

VILLAGE RECORD.

WAYNESBORO. Friday, November 19, 1899.

Hon. Amos Kendall died at Washington on Friday. A lucky clergyman in New York took a $5,000 wedding fee last week. Hon. Robert J. Walker died on Thursday...

Mrs. Margaret Beck and her children recovered $17,000 damages against the Northern Central Railroad, in Baltimore, on Wednesday, for causing the death of her husband by carelessness.

A special Washington despatch to the Cincinnati Gazette says the President has already completed the general portions of his message, but cannot finish it till he receives the reports of members of the Cabinet.

The veteran General Wool, when first seized with his last illness, remarked that this would be his last, sickness. "Oh, no, General," exclaimed one of his attendants, "you will recover, and be with us many years yet."

From the report of land companies out West, it seems that European colonization on the Plains is becoming quite extensive. Twelve hundred English families have founded a village which they call Wakefield, in Kansas...

Several of the friends of Dr. Paul Schœppe, now lying in jail at Carlisle, Pa., under sentence of death for the murder of Miss Steinecke, on Thursday appealed to Governor Geary against the issue of the death warrant...

A fearful railroad slaughter is reported by telegraph as having occurred on the track of the Pacific Railroad, near San Francisco, on Saturday morning. An eastward bound passenger train, just leaving the city, collided with a local passenger train...

REPENTANT.—The other day commissioner Delano received a letter from Cincinnati, enclosing a large amount of revenue stamps, which read as follows: "Dear sir: Inclosed please find three hundred and sixty dollars worth of stamps, which I stole. I've returned." The "conscience fund" now nearly reaches $150,000. It will probably soon be used in helping to liquidate the national debt.

Local preaching has become quite popular with several church denominations, and especially with the Methodists. Their local preachers number 10,000, in this country. They have just held a convention at Cincinnati. These men are not pastors, but, having usually some secular calling and also gifts to preach, are licensed and ordained. They have been a great power in that church. They resolved at this meeting that none ought to be licensed as local preachers who do not feel such a burning zeal for the salvation of men as to go into the highways and byways in search of opportunities to preach the Gospel to the poor.

The last earthly honors to the fame and services of the late General Wool were paid on Saturday at Troy. Distinguished men in the military and civil service were present, and the military escort was very large. Fifty thousand persons were in the streets, and the funeral ceremonies were very solemn.

Poor whisky is called "fifteenth amendment" in the South, because it's hard for rabs to swallow.

Rev. W. A. Crocker, of Norfolk, Va., has invented a "Peanut Picker, Separator and Cleaner."

A Burlington (Vt.) paper thus closes a marriage notice: "No cards, no cake; no Western paper need copy."

THE PRESBYTERIAN REUNION.—The reunion of the Old and New School branches of the Presbyterian Churches was consummated at Pittsburgh last week under circumstances and with ceremonies quite worthy so marked an event in the history of that Church. Whatever doubts had existed in the minds of some as to the advisability of the step, they appear to have been swept away in the outburst of fraternal feeling that accompanied the actual accomplishment of the measure. The friends of reunion rejoiced that a work to which they had devoted their best energies and warmest hopes was at last a complete fruition; its opponents forgot their fears and objections and united in the desire that only unmitigated good should flow from the act. The formal consolidation was made in an impressive and affecting manner. The delegates of the two Assemblies, who had been divided since 1837, leaving the churches in which they had respectively assembled, met in the theatre, joined ranks and together proceeded to the building in which the commemorative services were held. The occasion gave its inspiration to fervid expressions of joy with which the different speakers greeted the event, and as the Moderators of the two bodies joined hands and pronounced the division at end, with the invocation that what God had joined together no man should part, and the vast assembly burst into the grand old doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," the scene is described as reaching the morally sublime. It was further resolved to mark the event by the raising of five millions of dollars. The sum is large, but the united Churches are sufficiently strong and wealthy to make the promise good. The combined Church has now an aggregate of fifty-one Synods, two hundred and fifty-six Presbyteries, over four thousand ministers, and nearly half a million of members. It is believed that the present reunion is but preliminary to the combination of all the other divisions of Presbyterianism into one organization. A General Assembly of the united Church will be held in May next.

CONVENTION OF ATHEISTS.—The anti-religious as well as the religious world seems to be in motion. A Convention of Atheists says the Harrisburg Telegraph, numbering seventeen individuals, sixteen men and one woman, met a few days since in Philadelphia and gave utterance to some of their revolting ideas. They are a small and feeble body, and we do not think there is much danger of their expansion, but they mean to labor for the propagation of their pernicious doctrine. They are resolved on a vigorous campaign against Bible religion, which they call "superstition." They have missionaries in the field, an account of whose operations in the West was given by a member of the Convention—and they propose, as the next step towards the accomplishment of their wicked purpose, the establishment of an Infidel Tract Society. With the Bible in almost every family in the land, and the voice of God's ministers proclaiming the truth everywhere, we are not very apprehensive that the labor of these architects of evil will be rewarded by proselytes. But we should, nevertheless, remember that in the guise of a serpent Satan entered Paradise and corrupted the mother of mankind. The cunning of the devil is great, and the gates of the Church, as well as the highways and byways of the outside moral world, should be well guarded against the approach of his emissaries.

Last week a female teacher in Chicago by the name of Adelaide Herriock, beat Willie Atkins, son of Edward Atkins, connected with the Missouri Republican, for some slight infraction of the rules of the school. After whipping him severely, she threw him against a steam pipe, fracturing his skull, and during the fever which preceded his death, the little victim would throw up his arms, and shriek out: "Oh I don't strike me! Don't!"

