

VILLAGE RECORD.

WAYNESBORO.

Friday, Oct. 12, 1866.

MISLAIN.—The contribution by "Sidney of C." mislaid a couple of weeks since, has been recovered and will appear in our next issue.

SALE POSTPONED.—The sale of Real Estate by W. W. & G. W. Walker, in consequence of the great storm, has been postponed until Monday the 22d inst.

THE RESULT.—The result of the election held on Tuesday in the State is estimated at about 20,000 majority for Gen. Geary for Governor. The Legislature is largely Union. The Union majority in Ohio will reach it is supposed 50,000. In Indiana 20,000, and in Iowa 80,000. The Union ticket in this county is elected, as is also Gen. Koontz, Union candidate for Congress. His majority will probably reach eight or nine hundred in the District. In this county it will perhaps not exceed 150. We expect to give the correct result in our next issue.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP—OFFICIAL.—The following is the official vote of the election in Washington Township on Tuesday last:

W. D. Guthrie,	286

The election progressed quietly during the day, although both parties were unusually active. There was but comparatively little discipation and no "street-fights" we believe. It will be observed that the vote polled is a large one, exceeding that of 1863.

RAIN.—An unusually severe rain storm prevailed here commencing on Tuesday evening and continuing with but little intermission up to the time of our going to press, Thursday noon. The streams in our vicinity are much swollen, but so far we have no knowledge of any losses being sustained.—It is feared however, that many grain fields recently seeded will be greatly damaged by washing.

REMOVED.—It will be seen by reference to his card in another column, that Dr. T. D. French has removed his office to his residence on Mechanic street, where he proposes to devote his whole time to the practice of Dentistry.

A considerable number of families of wealthy former slave owners have lately arrived in Washington from the South with the intention of taking up permanent residences north of the Potomac. They represent that the change in the labor system, and the unsettled condition of society at the South since the war, promises to make that section an undesirable place to live for some years to come. It is these "families of wealth" who have fomented the feeling which produced this state of social affairs in the South, and after the mischief is foot it is very comfortable for such mischief makers to come north of the Potomac.

The Southern loyalists delegation came near meeting with a frightful accident near Cairo on Friday night, by the cars being thrown off the track by the removal of two rails. The engineer of the train was killed, and five persons injured. A despatch from St. Louis says all indications point to this act as a deliberate attempt to kill Gov. Brownlow and ex-Gov. Hamilton.

MILLINERY GOODS.—Mrs. Hollinberger has returned from the East with a full assortment of new Millinery goods, to which she invites the attention of her lady patrons.

SUDDEN DEATH.—We learn that Mr. Isaac Deardorff, an aged and highly respected farmer, died suddenly, of apoplexy, at his residence, in Antrim township, on Tuesday evening last.

A HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE.—We direct attention to the advertisement of Rev. C. F. Thomas, in another column.

VALUABLE LOT.—J. R. Welsh offers for sale in to-day's paper a valuable town lot.—See advertisement.

NEW GOODS.—Miss M. C. Resser has received her fall supply of new Millinery goods. Ladies are invited to call and examine her stock.

THANKSGIVING.

WASHINGTON, October 8, 1866.—The following proclamation has just been issued by the President of the United States.

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, has been pleased to vouchsafe to us as a people another year of that national life which is an indispensable condition of peace, security and progress. That year has, moreover, been crowned with many peculiar blessings. The civil war, that so recently closed among us, has not been anywhere reopened. Foreign intervention has ceased to excite alarm of apprehension. Intrinsic pestilence has been benignly mitigated; domestic tranquility has improved; sentiments of conciliation have largely prevailed, and the affections of loyalty and patriotism have been widely re-awakened. Our fields have yielded quite abundantly; our mining industry has been richly rewarded, and we have been allowed to extend our railroad system far into the recesses of the country; while our nation has resumed its customary activity in foreign seas.

The great national blessings demand a national acknowledgment.

Now, therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do hereby recommend that Thursday, the 29th day of November next, be set apart, and be observed everywhere in the several States and Territories of the United States by the people thereof, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God.

With due remembrance that "in his temple doth every man speak of His Honor," I recommend also that on the same solemn occasion they do humbly and devoutly implore Him to grant to our national councils and to our whole people that divine wisdom which can alone lead any nation into the ways of all Good.

