

VILLAGE RECORD.

WAYNESBORO
Friday, October 4, 1867.

Gov. Swann has issued his proclamation declaring the new Constitution adopted. It goes into effect tomorrow, the 8th.

The people interested have voted in favor of the new county of Wisconsin, out of portions of Somerset and Worcester counties, Md., by 875 majority.

The vote of Washington county, Md., at the recent election was 1170 less than the registered vote of the county. The majority for the constitution was 181.

O'Loughlin, one of the Lincoln conspirators, has fulfilled his sentence. He died of yellow fever on the 28th ult., at Dry Tortugas. He was a school mate and companion of Booth.

General Grant has recently received a number of anonymous communications from different sections of the country warning him that his recent bold avowals of support of the Congressional policy of Reconstruction endanger his personal safety. The writers state that Wilkes Booths are to be found in the South to-day as well as immediately after the close of the war, and implore the General to be careful how he appears in public gatherings, and to take every precaution against assassination.

Dr. M. V. Garman, Nat. Kenny and Miss Caroline Heron were arrested on Thursday night in Philadelphia on a charge of manufacturing counterfeit bank notes. The officers also seized $22,600 of finished notes, $200,000 of unfinished notes, and the plates for printing notes on the Fourth National Bank of New York city, and fifty cent fractional currency, together with the presses, tools, &c. Since the arrest of Dr. Garman, it has been ascertained that he had a contract to supply notes on the First National Bank of Philadelphia, the work to be executed next week. Garman is supposed to be the man who first issued counterfeit fractional currency notes.

The passage of the heroic Sheridan through the country is one grand demonstration of delight on the part of the people. At every railroad station and crossing he is welcomed by crowds of fair ladies and brave men, all anxious to manifest their gratitude to the hero of the South-west. Such demonstrations, coming spontaneously from the public heart are a thousand times more significant than the feeble cheers which greet the President when he approaches a crowd of office-seekers. Philip Henry Sheridan should be one of the proudest men in America.

We quote the following grave statements from a speech delivered at Cincinnati last Saturday evening by General Thayer U. S. Senator from Nebraska:

I have recently been in Maryland and the District of Columbia, having left Washington only a few days ago. While there I took especial pains to inform myself in regard to the present purposes of Andrew Johnson, and I obtained what I am about to state from reliable authority.

I declare, upon my responsibility as a Senator of the United States, that to-day Andrew Johnson meditates and designs forcible resistance to the authority of Congress. I make the statement deliberately, having derived it from unquestioned and unquestionable authority. I cannot point out the occasion on which he may attempt to use military force. It may be to prevent the assembling of Congress, or when assembled, if the House of Representatives passes articles of impeachment; or, it may be for the purpose of forcing Southern Senators and Representatives to seats in Congress.

The question may be asked: How can he do such a thing? You recollect that six months ago, Gov. Swann, of Maryland, was elected U. S. Senator, and that a few weeks afterward he declined the office, giving "grave reasons of State" as the cause. It was found that he could not be depended on for Johnson's purposes.

There is to-day a standing army in Maryland—an organized militia force, such as no other State in the Union has, that is officered mainly by returned rebels. When the time comes which he looks for, under some pretense, Johnson may declare Maryland and the District of Columbia under martial law, and call upon Gov. Swann to bring forth his militia.

There is nothing that will deter Johnson from this purpose except, when the issue comes, that his courage may fail. I make this statement that the American people may know the danger that threatens their peace and safety. And I hope you, the people of Ohio, will be warned in time, and at the ballot box rebuke and prevent the mad designs of this bad man, who is now acting President of the United States.

But, gentlemen, let me say to you that whenever Johnson attempts force and orders any soldiers he may have under his command, to resist the power of Congress his doom is sealed. (Great applause.) The fate from which he has preserved the traitor Jefferson Davis, will then be meted out to him. (Applause.) Aye, when that time comes, five hundred thousand men from Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio, will leap to arms and tramp the soil of Maryland, to reach the beleaguered Capitol and rescue it from the hands of rebels and traitors. (Great cheers.)

Garibaldi has been arrested on the confines of Italy, by authority of the Italian government. The movement against Rome is thus frustrated for the present.

Election bids in this State are forfeited to the State for the benefit of the poor.

"A hint to the wise is sufficient."

