An Independent Family Newspaper.

$2.00 For Year

VOLUMR XXII.

WAYNESBORO', FRANKLIN COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 10. 1869.

NUMBER 22

REID & WAYNANT

AVE just opened a well selected and fresh stock of Family Groceries, to which they invite the attention of the public. In leading articles they have a full line, viz:

PURE SPICES:

Brown and White Sugars. Prime Rio Coffee. Black and Green Tea, Carolina Rice, Syrups common, good, extra fine. P Rico and N. Orleans Molasses, sprime; Corn Starch, Farina, Chocolate, Pickles, Catsup, Cheese, Fish, Mason's Water Crackers, best in town.

Glassware & Queensware,

Tumblers, Goblets, Dishes, Lamps and Lamp goods, good assurtment, and low in price; Granite ware in sets, dozen, or smaller. quantities, handsome styles, and guaranteed to be of best quality; common dishes cups and gaucers, cheap.

Buckets, Tubs, Brooms, Baskets, Brushes, Ropes

Fresh OVS PERS and fresh FISH segularly received throughout the proper season. Canned Oya-Best Family Flour. Buckwheat, Corn Meal, Country Produce bought and highest market pri-

We hope by fair dealing and keeping a full and fresh stock of goods to largely increase our sales, Try us! Try us!!

REID & WAYNANT.

WAYNESBORO', PA., DR. J. BURNS AMBERSON.

PROPRIETOR,

SONTO Atr.-Auld Lang Syne. If my true love was sick to death, Tra-la, tra-la, tra la. Pd tell her at her latest breath Trade, tra la, tra la, Her race of life could not be run, Tra la, tra-lactra-la, At the Brug Store on the Corner.

If I was bald without a hair, Tra la, tra la, tra la, I'd laugh at that, I would not care, Fra la, tra la, tra la, I'd bring them back, yes, every one, Tra la, tra la, tra la,
By Drugs I bought of Amberson

If I was tanned to darkest dye, Fra la, tra la, tra la, *
I would not care, I would not cry, Tra la, tra la tra la. For soon a bleaching would be done By Drugs I'd buy of Amberson

At the Drug Store on the Cornez.

At the Drug Store on the Corner, Then three i nes three and tiger too, Then, of la tra la. Para and we know that they can doand the vict'ry won

By Doc - Looning of Amborson, At one Dong Store on the Corner.

RUGS - THE BEST AND PUREST AL. Pain TS. CHEMICAL AND MINERAL Paint. White Lead and Calar

ment in town 54

EROSENE, OILS, VARNISHES, DYES DRUSHES, PAINT, VARNISH, SASH, HAIR Dand Tooth Boushes at

THRUSSES AND SUPPORTERS AT

BRANDY, WHISKY, MINES AND RUM DATENT ME HUNES-ALE THE STANDE and Patent Me cigine, of the day of . EXTRACTS, FOR FLAVORING, PERFU DHYSICIANS PRESCRIPTIONS CARE fully compounded at "Tho. Corn er Drug Store.".

PIRST "PALL ARRIVAL!"

WELSH has just received a full assortment of Goods, in his line of business. His stock consists in part, of all the latest etyles of Men's and

HATS AND CAPS. Men's, Women's, Misse's, Boy's and Children's

BOOTS, GAITERS, SHOES

and Slippers of every description. Ladies and IBONNING. Bonnet Frames, Teimmings, Sundowns and Hate, POETICAL.

ON GBUMBLING. This world has its roses and thorns Made up both of pleasure and sorrow. And often the saddest to-day:

As hard as your lot may be found,

Is found to be joyful to morrov So varied the changes we see While twenty-four hours are gliding, That wiser that mortals will be Prepared for whatever betiding. Then halt not, though rough be the ground-They fall who are fearful of stumbling;

Did you ever know good come by grumbling

The man who doth rise with the lark. And seeks, like the bee for the honey, Finds something turn up before dark That brings to his pocket the money. The soil must be tilled for the grain. The net must be cast for the fishes, And only by striving, 'tis plain, Will fortune fall in with our wishes; Then halt not, though rough be the ground-They fall who are fearful of stumbling ; And haid as your lot may be found,

Don't always depend on your friends, Who fly at the tidings of sorrow; But rather your purse touch with care, And see that it yields for the morrow; In fact, be a friend to yourself. And thus by self effort succeeding, You soon unto others can say, "Many thanks, 'ut your aid Im not needing." Then halt not, though rough be the ground -They fall who are tearful of stumpling ;

Did you ever know good come by grumbling?