In offering these national thanksgivings, praises and supplications, we have the divine assurance that "the Lord remaineth a King forever; them that are weak shall be guided in judgment, and such as are gentle shall He learn His way. The Lord shall give strength to His people, and the Lord shall give to His people the blessing of peace."

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this, the eighth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and of the Independence of the United States the ninety-first.

ANDREW JOHNSON.
By the President:
WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

Johnsonism.
St. Louis, Oct. 8.—Col. Bingham, one of the Southern loyalists, who was not allowed to speak in Cairo on Friday night, publishes a card, in which he states that the rioters at the meeting were armed with revolvers and bowie knives, and came there with the avowed purpose of inaugurating another New Orleans tragedy. The delegation, which was supposed to include Brownlow and Hamilton, came near meeting with a frightful accident on their way to Cairo. The train upon which they were supposed to be was thrown off the track, on a high embankment, eighty miles above Cairo, at 2 o'clock on Wednesday morning, by the removal of two rails, which threw the engine off the track, killed the engineer, and badly wounded the fireman and four other persons. The indications all point to this act as a deliberate attempt to kill Brownlow and Hamilton. The whole delegation have arrived here safely, and will have a public reception in Lucas Place tonight.

A violent attempt was made to break up a meeting on Saturday night, called in the interests of the Radicals.

Fatal Accident.
Mr. Daniel Easterday, a young man about 25 years of age, and only son of the late Samuel Easterday, dec'd., living at the base of the South Mountain, between the Frederick turnpike and the old Sharpsburg road, went out hunting on last Friday morning, the 28th ult. Night came, but he did not return. Early on Saturday morning search was made for him, and his body found, dead lying at the foot of a tree. His gun, game-bag, ammunition and hat were found near him, and the two dogs that accompanied him in the morning were watching over the dead body. The jury of inquest gave it as their verdict that he had come to his death from injuries received by a fall from a tree. In the fall he had received a fracture of the frontal bone, a deep gash in the right eyeball, and severe bruises on the chest and abdomen. It is supposed that he had climbed the tree after a squirrel, as he lay immediately under a limb that had a hole in it, and otherwise indicated the presence of squirrels.—One shoe was on his foot and the other lay at the foot of the tree, by the side of his body. The deceased was an industrious young man, of steady habits, and much respected by those who knew him.—Boonsboro' Odd Fellow.

LONGEVITY IN MAINE.—In the Pine Tree State people live to a great age, considering the climate. There is, for instance, now living in East Winslow a Mrs. Hannah Littlefield, who has attained the age of 105 years. She has belonged to the Congressional Church for nearly ninety years. In Athens there is an old lady now in her one hundred and first year, who has this season spun and twisted a large quantity of cotton yarn. A correspondent of the Portland Star writes that he has an old lady working for him, who at the age of 87, has spun this season so far 400 skeins of yarn, averaging from eight to ten skeins per day.

THE COST OF LIVING IN NEW YORK.—House rents are still enormous in New York, the rates ranging from $15000 a year for unfurnished tenements in good neighborhoods. The prices demanded by the boarding house keepers are even more extravagant than those asked by the landlords.—suites of two or three rooms being held at from $100 to $200 a week, or $5000 to $10,000 a year for families of moderate size.

Archbishop Whately once puzzled a number of clever men in whose company he was by asking them this question: "How is it that white sheep eat more than black?"—Some were not aware of the curious fact; others set to work and tried to give learned and long reasons; but all were anxious to know the real cause. After keeping them wondering for a while, he said, "The reason is because there are more of them."

DEATH OF JOHN S. RAREY.

The celebrated horse-tamer, John S. Rarey, died suddenly at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 4th inst.

Last December he had a stroke of paralysis, since which time he had been treated by several prominent physicians. On Thursday, at two P. M., he left the Waddell House for a walk, but soon returned, complaining of pain in the head. After being seated a few minutes he exclaimed, "I am dying," and in about an hour he expired!

Mr. Rarey was a native of Franklin county, Ohio, where he was born in 1825. He first publicly developed his system for taming, or rather training, horses in 1855, but from early childhood had been a student of what is now known as "Rarey's system."

In 1856 he visited Texas, and studied for a year or two the habits of the animals of that State, meeting with great success in taming the wild horses of that wild region. On his return from Texas he gave his first public exhibition at Columbus, Ohio, since which time he has almost constantly been before the public. In the course of his career he was consulted by the chief cavalry officers of England and this country, and Major General Halleck employed him in 1863 to inspect and report upon the condition of the horses of the army of the Potomac, which he did with considerable discretion.

