

VILLAGE RECORD.

WAYNESBORO.

Friday, April 26, 1867.

Senator Wilson made public speeches at Richmond and Alexandria, Va., last week, to large gatherings, and was received with enthusiasm. But a few years ago, Foote, in the U. S. Senate, promised any one of the political faith of Mr. Wilson who would come South to make speeches, an introduction to a halter and a limb, and the threat would have been carried out.

Later advices from Mexico, received at New Orleans, reassert the capture of Puebla by the Liberals, and state that Maximilian had offered to surrender, but the Liberals refused to accede to the terms he demanded. Another report is that Maximilian had been wounded in the recent engagements, and with three thousand men had returned to the City of Mexico.

The New York Times thinks that the recent Legislature of Maryland rivalled that of New York in corrupt practices, as "members who went to Annapolis hungry and poor returned to their homes sleek and with their purses pleasantly filled." This is a very unkind cut to the Conservative majority from one of their friends.

There was a city election in Concord, N. H., the home of ex-President Pierce, on Tuesday last week, when, as we learn from the N. Y. Herald, the Copperheads, led by poor Pierce, supported Charles H. Proctor, a black barber. He was, however, beaten by the Republican candidate, Mr. Abbot, a white man. The Herald says that "poor Pierce is far ahead of poor old Buchanan in reading the political signs of the times. It will be seen, too, from this movement, that politicians in the North as well as in the South are beginning to comprehend the importance of looking after the coming negro balance of power."

Recently the colored citizens of Nashville held a mass meeting in front of the State capitol. Over four thousand were present. The addresses were made by colored speakers, one of whom was a European, of professional education. They resolved to stand by Congress and Gov. Brownlow. As long as there is a Union soldier in Tennessee, the blacks will know whom to vote for. They will follow the flag. They will cling to the blue coats and avoid the gray.

In lieu of the advertisements which formerly appeared in Southern newspapers, for the sale of negroes, we now see calls for meetings of black and white men, to deliberate on the surest means for promoting the best interests of the "two races to whom the rule of the South is now confided." The Mobile Advertiser publishes a call for a public evening meeting "without distinction of color," the object of which is "to establish and to promote harmony and accord between the two races who are now brought face to face in new political relations." Two years ago a portion of those invited to this meeting were not allowed to appear in the streets of Mobile after nine o'clock in the evening without a permit from a white owner.

The Savannah Republican says: "Accounts represent the condition of things in Camden and Bryan counties as truly alarming; the wildest days of St. Domingo seem to have been reproduced in Southern Georgia. In one county two negroes were sentenced to death for murder, and three others to the penitentiary. A mob of colored people surrounded the jail, broke open the doors, and allowed the prisoners to escape. In another county men were found hanging to the trees within a short distance of the public roads, and had been hanging there for several days."

The United States Senate brought its executive session to a close on Saturday afternoon. Nearly all the important offices were filled, a few post-offices and internal revenue offices in the West being the only ones left vacant. For those the President failed to make nominations which the Senate would confirm. The notorious Alexander Cummings was confirmed as Collector of Internal Revenue for the Fourth District of Pennsylvania, thus leaving the Governorship of Colorado Territory vacant. The Senate probably made the confirmation to get him out of that position.

The New York Herald says: "The resolutions adopted by the Republican Convention, at Richmond, were of a most radically radical character. Almighty God was thanked for the gift of Congress, and of Christian patriots. Andrew Johnson was called the fallen Lucifer of the Nineteenth century. Confiscation and the sale of lands of persistent rebels, at a low price, to those who remain loyal was recommended."

Friday & Mann's cotton warehouses at Savannah, Ga., with six hundred bales of cotton was destroyed by fire on Saturday night. Loss $100,000.

General Sickles has established a provost court at Aiken, South Carolina, it having become apparent that justice to freedmen cannot be obtained in the civil courts of that district.

The Governor of South Carolina estimates that there are fully one hundred thousand persons in that State who have not tasted meat in a month. Several cases of starvation are reported.

WHAT THEY ARE DOING.