CLING TO THOSE WHO CLING TO YOU.

Did you ever know good come by grumbling?

And hard as your lot may be found;

There are many friends of summer. Who are kind wnile flowers bloom, But when winter chills the blossoms, They depart with the perfume. On the broad highway of action

Priends of worth are far and few : So when one has proved his friends hig. Cling to him who clings to you. Do not hershly judge your neighbor. Do not deem his life untrue. If he make no great pretensions, Deeds are great though words are for ; Those who stand amid the tempest, Firm as when the skies are blue. Will be friends while life endureth. Cling to those who cling to you.

When you see a worthy brother Buffeting the stormy main, Lend a helping hand fraternal, Till be reach the shore again ; Don't desert the old and tried friend When misforiume comes in view, For he then needs friendship's comforte, Cling to these who cling to you.

MISCHLALNY. @ THE LADY IN DRAB.

In an elegantly furnished room in one of the handsomest mansions of a far famed city. two young girls were, as the younger of the two expressed it, 'killing time.' One was a fair, bright little creature, with an abundsuce of long sunpy ourls falling about her in all directions. Her companion, a tall, beautiful girl of eighteen, was in every respect beruitul features, and she started, as though from afteep reverie, when her cousin exclusive it is about time to dress or the party, Florence?'

do him the honor of dancing the next set with him.

There was a haughty look about her beautiful him for a moment, and then in Florence Leslie made no roply for a moa beautiful smile as she said— m just to know?'

plagued to death going to parties thome Mr. Billi it seemed to me I did nothing else, and every place it is the same old story."

'Now, Florence, that is too bad,' chimed in Blauche But Floreuse went on; 'People will ad mire my clothes, and I might just as well be a brown stick. I happen to have a very plain drab dress with me, and I will wear that, and you must pass me off as a poor cousia; you agree to it, don't you?" 'I see I will have to; but, Fiorence, it is too bad to think that you who are so wealthy, should pass for a dependent cousin.' 'Oh, it will be vice , come, let ue dress ; I streets towards his boarding house. long to don my drab.'

Lsay, Billings, who's that young lady from the reigning belle. As soon as she got dressed in drab—she puts one in mind of a the opportunity she went towards him with Quakeress, at léast her dress does?

"I don't know exactly," was the reply, evening?". but she came in with that charming little creature, Blanche Barclay; probably she is surrounded by such a brilliant come poor relation, or Barclay's governess, thought you would forgot me.

A handsome, noble young fellow, who had oever forget my friends. heard the conversation, walked toward their * * * Observing that the sleeper had on a new hostess and requested an introduction to Blorence returned to her own becatiful fine hat, the druggist gently comoved it, sub-Florence. She blushed slightly as she per-home, and as she sat one morning in her stituting in its place an old one, with a sadly ceived the dark eyes of the stranger fixed drawing room, Mr. Raymond was announced, dilapidated and rusty crown. The drawey on her, and sacretly wondered what Clarence The hours flew swiftly by, and when he rose citizen at last awoke; and after a few "h-Reymond could see in her that made him to go, there was a happy smile on Florence's hums," telt for his hat, which was rather a ous belies; who wondered that the great lion tapering fingers, her engagement ring; and turned to the druggist and inquired :

'Yes; very much,' was the quiet reply. 'Are you fond of dancing, and if so, may I have the pleasure of your company for the set that is just forming?' were his next as I have determined not to dance this eve-thought he had found a most agreeable procute a divorce secretly, with the inten- us how they "caught their death cold by exfriend; and, as he left her that evening, he determined to call on Miss Barclay the following evening. The morning after the party the cousins were again in their sitting room, but this time chatting on the pleasures of the previous evening, when Blanche's mother entered the room, saying: Blanche, you will have to hurry and go down to your papa's office rooms with a very important message he forgot this morning; I have ordered the carriage for you.