The Republican comments on the affair as follows: "It is difficult to realize that such brutal, fiendish conduct was that of a female. Were it a man that had been guilty of this barbarity, there are those who would not hesitate to say that his life should pay the forfeit instantly, and that the father of the child would be the proper executor of justice in the case. The system of violent corporal punishment which prevails in many schools—and which, in many cases, represents the teacher's own lack of self-control, is tyrannical and infernal. It needs other treatment than protests or remonstrances."

A BABY STABBED TO THE HEART.—One of the most singular accidents we have had to record for many a year, occurred at the residence of Mr. Vinsag, near Jones Station on the line of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad, last Tuesday night. A married daughter, who lives in Kentucky, was on a visit to her old home, with her child, some seventeen months old. The little one being hungry, asked for a piece of bread, which the mother ordered the servant girl to get. The latter picked up the child in her arms, took a long carving knife from the cupboard and started down the cellar steps to the place where the bread was kept. In going down her foot slipped, and as she fell the knife stood point upwards on the steps, the blade of which penetrated the heart of the child, producing instant death. The pea fails to depict the grief of the almost heart-broken mother, when the corpse of her darling babe was brought into her presence. The house, which only a moment before, was the scene of joy and festivity, was, by this singular accident, turned into a place of mourning and sorrow.

A COMMON VICE.—Gossip can take no more abominable form than when it circulates false reports, or insinuates without positively declaring that its insinuations are true. This disagreeable propensity is usually born of a prying curiosity and a ridiculous concern for the business of other people. Sometimes, too, it is malicious, and seeks to injure those who become the objects of its venomous tongue. Falsehood, malice, and a meddling spirit are its component parts, and this makes a mixture from which both gods and men may shrink in disgust. It is becoming so common, however, that we hardly rate it at its real loathsomeness or regard it with the odium it deserves.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN GROVE.—Mr. John Grove who resided on the Waynesboro' road, a short distance from this Borough, met with an accident in March last and had his leg run over by a heavily loaded wagon. The bone of the leg below the knee was badly crushed. Dr. Harzoll, of Fayetteville, being the attending physician, decided to try to save the leg. About the last of September, Drs. Senseny and Lane were called in and upon consultation, it was decided to amputate the leg. The amputation was made on the 6th of October. Hopes have been entertained at times since, that Mr. Grove would recover, but he seems never to have regained his appetite, and consequently could not regain strength. He died on Wednesday of last week. Mr. Grove was held in high esteem by all who knew him.—Valley Spirit.

SUICIDE IN A COUNTY PRISON.—Robert M. Divine, an inmate of the Borka county prison at Reading, committed suicide on Saturday night, by hanging himself to the cords suspended from the ventilator at the top of the cell. He was discovered by the watchman on Sunday morning. He had made a slip knot in the ropes attached to the ventilator overhead, and placed it around his neck, and when found, his body was in a forward stooping position, the feet touching the floor of the cell, and the hands extended in a backward direction. The foot of his being not completely suspended, would appear to indicate a persevering determination upon the act of self-destruction.

The suicide had been committed to prison on the Monday previous on a charge of malicious mischief. The following letter was found in his pantaloons pocket: CALL NO. 27, BARKS COUNTY PRISON, November 18th, 1899.—To my wife: The time is now that I no longer desire to live and have prayed to the almighty that He would take from me the life he gave. But he has been merciful to me on so many previous occasions that I feel that he will not comply with a request that would be the curse of a soul. Yet I am about to do that which will absolve me from any and all claims I might have possessed on the promises of Jesus Christ. I am broken-hearted, and wish to be free from this world. When you read this I will be no more. I feel the import of the terrible deed I am about to commit, yet long to accomplish it. I dread not the future but wish to forget the past. There will be few to mourn for me, yet many have wronged me. But may God forgive them as I do, and now, my wife, I solemnly urge you to turn from your evil life and become a good woman. You have wronged me, God knows how deeply, but I forgive you if you turn from your evil ways. If you do not, and persist in your ungodliness, may the self-murderer's curse ring in your ears until we meet again.

The Sunbury American says: "We learn that three deaths from consumption occurred within a week in one family. On Tuesday the 2d inst., Warren Est, of Shamokin township, died of this dreadful disease, on the next day Mrs. Hoover, of Ashland, and sister to Mr. Est, died. On the Monday following, the 8th inst., the father of the above, Samuel Est, Esq., of Shamokin township died of the disease. The funeral of Mr. Est took place on Thursday. His remains were followed to the grave by a large concourse of friends, and the funeral ceremonies were performed by the Odd Fellows, of which society he was an active and worthy member."

THE SECRET OF THE ALISMA'S SUCCESS EXPLAINED.—The hair is secreted by a little vesicle of gland, and each gland is nourished and supported by a minute blood-vessel, and as long as these blood-vessels carry a sufficient quantity of nourishment to these glands, the hair will grow; but if, from disease or any other cause, these vessels become obstructed or torpid, so much so as not to carry to these glands a sufficient quantity of blood to nourish and sustain them, the hair will become dry and fall off. The reproduction of the hair, therefore, depends upon the restoration of these small blood-vessels to their primitive and unobstructed circulation, which indication the Alisma performs. It is absolutely necessary, before new hair can be produced, to stimulate the scalp by the application of the Alisma, which excites the blood-vessels to an increased healthy action. Remember, it requires time; for if the hair were to start as soon as the tonic was applied, it would probably be five or six weeks before it would make its appearance through the skin.
