

VILLAGE RECORD. WAYNESBORO. Friday, December 25, 1869.

Both Houses of Congress adjourned from Monday last until the 6th of January.

A Philadelphia despatch says the jury in the Twitchell case was completed on Monday, after a very large number had been challenged. The trial is progressing.

From the 3d to the 10th of January 1869, a week of prayer is besought under the authority of the Evangelical Alliance over the whole world.

Hall, in his Journal of Health, says that the more a consumptive person stays in the house, the more certain and speedy will be his death.

A reunion of the western Armies took place Wednesday week in Chicago. Nearly two thousand officers were present, including Generals Grant and Sherman, Thomas, Schofield, McDowell, and others.

The nephew of Thaddeus Stevens, who was to have $100,000 of the Great Commoners' wealth, if he abstained ten years from liquor and tobacco, or would be obliged to surrender it to the orphans of the soldiers if he indulged, says he will not rob the poor orphans.

It is estimated that thirty thousand men in the United States are at work every Sunday on railroads alone. How many are at work on daily newspapers, in distilleries, manufactories, and the like, could hardly be estimated. Yet we are a rather Christian people.

THAT TERRIBLE REBELLION.—We are constantly reminded (says the Harrisburg Telegraph) of the terrible loss of life during the late war, by the publication on the part of the Quartermaster General of "Rolls of Honor," or lists of the Union dead, fifteen of which have already been published, five are now in the hands of the printers, and it will take six more to complete the number. Those lists will contain a list of graves of nearly 200,000 soldiers, with the records of the place where the remains are found, and a list of nearly 100,000 graves which are yet unknown, but which existing records may identify. Careful records of everything found with each body, and all that could serve to help identify, have been preserved. The Quartermaster General reports that the wooden boards are fast decaying, and recommends hollow rectangular blocks of galvanized iron, filled with earth or cement.

By the Rolls of Honor, and the data, it appears that nearly 400,000 Union men laid down their lives to save this country—fully as many are now enrolled as militia in this great Commonwealth. As to the treatment of their murderers, we occasionally receive telegrams similar to those dated at Richmond yesterday. "The farm of Ex Governor Wise, in Princess Anne county, so long held by the Government, was yesterday surrendered to the owner by the United States authorities"—of course appointed by the President, or under his direction. In addition to that we learn that "the Government also yesterday ordered the payment of rents to the owner of the Libby prison for three years' use of it." Could anything be more forgiving or merciful for murders committed than that? The owners not only escape punishment for the irreparable injuries they have done the nation, but receive their property back, after once being to all intents and purposes confiscated—and advanced in value at that.

A letter has been received at St. Louis from General Sheridan which puts at rest all the stories that the Indians recently severely punished by General Custer belonged to a friendly tribe. They were Cheyennes and Sioux, and among the spoils found in their camp were the horses stolen from Clarke's train, and photographs and other articles taken from the houses robbed in Kansas last fall. General Sheridan states that the reservations on which these Indians are placed abound with game, and that the Government makes a great mistake in providing them with any great amount of food. General Sheridan thinks that the fight is pretty well knocked out of the Indians.

STRANGE, IF TRUE.—The York Press is credibly informed that Mr. Kony, engineer on the locomotive "Lady Washington," which collided with the engine of the "night accommodation" a few nights since, at Red Bank, on the Northern Central railroad, had a supernatural vision of this fatal casualty a few hours previous to its occurrence. It appears that he was lying at Bridgeport with his engine, awaiting the arrival of the night accommodation train, and being somewhat fatigued and drowsy, he fell asleep for an hour or so. While asleep he had the full particulars of the collision revealed in a dream. Every incident connected with the sad affair was as minutely and graphically portrayed as it really occurred. When he woke up, seeing a train on the track just above him, he took it for granted that it was the one for which he was waiting. He then proceeded on his journey down the road and met with the disaster. It also says the condition of Mr. Kony is critical, although some hopes are entertained by his physician that he will recover.

LOCAL MATTERS.

A "Fat Roast" and "Merry Christmas" to all our good-paying patrons.