Blanche rose from her easy position with a sigh of regret, but Florence exclaimed: 'Lut me go aunt, I would like a walk, so you needn't send a carriage, and my cousin does not feel inclined to go out this morn-

'Thank you, Florence,' returned Mrs. Barelay. I wish you would, and if you go, will feel quite easy about the matter.' Florence telt quite fresh after her long walk, as she reached the immense buildings in which was situated her uncle's office -She walked briskly down the long entrance hall, and having ascended a pair of stairs as her sunt had directed she found herself face to face with a couple of young men who were chatting together Not knowing whether to turn to the right or to the left, she politaly inquired if they would direct her to Mr. Barclay's office

The gentiemen who were none others than Billings and Harrly, scanned Florence for a moment, when the tormer gentleman, supposing her to be some poor client, raised his hat in mock courtesy, and inquired : 'How much would you give to know?" while his other companion said that if she wanted to know how tar it was he could inform her, it was as far again as balf.

Poor Florence, if she had raised her thick veil, they might have seen the indignant soorn that flashed from her brilliant eyes, but ere the last speaker had finished she was hurrying on.

A quick step sounded behind her, and in a gentlemanly, polite voice, she heard Clarence Reymond exclaim: 'This way, madam,' door on which she recognized her uncle's man and then rushed into her uncle's office. time ago for $11,000, but which he is now parlors and our nice 'spare rooms' help to entence informed her of what the young gents said to her. She vowed she would let them know pretty quickly who it was they in-

But Florence said she had a better idea than that, and it was to appear at a ball they were going the next evening in her real char-

The following evening Mr. Barolay felt a glow of pride as he entered Mrs. Armatager's well filled drawing room with his daughter and more. Both were so beautiful, yet so unlike, and dozens pressed towards the hostess to inquire who the beautiful stranger was, for Florence Leslie prescuted quite a different aspect dressed in the height of fashion, and she was suddenly transformed from the plainly dressed young ledy to the the air freely and fully down to their very on this point, for the evil is a general one, most elegantly attired one there different from Blanche Barclay, the fair With a most polite bow and gracious forgotten. The use of braces to hold up blande whom we have portrayed There smile, she recognized her introduction to the body is necessarily permissions, for there With a most polite bow and gracious was a quier, thoughtful look resting on her Billings, who immediately asked if she would can be no brace which does not press upon ments of crime in our Police Courts. Let

Foremost among the group for an intro-Billings and his friend Hartly.

Mr. Billings gave Florence one look and he knew all. Without one word the poor fellow shrunk out of sight.

Not many minutes had elapsed ere Florence found herself chatting gaily with Mr. eyes fixed on the object ahead a little high- should live on the sunny side of their hou-inquired. Not verv.

How far from here to your home, Miss Leslie?" Just as for again as half, Mr. Hartley.' In another moment Florence stood alone, while her companion took one of the back Mr. Raymond had recognized Florence the moment she entered, but now stood about toes. To derive the highest benefit from fresh, even if their checks are the paler for the question-, Have you forgotten me this merce. surrounded by such a brilliant crowd that I

'No, indeed,' was the warm rejoinder. 'I face, and as she extended both her hands to tight fit. Removing it from his bead, and the recipient of some back maded, compliseek an introduction. face, and as she extended both her hands to tight fit. Removing it from his head, and the recipient of some back incided compliNot noticing the elevated noses of numer- him at parting, there flushed on one of her taking a steady gaze at the battered relie, he ments from Western papers. One design-

TRAGEDY IN NEW YORK.

On Thursday evening a week, Albert D. Richardson, a correspondent of the New same man. It appears that Richardson had tion, it is thought, of marrying Richardson. McFarland, in a moment of excitement committed the deed, for which he was ledged in prison. The following is his statement of the offair:

