PITTSBURG, December 10. - The "Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Company of the United States" have completed their lines from Pittsburg to Baltimore, and open to the pub lie this (Monday) morning, thus making an independent line from Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington to Pittsburg and the oil region.

This line is being rapidly extended to all important points in the West, connecting at Cincinnati with the Southern Telegraph Company's lines now being built from the latter place, and St. Louis to New Orleans. A. J. BALDWIN, General Superintendent.

ANTIETAM CEMETERY.-We copy the following interesting item from the Hagerstown Herald and Torck. The work of reman; and another was found, enclosing the pame, &c, of the soldier, with which it was buried. The burial corps has met with assistance and kindness from the persons residing in the neighborhood, on whose properties the bodies were burried, with but two exceptions. One person contended that there were none buried on his place; but the guides, and those who where present at the battle, knew better; and a large number of bodies were dug up in his garden. He had cultivated his cabbage over the shallow graves of the slain, and stoutly contended that there were none there? Another treatand asserted that none were buried on his farm. But the contrary fact was known, and a number of bodies were taken up from beneath a farm road that he had made over the loyal dead? Comment in these cases is unnecessary.

So A. J., according to the Spirit's reasoning, owes his present position to a decree of the Most High. This perhaps accounts for his temperance principles and the fruits of his late labors in "swinging around the circle." No wonder certain "conservatives" North have talked of a monument to the memory of J. Wilkes Booth. We doubt not the Spirit man would contribute his "mite."

COLD.-The weather since Monday last has been very cold. Winter seems to have set in thus early in carnest, which doubtless finds many illy prepated for the sudden and trying change. Those upon whom fortune has shed her smiles during the year so soon to close, should not forget to enquire as to the condition of the unfortunate, the widow and the orphan especially. Out of your abundante, reader, let their wants be supplied. If the investment does not yield you a good interest in time it will in eternity.