WANTED.—A load of dry oak or hickory wood.

CLOVER SEED WANTED.—See advertisement of J. Ground, of Leitersburg.

The case of Mrs. Rowland has been continued to the next term of the Washington county (Md.) Court.

The adjourned Court fixed for January 4th, has been dispensed with, the regular January Term to continue three weeks.

According to Prof. S. V. White, there will be a total eclipse of the sun, August 7, 1869, which will be visible in all parts of the United States.

CARRIER'S ADDRESS.—Our Carrier will present town patrons with his annual address on New Year's Day. We bespeak a liberal reward for his past services.

DAMAGES.—The Damage Commissioners notify the public that all claims must be filed with the Clerk at Harrisburg before the 15th day of January. See advertisement.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Rev. A. Buhman of this place will deliver a Temperance Lecture in the M. E. Church on New Year's Eve.

A man in Indiana was choked to death by a piece of beef on Thanksgiving Day, and his neighbors say it was a judgement on him for not eating turkey.

WHEELING MATCH.—A Wheeling Match for a six hundred pound hog, and the mammoth pig, "January," will come off on New Year's Day. See advertisement.

THE WEATHER.—The weather for the past few days has been rather mild in temperature, and the snow has been gradually disappearing.—The sleighing season has thus been ended for the present.

NEW FIRM.—Our neighbor, Mr. W. A. Reid, has associated with him in the Grocery business, Mr. Americus E. Waynant. The advertisement of the new firm will appear next week.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.—J. F. Kurtz has a large and cheap assortment of China Toys and a full line of Confectionaries for the Holidays.

OYSTERS.—We are under obligations to Messrs. Henneberger & Hoover for a present of a quart of very fine oysters. They keep the best quality always on hand and retail them at 50 cents per quart. Cheap!

Notwithstanding the big snows and severe weather for some time, that eccentric genius, the man with the "white hat," has failed to make his appearance. Snowed up, no doubt.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR.—Our clever friend, John A. Hysong, Esq., of Mercersburg, has been admitted to practice in the several Courts of Franklin County. His card will appear in our next issue.

RECEIPTS.—Our receipts for subscription for the past week are as follows: Geo. Dentler, $2 00; T. Nickodemus, 2 00; Isaiah Sprengle, 2 00; Miss M. C. Snowberger, 2 00.

There seems to be a prevailing death in local matters as well as "money matters." Even marriages are getting to be a rarity.—Matrimony involves responsibilities which Bachelors seem unwilling to assume. Fading damsels have certainly cause for despondency under the existing state of affairs.

To day we enter upon the Holiday season. From time immemorial it has been a custom during this season to present and receive gifts. In the general distribution the poor should be remembered, especially the scantily clad little ones, heirs to poverty, through fate or misfortune. There are doubtless those in our town and neighborhood without sufficient clothing to protect their frail forms from the chill winds of winter. In the distribution of gifts such should not be forgotten. "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord."

On the 1st of January every man ought to pay up his debts, and start out with the new year without owing any one a cent. We therefore invite those who are indebted to us for the Record, and for advertising and job work, to call and pay up, so that we may be able to live up to the advice we have given above.

CURE FOR FOUNDERED HORSES.—Take a lump of alum, the size of a walnut, powder it and dissolve in warm water. The horse must be drenched with this liquor and it will throw him into a profuse perspiration, and he will soon be as well as ever; it should be as soon as you ascertain his condition. So says an exchange.

RAPE.—A rape was committed upon the person of a little girl named Sellars, about nine years old, in Greencastle, on Sunday last, by a disreputable character named Itohes. At last accounts Itohes had not been apprehended.

The 13th instant was the anniversary of Washington's death.