'That man Richardsop has driven me to desperation, for he took my wife and child at any time than take it, but in this case I have been forced to act as I have done -roh me of my wife. On the 27th of Februof the act, I found them there under suspicious circumstances; but we then made up our quarret, for I could not deign to believe her a letter, and it fell by accident into my hands. In it he acknowledges to have written twelve letters previously, and at the close of it he calls her his own 'darling wife,' and longs for the moment when he can fold her to his arms. He also confessed in the letter When you have been exercising in any way that his love was not the growth of a week but of years. [Mr McFarland exhibited a copy of the letter and other epistles of a similar obaracter.] - her to the residence of Mr. Sinclair and sent and by saide one at a time; thus acting, a my youngest child to Boston, and I have not cold is impossible. Notice a moment. seen him for more than two years, and I When you return from a brisk walk and enknow not where he is. Since that time I ter a warm room, raise your hat and your have pleaded earnestly with Richardson to forehead will be moist, let the hat remain a give me back my wife and cease to interfere few moments and feel the forehead again, in my family affairs, but he has steadily re- and it will be dry, showing that the room is fused to do so. Instead of giving back my actually cooler than your body, with your child and wife he sent his friends to offer out-door clothing on, you have really cooled me $10,000 and a consulship for both But off full soon enough. Many of the severest absence of my wife that I care so much, but the result of sitting down to a warm meal in for the fact that she has dishonored me and a cool room after a long walk; or being en-her children by living in the embraces of gaged in writing, have left the fire go out, another man. Death would have been preferable to me at any time during the past ing chilliness, which is the ordinary forerun-three years, but I have lived for the sake of ner of a severecold. Persons have lost their ence Reymond exclaim: This way, madam, my children, I have heard that Richardson lives by writing or reading in a room where and in another moment the stood before the surreptitiously procured a divorce but they there was no fire, although the weather outserved no papers upon me. I heard that side was rather comfortable. Sleeping in from his friends who live near him at Wood- rooms long un-used has destroyed the life of She only bowed her thanks to the gentle- side, N. J., where he purchased a house some many a visitor and friend. Our splendid while I live. She stopped recently at Mrs. Calboun's, in Jersey Sity, and Richardson used to visit her there every night. When | flections: I discovered the fact that the guilty pair left the house, leaving some of their clothing behind. I don't know where she is now, but moral effects than to speak s ightingly of I suppose this affair will bring her to light. the virtue of women. Not is there any of pork:

Walking Erectly.

Walking erectly not only adds to manliness of appearance, but develops the chest and promotes the general health in a high degree, because the lungs, being relieved from the pressure made by having the head from the pressure made by having the head ed with any enterprise requiring integrity of downward and bending the chest in, admit character. Plain words should be spoken

If an effort of the mind is made to throw duction were our former acquaintances, Mr. the shoulders back. a feeling of awkward or lewd women, they have no more right to noss and tireduces is soon experienced, or measure other women by these, than they forgotten. The use of braces to hold up would have to estimate the character of honsome part of the person more than is natu- our young men remember that their chief ral, hence cannot fail to impede injuriously happiness depends upon their utter faith in the circulation of that part. But were women. No wordly wisdom, no misanthrobeautiful live for a moment, and then in there none of these objections, the brace pic philosophy, no generalization can cove in the 'flowing bowl;' and at length the silvery accents and with a peculiar emphasis, would adapt itself to the bodily position, er this fundamental truth. 'It stands like a great 'monistrom'—will swallow them, sould ment or so; then she turned to Blancke with | she returned. 'How much would you give like a hat or a shoe, or new garment, and would cease to be a brace.

to recover it when lost, in a manner which ingly of women. is at once natural, easy and efficient it is oner than your own, the eave of a house, the ses as much as possible, and allow the sun's 'Have you' been in the city very long?' he top of a man's hat, or simply keep your genial rays to penetrate the rooms. Darkwalking, hold up the head, keep the mouth it! And so the shutters are tightly closed, vening?" be done only in the "best parter," if it must "No," was the reply, but to night you were A Long Nan One of our most respectable citizens called into the cetablishment of tamilg live be cheerful and sunuy. No lady a joking druggist last summer, and, overcome by the sultry weather, sat down in a chair and was soon enjoying a sound slumber. Observing that the sleeper and on a new invigorate them. No more she should ex-

How People Take Cold.

Not by tumbling into the river and dragging home wet as a drowned rat; not by being plunged into the mind, or spilled out in York Tribune, was host in the abdomen by the snow in sleighing time; not by walking 'As to your first question,' Florence on swered, 'I am rather fond of it, but as regards the second, I beg you will excuse me, as I have determined not to dance this evesticks to you like a wet rag; not by hosing potatoes until you are in a lather of sweat. From talking of the party they soon verg. been paying marked attentions to McFar. these are not the things which give people do none thing and another, until Clarence land's wife. She had even gone so far as to polds; and yet they are all the time telling you.