The first issue of the Southern people, says the Harbinger Telegraph, after they had failed in the effort to destroy the Government, was to contribute no means and make no effort to repair injuries inflicted on the country by rebellion. The leaders in treason asserted, that as they had failed to erect an independent government, with slavery as its corner stone, on the ruins of the Union, they would abandon all purpose of supporting the legitimate Government of the country. Every traitor of influence either advised those who had confidence in him to leave the country or sit down in idleness, and let the country go to the devil. While collections of money are being daily made in the North to feed traitors in the South, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, and Louisiana are filled with roving bands of rebels, who continue to burn freedmen's school houses, murder defenseless black men, and indulge in every outrage known to brutality against the laws of order and personal security. The ruffians who are engaged in the perpetration of such outrages are the first to apply for and receive the aid contributed by the people of the North, to relieve starvation in the South. They feed and fatten on Northern charity, and then turn in fury to murder any defenseless Northern men, who may be pursuing an honest enterprise in their neighborhood. The Zook murder is the evidence that we assert the truth. The incendiarism and assassinations which daily and nightly occur in the South, show that the people we feed and fatten are still our implacable enemies, the ungrateful scoundrels of our free form of government, the ignorant and ready tools of all our foes. It is time that these facts are appreciated. We are no opponents of genuine and deserved charity. But it is folly to cast jewels before swine. The more we feed unrepentant traitors the longer will they refrain from labor necessary to feed themselves. There are less natural causes for famine in the South than in any other part of the world. Had the people of the South engaged in honest labor immediately after they failed in dishonorable warfare on the Government, there would have been no starvation in that section to day. And as long as we feed unrepentant traitors, just so long will they refuse to work, and amuse themselves by burning school houses and murdering Northern men who labor in their midst. The people of the South asked to be let alone in rebellion. Let us now leave them alone to recover from the penalties of treason. In the end it will prove more merciful than to feed them.

In the general tumble of European stocks, bonds and securities of all kinds, it is interesting to notice that United States bonds are quoted higher at the present time than they have hitherto been. There is nothing remarkable in this fact, for it is natural that capitalists should desire to transfer their funds from endangered investments. It shows, however, that the public mind in Europe is very distrustful of the future and that the United States is regarded as the safest depository for surplus cash.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.—On the 10th instant, Mrs. Maria Greene, wife of Major S. C. Greene, U. S. A., was killed at the depot, in Columbus, Ohio. She was en route from Louisville, Kentucky, to Philadelphia, and got off the Cincinnati train to wait for the Pittsburgh train to be made up. She had been seated in the dining hall but a few moments, when hearing a train moving, and supposing it was the one she was waiting for she ran out and attempted to get on one of the cars while the train was in motion. Grasping the railing on the steps of the car, and failing to place her feet upon the steps, she was thrown under the train, and before she could be rescued the wheels of the cars passed over her, cutting off one hand, breaking several ribs, and crushing her skull. She was dragged a hundred feet before the train was stopped, and was so terribly mangled that she lived only ten minutes. Her remains were properly taken care of, and await the arrival of her husband, who is now serving on the staff of General Pope, at Montgomery, Alabama. Both Major Greene and his wife are well known to many of our readers, as they formerly resided in this city. Major Greene was on duty in the Subsistence Department, under General Beckwith and Colonel Bell, for several years.—WASHINGTON STAR.

The Indians.—St. Louis, April 22.—The Democrat's special correspondent with General Hancock's Indian expedition gives an account of a council held at Fort Larned on the 12th instant, between General Hancock and fifteen Cheyenne chiefs. The council amounted to nothing; only a part of the chiefs of the tribe was in attendance, and those present gave but an equivocal reply to Gen. Hancock's speech to them. The next day General Hancock moved toward the Cheyenne camps, and when about half way was met by over three hundred chiefs and warriors, who professed peace; but that night the whole tribe abandoned the village, leaving their wigwags, but taking everything of value. General Custer's command was sent in pursuit, but had not returned when the latter closed.

The indications point to a confederation between the Cheyennes and the Sioux for evil purposes. General Hancock intended to burn the Cheyenne village on the 14th.

PLANTS.—Persons in want of plants are referred to the advertisement of M. C. Deatrich in to day's paper.

REMOVED.—Mrs. Hollibarger has removed her Millinery store to Church Street and opened out a stock of new goods. See advertisement.

COOL.—Since the rain storm of Tuesday night the weather has been rather cool for comfort, and fears for the safety of much of the fruit which is now in full bloom, are entertained.

MEETING.—We have been requested to announce that a meeting of young men will be held in the Council Room on Monday evening next for the purpose of forming a Base Ball Club.

SCALLAWAGS.—There is a class of people in the world too cramped and narrow minded in their views of things in general to look beyond self. Touch their pockets and their bristlers are up. Such characters are not unfrequently foul-mouthed. No allusion to those who slander the editor.

RECEIVED.—We acknowledge the receipt of $2 from Abram Miller, Mt. Morris, Ogle Co. Ill.

We also acknowledge the receipt of $2 from Thomas Pennell, South Charleston, Clark Co., Ohio.

EMPIRE MACHINE.—Mr. Reininger, agent for the Empire Sewing Machine, requests us to say that he is now receiving orders for machines. The Family Machine can be seen in operation at his room.

FISH.—We are under obligations to our friend Capt. Snively, for a present of a pair of fine shad. It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that he has made arrangements to supply the public with fish during the season from the Basement cellar of Mr. Deatrich's house.

BODY RECOVERED.—The body of the little boy, son of Mr. Jacob Foreman, drowned in the Conococheague Creek, on the 23 inst., was found on Thursday of last week, the 18th, in the mill dam (formerly Frantz's) nearly two miles from the spot where he fell in. The day following his remains were taken to the burying ground at Snow Hill, near this place, and interred.