SPLENDID CHRISTMAS PRESENT, FREE TO ALL.—The enterprising Proprietors of the American Stock Journal have put up 300,000 in packages of 3 each, with a finely Illustrated Show Bill, Premium List, &c., which they offer to send free, and post paid to all who apply for them. Every Farmer and Stock Breeder should avail themselves of this generous offer (to give away over $30,000 worth of books), as the three numbers contain near 100 pages of choice original articles, and a great number of valuable receipts for the cure of various diseases to which Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine, Poultry, &c., are liable. Farmers will find this monthly a very efficient aid in all the departments of Farming and Stock Breeding. It has a Veterinary Department under the charge of one of the ablest Professors in the United States, who answers through the JOURNAL, free of charge, all questions relating to Sick, Injured or Diseased Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine or Poultry. Thus every Subscriber has a Horse and Cattle Doctor free. This JOURNAL is furnished at the low price of $1.00 a year, specimen copies free. Address N. P. BOYER & Co., Publishers, Parkersburg, Chester Co., Pa.

BURGLARY IN MERCERSBURG.—On Saturday night last, the store of Michael Fallon, in Mercersburg, was entered by burglars and robbed of $4,600, of promissory notes, book accounts amounting to about $4,000, bank notes and small change to the amount of $125, one set of single harness, one buffalo robe, 3 revolving pistols, 2 single barreled pistols, 3 silver American watches, table and pocket cutlery and a variety of other hardware goods. The robbers left no clue behind them. The house of Samuel Seiler was searched, but Samuel was cleared of all connection with the crime. The parties who committed the robbery have doubtless gone South.—Repository.

Since the above was in type we learn that Mr. Fallon on Tuesday last recovered the stolen goods, including books, notes and accounts with the money enclosed in one of the books. The whole was found stowed away in a fodder house on the farm of a Mr. Johnson, near McConnellsburg.

George J. Baisley, Esq., has been appointed Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue of Franklin county, being the 4th Division of the 26th District, by Collector Ashcom. We are glad of this appointment, and believe it will be eminently satisfactory to the public. There is no more active nor useful Republican in the county than George, and his services have long merited this reward.—Repository.

ORE LAND FOR SALE.—Apply to A. S. Mond, Quincy, Pa.

The latest fancy potato story is told of a man in Hubbardston, Vt., who bought one eye of a "No. 4" potato for $20, and raised from it this season potatoes that he sold for $750, and had three left. Eight were bought by one man for $400.

The Trenton (New Jersey) Gazette says: "The last survivor of the party of young ladies who strewed flowers in the path of Gen. Washington as he passed through Trenton in 1789, on his way to New York, to assume the Presidency, is Mrs. Sarah Hiland, now nearly ninety years of age, and a resident of Cape May county, and, notwithstanding her advanced age, she is still vigorous and in good health."

The champion eater of the United States is named Josiah Plumb. A few days ago he entered a restaurant in Hudson, N. Y., and offered to eat all that any one would pay for. The challenge having been accepted, he disposed of the following articles: Ten pieces of apple pie, six corn cakes, a quarter of a pound of crackers, six cups of peanuts, thirty pickled eels, four lemons, an ounce of candy, and two bowls of clam soup. He then drank six tumblers of water, and offered to eat a hundred raw oysters. No one doubted his ability to accomplish the feat, but no one was willing to pay for the oysters, and so he went off grumbling that he wasn't half full.

A gentleman, of undoubted veracity, writing from Illinois, says: While out hunting, two weeks ago, I was in some corn fields which belong to a man named Sullivan. He probably owns more land than any farmer in the State. He is the proprietor of nine townships, each six miles square. This year he has twenty-five thousand acres of corn. This seems like a big story, but it is nevertheless true. It was just the easiest thing in the world to get lost in one of his corn fields. I strayed into one field, and walked four and a half miles before I came to the end of a row of corn which I followed. A party of six of us were absent four days, and during that time killed two geese, two hundred and sixty-three mallard ducks, besides chickens, cranes, etc., that we did not count.

KU KLUX IN TENNESSEE.—An old man has arrived at Nashville from Haywood county, Tennessee, who tells a frightful tale of rebel persecution and oppression. He is a peaceable citizen, owns a hundred and fifty acres of land, and was quietly cultivating it with his sons. A few nights since his house was attacked by Ku Klux, a regular battle was fought between the old man and his sons on one side, and the masked devils on the other. At last, one of the sons being shot in the shoulder, the old man left the house, taking a gun with him, and took up a position in the woods near by. Three times the Ku Klux endeavored to set fire to the house, but each time the old man fired upon them and drove them off. The result of the fight was that four rascals were severely wounded. The next day the old man left with all his sons, leaving his property and crops to go to ruin.

