PANORAMA OF THE REBELLION -Davis' Panorama of the Great Rebellion will be exhibited in the Town Hall on Saturday evening next. This Panorana illustrates the important buttles of the great struggle from the evacuation of Fort Moulirie to the battle of Chickamauga from sketches by reliable artists accompanying the several columns.

Mr. Davis is a gentleman of superior meri and was recently the recipient of a valuable gold medal from Gov. Geary, the following account of the presentation we copy from the Telegraph of the 21st ult., "An interesting scene took place in the Executive Chamber yestesday morning, the occasion being the presentation of a gold medal by Gov. John W. Geary to Harry H. Davis, author of the Panerama of the Rebellion. The medal is manufactured of solid gold. A gold buckle of massive structure, from which depends a blue ribbon, on which is hung the medal, constituting the testimonial. On the buckle is inscribed these words:.

Presented to Harry II. Davia,

Ъ٧ John W. Genry, Governor of Pennsylvania. On one side of the shield is inscribed: In testimony of services on the battle field and stage.

On the reverse is the figure of a soldier in full uniform, enclosed in a wreath composed of these words:

Eternal vigilance is the price of Liberty. In presenting this medal, Gov. Geary made a most felicitous speech. He alluded to the fact that Mr. Davis had fought gallantly on the battle field, and that while abroad on a professional tour, he had never forgotten the cause of his then struggling adopted sountry. For these cets of patriotism, for his deeds of valor on the battle-field, and his frank advocacy of the right on the public stage, the Governor presented the young artist this handsome testimorial.

Mr. Davis replied in appropriate, terms to Gov. Geary's speech.

Mr. Davis will give an exhibition at the benefit of children. Teaches admitted panied by storms of more or less severity. free of charge.

Terrible Riot at Carlisle!

CARLISLE, Pa, March 16, 1867. Lastevening two soldiers came into town. When near the Court House, they were attacked by A. Hammil and P. Gilmore. Neither party were hurt. The soldiers then left for the garrison. At 8 o'clock about fifty soldiers came in town, armed with carbines, revolvers, sabres, and halted near the Court House and fired into a crowd of citizens who were standing near the point where the polls were located. The citizens drew revolvers and fired, when a general riot ensued. The soldiers ran and the citizens pursued—the soldiers firing back, and when, on reaching the edge of the town, they took a position. The guard came in from the post, and the firing was kept up. The gaurd having arrested some citizens and started for the garrison, meeting Hammil, who had a gun, was ordered by the guard to lay it down. On refusing he shot him. The ball struck left of the right nipple, and came out near the left shoulder blade. He died in three hours.

Mrs. Stuart, standing in the door at her home, was shot through the left foot; Thomas Zimmerman through the right fore arm, crushing bones, Jacob Small, through the centre of the right hand; — Hallibaugh, in the head, crushing the scalp—all citizens. Two soldiers were wounded, one in the

At the time he left the Tennessee river was still rising, the rain still falling, and the whole country presenting the appearance of a vast sea of water. He was a guest at the Crutchfield House, where he remained until the water reached the verandah, when it was deemed prudent to vacate, which was done in a boat The water continued to rise stead. ily until it reached the ceiling of the first story of that hotel, after which being in ether parts of the city, he saw nothing more of it. On market street, the main business thorougfare, the water was ten feet deep at the highest points, or over the tops of the awnings in front of the large stores. Ine goods had been removed to the second stories of the at the residence of the bride's parents, by buildings, where it was believed they would the Rev. Mr. Miller, of the M E. He saw small houses floating hither and thither, while, many large ones sunder. The scene was one of wild confusion-in fact, so terrible as to beggar description.