His remains were taken for burial to Groveport, Ohio, where he resided on a fine stock farm which he owned near that place.

THE NEW YORK OYSTER TRADE.—The New York Commercial Advertiser says:—The oyster trade is one of the great features of New York, to any one not thoroughly posted around its market and oyster stands, it may seem "Munchausen" to state that the average number of baskets of this delicacy, brought to that city per day, last season excepted, was five hundred thousand. The trade now, however, is beginning to spring up, and great preparations are being made for the coming season. To give some idea of this business, and the statement is within limits, there are employed in the oyster trade of this city alone one thousand sail of vessels, that is, about five hundred in the great South Bay, two hundred and fifty in the East River, and the rest around Staten Island. For the management of those vessels, the planting and gathering the oysters, about five thousand men are required, and there are not less than twenty thousand men engaged in buying, selling and serving them after they are landed. The prospects for the coming season are a heavy crop at lower prices than at any time since the beginning of the war.

DEATH OF AN ECENTRIC MISER.—The Montgomery (Alabama) Mail of September 27 says: Howell Rose, the old citizen of Coosa so well known for his wealth and for his eccentricities, died last week at his log cabin in Coosa county, Alabama. By hoarding his means for many years he had been enabled to accumulate a property of nearly $300,000, all of which passes by his death to the use of his wife for life. Mr. Rose had, in a former will, left a body of land, embracing several thousand acres, to be divided among his negroes, whom he intended to manumit. But in consequence of the violence which he experienced at the hands of the enemy he changed his will, and committed them to the Freedmen's Bureau. After the surrender a body of Yankees went to the old man's house in search of gold, and threatened to hang him unless he produced it. The old man coolly told them to hang, and that they would find his pretty tough old neck. They hung him up three times, but produced no confession. No man of the neighborhood was probably more extensively known than Howell Rose.

ONE WOMAN MURDERS ANOTHER.—A fearful tragedy occurred in the town of Thompson, Carroll county, Illinois, on Monday a week. The following are the facts: Two families, by the names of Goddard and Schenk, have been living, during the past summer, in the same house, on a farm, about a mile from the village. Frequent quarrels have occurred between them. The quarrels finally culminated on Monday a week in a fierce personal encounter between two male members of the families. Clubs and similar weapons were freely used, and nearly all the members of the two families finally became engaged in the conflict. Mrs. Goddard, having been struck once or twice in the melee, rushed into the house and soon returned with a butcher knife which she immediately plunged into the breast of Miss Mary Cole, killing her instantly. Miss Cole, the victim, was about nineteen years of age, of a quiet and inoffensive disposition, and was taking no part in the quarrel. The murderer, is under arrest, but manifests no contrition for her crime.

PRESENCE OF MIND IN A CHILD.—In a fit of jealousy a man shot his wife through the heart in Hardin county, Illinois, a few days ago, and made his escape through a window. A daughter of the murdered woman, only eight years old, roused by the report, entered the room, where the appalling spectacle of her dead mother presented itself, the life blood welling up in profusion, while an infant lay quietly in her arms.—The little girl's first impulse was to rescue the babe, which would soon have strangled in the blood, and with it in her arms, and the two other children at her side, she started for the house of her aunt, a distance of nearly two miles, and reached there before any of the family were awake. Here she related the tragic circumstances.

COMBAT WITH A WOLF.—The St. Louis (Mo.) Dispatch says: "The other day, in the afternoon, a wolf came into the door yard of Mr. Harrold; two miles east of Butler, Bates county, in this State, and commenced catching chickens. A woman of the house ran to the fence; and in attempting to pass through, laid hold of its hind legs and held it fast, while another woman present went to the opposite side, and with a club beat it to death."

THE FAMINE IN INDIA.—The progress of the famine in India is still continuing, and the mortality is ever increasing. The state of the country is said to be frightful.—A correspondent of the Calcutta Geybilvar, of the 6th, who has made a tour of the Nofussil, sends a narrative of suffering and death which has rarely been paralleled even in the history of such calamities. In four villages which he visited there were not ten houses that did not contain one or more dead bodies. In another small place there were four or five hundred dead, most of them unburied.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.—A Mother Kills her Four Children.—The murderer commits suicide.