LIGHTNING RODS.—The attention of persons who have not yet secured rods for their buildings is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Hause & Co. in to day's paper. One of the firm having the advantage of many years experience in the business, and being residents of our county, should secure for them the confidence of the public.

ARRESTED.—Henry Burnett, who stole a watch and some money from Isaac H. Keen, of Guilford Township, about one year ago, was arrested in this place on Saturday evening last by officer Horner. He is now in jail awaiting trial.

The Court last week sentenced D. B. Little to pay a fine of one cent, the costs of prosecution, and be imprisoned in the county jail one day. He had been found guilty of gaming.

DEAD.—Adam Shaak, Jr., who belonged to the 6th Maryland Regiment and was wounded in the battle of the Wilderness, died in Hagerstown on Sunday last, after a long and severe illness.

IMPORTANT ARRANGEMENT.—The Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Company of the United States have introduced the novel idea of making the Telegraph wires answer the purpose of the mails for all business correspondence by reducing the rates for that purpose, which promises a great advantage to business men having important orders to transmit to corresponding houses.

DIVIDEND.—It will be seen from a notice in our advertising columns that the Board of Directors of the Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Company of the U. S. have declared a Quarterly Dividend, (the seventh) up to April 1st, at the rate of ten per cent, per annum, on all paid up stock.

BOOK STORE AND BINDERY.—We invite particular attention to the advertisement of J. N. Snider, proprietor of the Chambersburg Book Store and Bindery, in to day's paper. Persons from this section visiting Chambersburg, and desiring any article in his line, will do well to give him a call.

Deposit one cent in bank, double the amount deposited weekly for one year—as one cent the first week, two cents the second week, four cents the third week, and so on for the fifty-two weeks—what do you think the amount would be at the end of the year? Figure it up, boys, no sea.

SHADE TREES.—Dr. Hall in his Journal of Health, says respecting light: No room without the glorious sunshine is fit for any living creature—man or beast. The glorious sunshine, the free and boundless gift of a beneficent Creator, is the source of all buoyant, healthful life.

A correspondent of the Southern Cultivator states that a friend of his had a large number of the barren mulberry trees growing in his yard, and casting such a dense shade that the rays of the sun never reached the ground. He called his attention to this, and advised him to remove every alternate one. This was not done; they were allowed to stand. That season he lost his wife and three children by sickness. The correspondent referred to attributes this sickness to the dampness in and around his friend's house, caused by the deep shade trees. His inference is probably a correct one for a free admission of cheering light can never be excluded from any house by shade trees (or anything else) but at the peril of health.

LADY'S FRIEND.—The Lady's Friend for May is a beautiful number. "The Recognition" is a superb Steel Engraving. It also contains the usual elegant Steel Fashion Plate and is otherwise handsomely embellished and replete with the most interesting literary matter. Price (with engraving) $2 50 a year. Address Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut St., Philadelphia.

CONFIRMED.—M. P. Welch, Post Master of Chambersburg, who was lately rejected, was re-nominated by the President on Wednesday of last week and his nomination confirmed by the Senate.

"Barney" of the Spirit being nominated upon the rejection of Mr. Welch, the Senate made choice of the least of two evils by confirming the latter.

RECONSTRUCTION.—SENATOR WILSON IN RICHMOND. RICHMOND, April 22.—Senator Wilson addressed a crowd of about 6,000 persons, from the Capitol steps, this afternoon. Nearly all those present were colored—though all classes of whites were represented. He was introduced by Governor Pierpont. After alluding to the fact that he visited Richmond upon the invitation of several members of both Houses of the Legislature, he proceeded to give a history of the Reconstruction bill. He then related events since the close of the war to show that Johnson's policy, adopted against the will of the nation, had caused more unhappiness than the work of any other one man in America. It again excited men who had been more than willing to except the terms of Congress. The Reconstruction bill was not passed to humiliate the South, but to meet the needs of the whole country.

The question now before the Southern States is whether they will elect men to State offices and Congress who favor an honest acceptance of the policy of the nation, or men who still mourn over the "lost cause" and hope something may turn up to overthrow that policy and restore old ideas and old measures. Patriotism demands that the latter class shall never be permitted to participate in the management of State or General Government. The speaker wanted all classes of men, the colored, the white, the loyal, and those who had abandoned the wicked heresy of secession, to stand together on the national platform. As for the colored vote of Virginia, he had no fears of its being controlled by the secessionists. He appealed to the old Whigs of Virginia, the followers of Henry Clay, who declared that "slavery was a wrong that no contingency could make right," to seize the occasion and unite their fortunes with the Union party. Now was their day and hour to carry Virginia by an overwhelming majority.

To that class who are disfranchised for participating in the rebellion he would say that by speaking and working for the National policy they would show their countrymen that the disabilities now imposed upon them ought to be removed, and a country that had proved its generosity would not forget them. Governor Pierpont, after Senator Wilson concluded, made a brief speech, advising the colored people to work and make the old State bloom again.

Messrs. Hunnicutt and Tucker followed in short addresses.
