as Lincoln's hussars, refrain from opposing Mr. Johnson, his friends will refrain from retaliating in the South. THE SOUTHERN PEOPLE HAVE NO OTHER WAY OF OPPOSING THE RADICALS BUT BY KILLING THEM!" Such is the effect of my policy!—These are the men who are, in Mr. Johnson's opinion, fitted to take charge of the Government. As an evidence of the working of my policy, we cite the following dispatch from Nashville: Under the provisions of Gen. Grant's order No. 44, four men were recently arrested in Giles county by the military authorities, and brought to this city on a charge of murdering a negro. The civil authorities refused to bring the murderers to punishment, and after the men had lain in jail for a few days, the Giles county court authorized that they be released, quashing the indictment.

Special Dispatch to the N. Y. Tribune.] COLUMBUS, Ohio, Thursday, Sept. 13.—In conversation with General Cox, last evening General Grant and Admiral Farragut declared their disapproval of the President's policy, and commended that of Congress.—Both gentlemen said substantially that they were participants in the President's campaign tour by express instructions, and not from any inclination on their part. The conversations were not strictly private, for several parties were present.

The wife of Mr. Henry Witely, a resident of the town of Worth, Illinois, was bitten by a mad dog about two weeks since.—She was taken with the hydrophobia a short time afterwards, and died from the effects of the disease. The death of the wife distracted the husband. He became possessed with the idea that he was also attacked with the dreadful disease, and on the 7th inst., strangely enough, drowned himself in a stream near the town.

The Indians.

LEAVESWORTH, September 13.—The Sioux, Arapahoes, and Cheyennes have taken the war path against the rascals. Three traders, their squaws and children, living on Tongue river, were killed and scalped. The Indians stole all the stock at Big Horn Ferry, and drove the ferrymen off.—The Blood Indians have run off large amounts of stock, and are committing depredations at Fort Williams. Two men were killed. Fifteen hundred Santee Indians have passed Fort Union on the war path. They stole all the stock at Post-Sauere and Minnesota. The Sioux have had a fight, in which fifteen of them were killed. Great danger is apprehended from the Logan and Blood Indians in Montana. They attacked the stage on the Paci, killed a passenger and shot the horses. They stole all the stage stock from a station west of Cottonwood. Cavalry were sent in pursuit, without effect.

Pittsburg Convention.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 15.—The Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention on the 25th instant is creating immense enthusiasm. Extensive preparations are making for a grand display of flags, triumphal arches, and illuminations. Hospitality will be offered freely. The "boys in blue" throughout the country are organizing rapidly to take part in the public demonstration.

Letters received daily by the chairman of the resident committee, General Joseph Negley, indicate a tremendous military representation and outpouring of the people. It is requested that officers and men attend the convention in uniform. Veterans not commissioned are entitled by act of Congress to wear the insignia of a lieutenant's rank.

An affray occurred at Buckingham Court-house, Va., on Saturday last, between a lawyer named James Leach and Anthony Walton and his son, in which the latter two were killed. The Rev. Dr. Leach, of Cumberland, Va., a distinguished minister of the Presbyterian Church, and father of the slayer of the Waltons, died suddenly on Wednesday, it is supposed from trouble arising from the unfortunate occurrence.

The grand jury of the U. S. District Court has presented Thos. Watkins, a justice of the peace of Washington county, residing near Sandy Hook, for refusing to permit a colored girl to give evidence before him against a white man, whom she charged with committing violence upon her.

A guerilla leader, Diok Hempstead, was on Wednesday captured by the Regulators, near Little Rock, Ark., who after trying him and finding him guilty of eleven murders, all of which he confessed, burned him to death by a slow fire which totally consumed his body.

Hon. Francis Woodbury, ex-Senator, died at Savannah, Georgia, on the 13th inst., of hydrophobia, having been bitten some two months ago by a lady's lap-dog. Not supposing the animal mad, he had paid no attention to the bite.

A destructive fire took place at Newbern, N. C., on Sunday afternoon. The buildings on both sides of Middle street, from Broad to Pollock, were laid in ashes.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16.—Not over two hundred delegates to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention have yet arrived, not enough to give any indication of its spirit or intentions.

The wardrobe of Madame Ristori, the great Italian actress, who has recently arrived in this country, fills forty trunks.

A gentleman in Newport, R. I., out a melon on the other day, and inside of it found a full grown and ripe raspberry.

The city council of Cincinnati refused, by a vote of 18 to 6, to tender the hospitalities of the city to the President and his party of excursionists.

It is said that there are now about 100,000 head of Texas cattle on the way to the Eastern market.

There are now in the United States Treasury nearly eighty million dollars in gold.

MARKETS.

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS.—September 18, 1866.—There was quite an active business in Flour to day, and prices, partly owing to the limited receipts and extremely low stocks, were firmly maintained. There was some little inquiry for shipment, and a steady demand for home consumption.—Sales of 8,800 bbls Northwest extra family at $11@12.50; 250 bbls fancy at 14@14.50; 600 bbls W. B. Thomas' family on private terms; and small lots of superfine at $7.50@8; old and new extras at $9@11 and Pennsylvania and Ohio extra family at $11.50@13.50, the latter for fresh-ground a new wheat. Rye Flour is quiet, with small sales at $6@6.50. Prices of Corn Meal are entirely nominal.

Supplies of Wheat come forward slowly, and there is a moderate inquiry at an advance. Sales of 3, 50 bush fair and choice Southern red at $2.65@2.85, and 500 bush spring at $5.45 white ranges from $2.90 to $3. There is very little Rye coming forward slowly; sales of 500 bush Western at 95c, Pennsylvania is held at $1.05. Corn is quiet, and the offerings are small; sales of 5,000 bush yellow at 94c, including a small lot of Western mix at 92c. In Oats no new feature to present; sales of 3,500 bush at 50@52c; Nothing done in Barley or Malt.