> The time for taking your cold is after your exercise; the place is your own bouse, or office, or counting house. It is not the act of exercise which gives the cold, but is the me. getting cold too quick after exercising. For example, you waik very fast to get to the from me. I would rather save a man's life railway station, or to the ferry, or to catch an omnibus, or to make time for an appoint. ment; your mind being ahead of you, the Richardson has been plotting for years to body makes an extra effort to keep up with rob me of my wife. On the 27th of Febru- it, and when you get to the desired spot, you ary, 1867, she left my house at 72 Amity raise your hat and find yourself in a perspistreet. I found her on the day previous in ration; you take a seat, feeling quite comfor-Richardson's room, who boarded in the same table as to temperature, you read a newspatable as to temperature, you read a newspahouse, and I spoke to her of the impropriety per, and before you are aware of it you experience a sensation of chillinese, and the thing is done; you look around to see where the cold comes from, and find an open winthe was unfaithful to me. On the 9th of downear you, or a door, or that you have March following, however, Richardson sent taken a sent at the forward part of the car, and it moving against the wind, a strong draft is thus made through the orevices.

After any kind of exercise do not stand a moment at a street corner for anybody or anything, nor at an open door or window. whatever, winter or summer, go home at once, or to some sheltered place; and, however warm the room may seem to be, do not at once pull off your hat and cloak, She then left me, and Richardson took but wait awhile-some five minutes or more, I scorned the proposition. It is not for the colds I have ever known men to take were

> Sturs upon Women .- The American Odd Feliow has the following very true re-

Of all the evils prevalent among young men, we know of none more blighting in its thing in which young men are so thoroughly mistaken, as the low estimate they form of the integrity of woman-not of their own mothers and eisters, but of others, who, they forget, are somebody else's mothers and sisters. As a rule, no person who surrenders to this debasing habit is to be trustand deep-rooted. If young mon are sometimes thrown into the society of thoughtless est and respectable citizens by the deport- les with such intensity that the mind aberrecord of God itself-for it is nothing less and body, forever. Others resort to suicide. than this—and should put an everlasting and reach the same end. The best ancideted seal upon lips that are wont to speak slight. for a troubled mind is the grace of God — To seek to maintain an erect position or seal upon lips that are wont to speak slight-chin a little above a horizontal line, or, it ened parlors are fashionable evils. Frue, it will answer to walk with your hands behind is gloomy enough to be ushered into a tombyou; if either of these things is done, the like apartment, where one can scarcely grope lieve the chest from pressure, the air gets in his cyes become againstomed to the dim more easily, develops it more fully, causing light, that every chair and soft has on its a more perfect purification of the blood, imparting higher health, more color to the traveling to some unknown land. But he cheek and compelling a throwing out of the dies must have their expets kept bright and closed, and move briskly .- Journal of Come and the heavy curtains drawn. But for the sake of health and beauty, ladies, let this would expect her house-plants to send out fresh, clouming blossoms, unless she placed them at a window where the gunshine would pect ber children to sbow Yresh, rosy complexions, or to develop gehind dispositions, unless they live in light, sundy airy rooms.

How we should live. - Everybody

Tha irrepressible George Eranoia Train is Bonnet Frames, Trimmings, Bondowns and Hair one belies, who wondered that me great not as the season sould waste a minute talking as Clarence bent over and whispered some of the season sould waste a minute talking as Clarence bent over and whispered some 'Yes, 'replied the joker, 'a very long time.'

Fast, &c.

Reguestions and Fancy Goods.

Reguestions and Fancy Goods.

A stump of all continued the first, 'a very long time,' (Good bye, old windy, good bye, old gas principle to such a poorly dressed young lady. Mr. Questions in her ear, she laughingly answers.'

Reguestions in her ear, she laughingly answers.'

Well, continued the first, 'a very long pipe; go' home and soak your head with time; tor when I came into your store this whinky, so as anything in drab did.'

A stump of all continued the first, 'a very long time,' (Good bye, old windy, good bye, old gas principle to such a poorly dressed young lady. Mr. Questions in her ear, she laughingly answers.'

Well, continued the first, 'a very long time,' (Well, continued the first, 'a very long pipe; go' home and soak your head which will be sold as cheaness the classical principle.'