A crime, almost too horrible to relate was perpetrated at Morenci, Michigan yesterday forenoon, about 10 o'clock. A Mrs. Simms, the wife of a farmer in that vicinity, murdered her four children by cutting their throats. In the morning the woman prepared breakfast for the family as usual, and nothing was discovered in her conduct to excite suspicion. A few breakfast Mr. Simms made preparations for leaving home for a portion of the day and started off, little thinking of the dreadful scene that was shortly to take place at his home, which would not only envelope himself in gloom, but cast a sadness over the entire community.

He had been gone but a short time when Mrs. S. taking her four children, all little girls, went to the barn, entered, and after locking the door, cut the throat of each child, and then destroyed herself in the same manner.

One child, with a ghastly wound in the neck and bleeding profusely, succeeded in dragging herself to the house and informed a servant, who at once started after Mr. S., and overtaking him before he reached his destination, informed him of the dreadful tragedy that had taken place.

Mr. Simms is the owner of a splendid farm his home was pleasant, and no cause but that of insanity can be assigned for the conduct of his wife. This dreadful affair created intense excitement at Morenci.—Toledo Blade, Oct. 4.

A Shocking Accident.
On Wednesday, Mrs. Harlow, wife of Mr. John P. Harlow, wheat receiver at Harwell & Crenshaw's mills, at Richmond, visited the mills in company with two lady friends, to whom she was exhibiting the machinery. While turning to leave the upper story her dress was caught in the conveyer wheels which carry the flour to the superfine bolting apparatus, and she was drawn into the machinery. Mr. Taylor who was standing by caught her and would have rescued her, but her steel hoop-skirt had become entangled in the cog wheels, and Mr. Taylor's attempts were vain, and he became near being drawn himself into the machinery which in a moment mangled the unfortunate lady in a manner too horrible to contemplate. Her head was severed from her body and crushed to pieces, the brain being scattered in every direction, and was cut into and ground almost to atoms. One arm fell to the lower floor, the other being thrown five feet away from the machinery, and fragments of blood and bones and brains were strewn everywhere.—Richmond Eng.

HORRIBLE DEATH.—Mr. Robert Walker and his wife, riding in a wagon with two seats, were crossing a railroad track in Detroit, Michigan, on Friday, when the gentleman, who sat on the front seat driving, while the lady sat behind him, suddenly discovered that a train of cars was rapidly approaching. He whipped his horses, and they sprang quickly forward. This unexpected movement threw Mrs. Walker out of the wagon. She fell upon the planks between the rails, which serve to enable teams to pass, and in an instant after the train was grinding her body almost to a jelly. The remains of the unfortunate victim were found beside the track, the entire train having passed over them. They were a shapeless mass.

A despatch from Savannah brings the painful intelligence of a terrible disaster at sea, in the loss of the steamer Evening Star, from New York for New Orleans, with two hundred and fifty passengers and a crew of fifty persons, very few of whom are, so far, known to have been saved. The disaster occurred one hundred and eighty miles east of Tybee Island.

Grand Ovation.
St. Louis, Oct. 8.—The reception of the Southern Loyalists to-night was a grand ovation.

A torchlight procession two miles long escorted the delegation to the Lucas Market Place, where, thousands of citizens had already gathered, and which was decorated with hundreds of flags, banners, transparencies, lanterns, &c.

Hon. Henry T. Blair delivered the welcoming address, which was responded to in a very able argument by Governor Hamilton, of Texas.

Speeches were made from three stands by different members of the delegation, and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed.

The number present had but slightly diminished at 11.30 to night.

A lady at the Louisville and Nashville depot the other day startled everybody by crying out, "I've got the cholera!" A fine boy soon made his advent into the world, and it proved only to be a new kind of cholera infantum.

During a storm on Thursday of last week, a small tree under which a flock of sheep had taken shelter, on the farm of Mr. Robert A. Claggett, near Marlboro', Md., was struck by lightning, and 52 of the animals killed.

About 5,000 cooiles were sent to the West Indies last year. Ten per cent. of the whole number died on the voyage, and one shipload of 262 souls were lost at sea.

A Galveston Texas, merchant, the other day, on a bet, consumed eighty dozen raw oysters, and he survived.

There are 7,200,000 rose trees cultivated for trade in France. They are grown in open fields, after the manner of cabbages.

A negro has been admitted to the Philadelphia bar.

A pill-box factory in Vermont uses 300 cords of wood per annum.