The St. Louis Democrat is eminently characterized for its reliable principles. Up to the present time, from the initial progress of the Kansas imbroglio, it has ever been distinguished for its Republican proclivities and uncompromising loyalty to the Federal Government. Taking into consideration its surroundings, its conspicuous position in the precincts of Rebeldom; its advocacy of Republican principles; and its superior facilities for acquiring intelligence of Southern sentiments and southern proceedings, whether of ostensible or covert acts; or whether concealed from Northern view by the impenetrable veil of secrecy—it would display manifest wisdom on the part of the leaders of the Republican Party, and it would be conducive to the best interests, prosperity and security of our Country, to give heed to its wise suggestions, to the effect that the Governors of the respective legal States and the prominent Generals and Officers who served in the Army of the Republic during the War forthwith assemble in convention with the view of adopting such measures for the conservation of the liberties of our Country, as, from the exigencies of the times they, in their wise deliberations, shall deem most expedient. These suggestions of the Democrat are the result of mature deliberation—the premonitions of impending danger. If the exalted Fanatics of the Union Party, possess the requisite degree of political prudence and patriotism, they will institute prompt and decisive measures for the suppression, in its inception, of the contemplated insurrection.

For the whole Country to organize into Societies and Regiments, and thus to be extensively and amply prepared to repel invasion. To guard against surprise by instant preparation and ceaseless vigilance. The South have received compulsory lessons in the school of Adversity. By an experience of four years war, they have perfected themselves in the Arts of war, political chicanery, perjury, and cruelty; and, under the Academy of Andrew Johnson, are amply capacitated, in order to consummate their nefarious purposes, to take advantage of Northern treason, incoherence and imbecility. The prognosis implied in the suggestion of the St. Louis Democrat is of the following import. That another sanguinary War is impending. It is inevitable. All the plans of invasions, insurrections, incendiaries, assassinations, battles, strategic manoeuvres, raids, massacres, &c. are fully matured, and antecedently to the termination of the Johnson Administration, this diabolical conspiracy will attain its culmination. W. HANSON, Teacher, Washington Township, Sept. 28 1867.

SANTA ANNA.—A letter from Vera Cruz, dated on the 14th ult., to the New York Tribune, says: Santa Anna still remains a prisoner in the Castle of San Juan de Ulua. Very little sympathy, if any, is expressed on the subject of his hard fate. Sometimes he is allowed to move about upon the parapets, under strong guard. He can then see the spot from where the ball was fired which took off his leg, and can ruminate on the different position he might have held had he been true to his native land.

HANCOCK DISGUSTED.—A despatch to the Boston Journal says of the serenade to the Generals in Washington:

An attempt to make the demonstration to General Hancock a partisan affair, in the interests of the administration, was severely rebuffed by that officer, who was so disgusted with the Rebel element present that he said to General Cobb: "I have asked you to face the Rebels in the field, and don't hesitate to ask you to face them now."

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post says that Chief Justice Chase, in alluding to the powers of Congress over the question of reconstruction, said Congress possessed the entire power, including that of confiscation, and that should there be a slip up on the present reconstruction acts, he had no doubt a law confiscating Southern property would be passed.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27.—The interments from yellow fever for the twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock this morning were seventy-seven.

Hon. Thaddeus Stevens is fast recovering from his recent indisposition.

A CURE FOR HOG CHOLERA.—The St. Michael's (Md) Comet states that far is said to be a speedy cure for the disease now prevailing among hogs. The tar should be mixed with the corn, and thus fed to the hogs. We have heard of several farmers who have done this, and in every case that has come to our knowledge, hogs that had the disease were cured, and its ravages stopped. Mr. Benjamin Sherwood, of Queen Anne's county, informs us that one of his hogs was attacked with cholera. As soon as he discovered it he administered a plentiful dose of tar; the hog soon recovered. Mr. Sherwood immediately procured a barrel of tar and mixed it with their food, and not another case occurred. Several of his neighbors tried the same thing with like results. This is a simple remedy and easily tried. The extent of this disease and the number of animals that are dying makes any effectual remedy a matter of importance.

A CURIOUS CASE.—Several days ago E. F. Linton, a tavern keeper in Philadelphia, was placed on trial on the charge of keeping open his bar on Sunday. The guilt of the accused was fully established, but the commonwealth failed to prove that he had a license, and as this was necessary to support the indictment, the case had to be abandoned and Linton was acquitted of the charge. He was then tried for selling liquor on Sunday. Witness proved that they saw the defendant furnishing liquor, and parties drinking, but that they did not see him receive any money, and the defendant was acquitted. He was then placed on trial for selling liquor without license, when he produced his license in court and was discharged.

A terribly destructive drought prevails in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana. There will not be more than half the usual corn crop. The grass is killed out entirely, and many forest trees are dying.

LOCAL MATTERS.

SALE.—See advertisement of personal property for sale by J. C. Long, in another column.