The National Intelligencer, printed at Washington is dead. It was in debt $50,000 to one Polkshorn retired printer who has foreclosed upon the concern.

John McCaul, of Chesterfield county, Va., sentenced to be hung on the 18th instant, for horse etching, has had his sentence commuted to imprisonment for fifteen years.

A young mother in Ohio recently bit off her child's nose in a dream.

The Ohio Steamboat Disaster.—A touching appeal was made by Miss Jones to a gentleman on board. As the wood work was becoming too heated to bear, and the flames were forcing their way gradually into the cabin, she went to him, saying: "Oh! Mr. —, you have talked to me this evening, you have danced with me, you know who I am and where I came from; save me! Oh, save me! Oh, save me!" He told her he had a wife to save, and could not help her. Poor girl, she is beyond earthly help now.

A PRANTIC HUSBAND.—One of the gentlemen on board had the presence of mind to unhinge a door, which he threw into the river; and after his wife and he had jumped in, he placed her in a position to reach the shore: "Now, stay here, dear," was his request, "until I can fix myself some way, and we can both be saved." Imagine the husband's agony, just as he had procured something that would float, to see a man swim toward the frail support of his wife and knock her away from it. She was drowned.

A DOUBLE ESCAPE.—One gentleman and wife escaped in rather a romantic manner. Fastening life preservers to both of their persons, he tied her right arm to his left, then took a shutter, over which they placed both arms. "Now! one—two—three—jump!" he cried, when both jumped, and after a little manoeuvring they arrived safely on shore, minus, however, several articles of apparel needed to make them presentable.

AN AWFUL SCENE.—A lady on board the States relates that as she and her husband were moving toward the shore, in the water, she saw one of the life boats filled with people who had escaped. But all at once the American begins backing toward the shore, and mercifully the ruder strikes the boat, crushing and upsetting it. None of those passengers were saved, escaping danger only to meet death in another form.

From the shore could be seen women, with nothing but their robes de nuit to protect them, rushing about in the flames, screaming or help; mothers with their children in their arms, most of them babies, rushing about frantically.

One mother, holding her baby in her arms, ran to the guards, but the water seemed to her only a chilly grave. Then she jumped in the cabin again; then to the guards. The last that was seen of her she was standing up with her baby hugged closer to her, in her awful death, burning up.

A DEATH STRUGGLE.—A gentleman with his sister, a lovely and accomplished young lady, were passengers on the United States. At the first shock the gentleman was thrown from his bed clear on the floor. Hastily pulling on his pants, he rushed to the stateroom of his sister, burst open the door, and seizing her in his arms carried her down on the main deck, where, procuring a door shutter, he threw it overboard and leaped: fier with his sister in his arms. He placed her securely on the shutter, and was swimming behind, pushing it, with its precious load towards the shore, when, to his horror, a big, burly, and able bodied man swam up, pushed his sister off the board, and climbed upon it himself.

The young girl sank with a scream, and if she came to the surface it was so dark and the confusion so great that he could not find her. Maddened at the dastardly act, he made after the author, and seized him by the throat, a struggle to the death ensued. They rose and sunk together, still struggling, and when last seen were grappling with each other. Whether either were saved or both went down together, is not known. The sister sunk beneath the wave and was lost, but she was terribly avenged by her brother.

At the place, near Florence, where the boats collided the river takes a bend, though there is over twenty feet of water, which allowed them plenty of room.—From the Louisville Journal of Dec. 7.

If any of our readers are prematurely gray or are troubled with falling of the hair, dandruff or itching of the scalp, they have only to use Ring's Vegetable Ambrosia, and their trouble will soon be over. The preparation is not only a restorer of gray hair, but one of the most elegant hair dressings we have ever seen. It also by softening and invigorating the hair, prevents premature baldness and in many cases restores hair to bald heads.
