The Surratt trial still drags its tedious length along, the evidence for sometime being directed mainly to falsify the testimoby for the prosecution, which was most con. clusive as to the guilt of the prisoner.

- The reconstruction bill as passed by Congress and sent to the President for approval, is explanatory of the first law and in subucd. it can only be subject, in all respects, to the military commanders of the respective Congress. Section second makes the commanders of the districts in the South subject only to the General of the army. Diswhatever grade or character, who is derelict in duty. Section third gives to the general of the army the power to remove district commanders and the appointment of others, whenever in his judgement such action is needed. Section four approves the legality of the acts of the officers of the army already performed. Section five gives power to boards of registration to examine and decide whether individuals applying to be registered are ontitled to registration. Section six declares the rebellion, or had held it before, and who has afterwards engaged-in insurrection against the United States or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof, is entitled to be registered or to vote. The editor says: "The adoption of this law may be regarded in a moral sense as the impeachment of An- Wallace on the 25th ult., in which s drew Johnson. It legally deprives him of alrymen were killed and the soldiers the power of mischief. It fairly convicts back to the fort. A non-commissioned him of acts of usurpation. It unquestionably proves his faithlessness and without a plea to assist hiw, leaves him in the attitude of a traitor, ready to plunge the country in a civil war. Besides all this, this last act of Congress putsit out of the power of Andrew Johnson to remove the most petty officer acting now by the authority of the nation. How will the world regard this action? Surely all men everywhere who are able to understand the proceedings, will look upon them as a proof that Andrew Johnson is held by the American people as an enemy of their Government, and a dangerous obstacle in their path of progress. After being thus pilloricd in the sight of of the twolve, and Lyman had been one of mankina, will Andrew Johnson resign?"

FEARFUL EXPLOSION.—One of the boil ers in the Fulton cotton mill at Lancaster city exploded on Saturday last, killing the engineer, David Hantsh. The Superintendent was mortally wounded. The explosion carried a portion of the boiler, weighing three tons, for a dis tance of more than a square.