LAST MEETING.—We have been requested to announce that a Union Meeting will be held in this place on Monday evening next, which will be addressed by the Hon. Chas. Lee Armour, of Maryland.

ANOTHER SUPPLY.—Mr. F. Fourtiman has just returned from the East and is now receiving a supply of fresh drugs, medicines, and other goods in the drug line. Give him a call.

PUBLIC SALE.—The valuable farm and town property, belonging to W. W. Walker, for sometime offered at private sale in our paper, will be sold at public sale on the 19th inst. The land is the best quality of limestone in a high state of cultivation, and the town property is one of the most convenient and pleasantly situated on Main Street.

DECEASED.—Mrs. Price, wife of Geo. B. Price, dec'd, died suddenly at her residence in this place on Wednesday. We understand she received a fall on Monday, and death, it is supposed, ensued from the effects of an internal injury. She was aged about 35 years.

FROST.—The first frost of the season in this region made its appearance on Wednesday morning last. It was an unusually severe one for the early stage of the season—We understand the corn generally is well matured, but the fodder has been somewhat damaged by the frost.

POLITICAL MEETINGS.—The first meeting of the campaign was held by the Union party in this place on Saturday evening last, which was addressed by Wilson Hays, Esq., of Chambersburg, and Hon. John Cessna of Bedford. The Democrats held a meeting on Tuesday evening, which was addressed by Messrs. Sharpe and Stenger, of Chambersburg. Both meetings were well attended and considerable enthusiasm manifested.

THE ELECTION.—The election in this State for Judge of the Supreme Court, members of the Legislature and County officers, will be held on Tuesday next, October 8th. The Union candidate for Supreme Judge is H. W. Williams, of Pittsburg, and the Democratic candidate George Starswood, of Philadelphia. The result, so far as its influence will be likely to bear upon questions at issue between Andy Johnson and the honored Representatives of the loyal people of the country, must be viewed as not second in importance to that of any election held since the inauguration of the Slaveholders' Rebellion. It behooves those therefore who endorse the Reconstruction Policy of Congress on Tuesday next. On the other hand, those who disapprove of the Congressional policy and favor that of the President, should record their verdict on Tuesday accordingly. Let such as honestly believe that the President is not solely in the interest of defunct traitors, but is administering the affairs of government honestly and for the best interests of the country at large, cast their votes in his interest on Tuesday next. The result must be regarded as an endorsement of either Congress or the President. Let the expression then at the polls on Tuesday be full and fair.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs. Catharine Long, an aged widow lady, died suddenly from an attack of apoplexy, at her residence in this place, on Monday morning last. She had partaken of an unusually hearty supper and was in the enjoyment of her usual good health. About 10 o'clock she was threatened with an attack of cramp. A couple of hours later the symptoms grew worse and a dose of medicine was administered. She then laid down and in a few moments was a corpse. She was aged about 70 years.

DAY CREEK, Iowa.
Sept. 25th 1867.

Ed. Village Record.—Dear Sir:—Having noticed an article in your paper of Sept. 20th, to the effect, that corn is selling at Oskaloosa, Iowa, for eight cents per bushel, I take this method of informing you that such is not the case.

There are quite a number of us from your immediate vicinity, living here in this State, and we do not wish your eastern patrons to form so poor an opinion of our State; as they undoubtedly will on the perusal of the above named article. The corn market has not been as low as eight cents per bushel for the last two years, had you have placed a cipher to the right of the eight, making it eighty, you would have been nearer right, as corn is now selling for sixty-five cents per bushel, and we are offered $100, the corn to be delivered in January next.

If we see any more misstatements about the Hawkeye State, we will have to do with the Record Office, as you said some time ago, that you would do with the Dry Creek Post Office, blow it up. Yours truly, JACOB BOCK.

REV. 'BILLY DEVANS.'—This well known colored Preacher, now more than three score and ten years of age, who left his master, Wm. Heyser, Esq., some twenty years ago, and went North in search of that freedom which was then denied his race in this State, recently returned to our town on a visit, and has been preaching to large audiences of both colors, in a style of oratory which is peculiar to himself, and certainly possesses the merit of originality, which cannot be said of all sermons we hear. On last Sabbath morning and afternoon, he held forth to a large collection of people in a woods near the Franklin Railroad a short distance North-west of town, where he will preach his farewell Sermon next Sabbath afternoon, in prior to his return to his home, which is in Buffalo, New York. Billy can neither read nor write, but preaches from memory upon topics which others have read to him.—Hag. Herald.

"Yes," quietly remarked her kinsman, the owner, "it's a subdued color."