A stump of all continued the first, 'a very long time,' (Good bye, old windy, good bye, old win Yes, replied the joker, a very long time. Good bye, old windy, good bye, old gas principled with pleaty. Well, continued the first, a very long pipe; go home and sonk your head with

LANGUAGE OF THE CANE. - As there has been a lauguage of the handkerchief and one of the the fan, it is only right that the language of the cane should be understood by our gedts. An ingenious, and no doubt ingenuous, invents the following t

Throwing it around the flogers in the right hand—I wish to speak to you. Throwing it around the fingers in the . left hand-desire an acquaintance.

Putting the head in the mouth-I love you.

Kuccking with great force upon the ground—I hate you. Holding it top and bottom in both hands wait for me.

Putting it on the right shoulder-follow Putting it on the left shoulder-I'm en-

Dragging it behind on the ground-we, will be friends. Handing is to a person by the lower end -I will accept you Handing it to a person by the head-I reject you. Holding it in both hands and bending it-

-I love another. Holding it bottom upwards, in front of ou -my beart is thine.

Holding it in both hands across the shouldera-look at me. Scene on THE OHIO. -Our boat had stopped to take in wood. On the shore, among the orowd, was a remarkably stupidlooking fellow, with his hands in his packets, and his under lip hanging down.

A dandy, ripe for a scrape, node and winks at all round, saying: 'Now I'll have some fun. I'll frighten the greenhorn." He jumped ashore with a large drawn bowie kaife, brandishing it in the face of the 'green 'un,' exclaiming : 'Now I'll punish you -I've been looking for you for a week? . The fellow stared stapidly at his assailant, he avinently did not know enough to be scared, but as the bowie knife came near his face, one of his huge fists suddenly vacated his pooket, and fell hard and beavy between the eyes of the dandy, and the poor fellow was floundering in the Ohio. Greeney then jumped on board our boat, put his hands in his pookets, and looking around, said:

'Maybe there's sambody else that's been looking for me for a week.'

CORN AND Hogs. - From carefully conducted experiments by different persons it has been ascertained that one bushel of corn will make a little over ten and a half nounds of pork, gross! Taking the result as a basis following deductions are made: When ours costs 121 cents per bushel, pork costs 11 cents per pound.

When corn costs 17 cents per bushel, pork costs 2 conts per pound. When corn costs 25 cents per bushel, pork costs 3 cents per pound. When corn costs 33 cents per bushel, pork costs 4 cents per pound.

When corn costs 50 cents per bushel, pork costs 5 cents per pound. The following statements show what the farmer realizes on his corn when in the form

When pork sells at 3 cents per pound, it brings 25 cents per bushel in cora.

When pork sells for 4 cents per pound it brings 33 conts per bushel in corn. When pork sells for 5 cents per pound, it brings 45 cents per bushel in corn.—Ex-

NE CEDE MALIS .- Do not yield to misfortunes'-Hew many destroy themselves, and in a great measure the happiness of others, by yielding to trouble. Some, through a misture of fortune's wheel, lose property or friends, or may be, get their boner wounded, and dwell upon their troub. ates, and soon they become raving maniace. Others fly to the 'wine cup' to drown their sorrows, but justead of drowning sorrow. great 'modstrom'-will swallow them, soul.

Rev. A. W. Holden. The follow capital story is credited to Garrison, the Abelitionist 🤯

As unlacky fellow, who may as well bear called John Brown, became the subject of church censure and discipline, and a vote of expulsion was about being paraed, when a messenger came in and announced that any necessary, easy and legitimate effect is to re- his way to a seat; and to discover, when outside meeting had been held, and that the outsiders had resolved, not to receive Mr. Brown buck among them unless returned in as good a condition as when the church took him away.

> Nature is a book of sweet and glowingpurity, and on every illuminated page the excellence and, goodness of God are divinely ----

> God wites the Gospel, not in the Bible alone, but on trees, and flowers, and clouds, and stars.

You cannot dream yourself into a character; you must bammer and forge yourself The bachelor's retrain -a lass! The maiden a refrain-an men. Let them no longer refram. A cranky bachelor says there are not balf so many self-made men nowadays as 'selfmade women.

Better be upright with poverty, than un.

A stomp orator-dentist who talks about