

VILLAGE RECORD

WAYNESBORO

Thursday February 17, 1870.

Mr. William Wardenish, of Carroll Co., Md., was instantly killed by the falling of a tree which he was chopping.

During Saturday the arrests of revolutionists was continued in Paris. Latest despatches report tranquility in the streets.

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has decided against the motion for the rehearing of the Schoeppe murder case.

In the Philadelphia contested election cases the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has affirmed the decision of the Court below, giving the offices to the Republican contestants for the City Row offices.

It is expected that on Saturday next the President will issue the proclamation declaring the Fifteenth Amendment ratified by the requisite number of States to make it a law.

The House bill authorizing the city of Baltimore to endorse $1,400,000 of the mortgage bonds of the Western Maryland Railroad Company has passed the House of Delegates, and now goes to the Governor for approval or rejection.

The arguments in the Schoeppe case were concluded on Wednesday. Attorney General Brewster closed for the Commonwealth, and made a powerful argument. The question of a new trial now remains entirely with the court. A decision may not be rendered for some weeks. It is thought it will be unfavorable to the prisoner.

The latest curiosity in gunnery has just been tested at Fort Mifflin, with "success," as reported. It is a cannon shot that holds another shot within it, and while flying through the air and near the end of its range, discharges this second shot, and this gives great range. It is to be hoped the first shot may be always so continued as not to turn any comers and so send the second shot the wrong way.

The Mormon Legislature has passed the Woman Suffrage Bill. Probably this may induce a large female emigration to the realm of woman's millennium—where they can vote. Undoubtedly Montana and Utah are now the places for the strong-minded females. There all the rights they ask have been accorded to them. "Let 'em went."

All doubt is removed of the fate of Mexico. The unfortunate country is doomed to another bloody civil war, and even the friends of Jaurez admit that the catastrophe cannot be averted. Five States are now in open insurrection, and the Central Government is powerless. Jaurez has made ready for his departure for Europe, having shipped a fortune in bullion there. We may indeed expect a reign of anarchy in that unhappy country, which, it seems to us, is never likely to be quiet until the strong Anglo-American arm rules it.

The Rochefort revolution was, it seems, but the affair of a day or two. Fortunately but little blood was shed, for which the government deserves credit. It is not too much to say that a successful revolution in Paris is an impossibility, unless the troops affiliate with the people, and that is not likely to occur at any time, unless the people are more unanimous than at present in desiring a change, and are led by men of a very different stamp of character to Henri Rochefort, who may do very well as a journalist to support a revolutionary movement, but is entirely too impulsive and violent to lead it. This embryo revolution ended, there will be little further trouble in Paris for some time.

The following letter from Thaddeus Stevens exhibits his religious belief very definitely. It is published by the Harrisburg correspondent of The Philadelphia Press:

JANUARY 23, 1867.

DEAR SIR: I received your letter. I am not surprised nor much moved at any scandal which may be publicly or privately uttered about myself. I do not usually contradict them. To your personal suggestion, however, I willingly reply.

All the statements which you said were made are false, as the author well knew, if he had any knowledge on the subject.

I have always been a firm believer in the Bible. He is a fool who disbelieves the existence of a God, as you say is charged on me. I also believe in the existence of a Hell for the special benefit of this slanderer.

I have said that I never deny any charges, sweet grass, I make an exception when my religious belief is brought in question—make no pretention to piety (the more pity), if I would not be thought an infidel—was raised a Baptist, and adheres to their belief.

J. T. KEAGY. THADDEUS STEVENS.

Governor Geary vetoed the bill to allow the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania to review the evidence in criminal cases and decide them upon their merits. The bill was passed with a special application to the Schoeppe case, and the record as it now stands is considered to be damaging to the alleged criminal. If the Supreme Court find no error in the record of the Court below, it is thought that the Governor will not extend Executive clemency to the criminal.

A GREAT REVIVAL.—The Middletown Register says: That 80 persons have so far professed conversion at the revival of religion progressing in the M. E. Church, Mechanicstown.

HAAGERSTOWN ITEMS.

We learn from the Free Press that Mr. Elie Little, present proprietor of the Antietam House, and well known to our citizens, has sold the good will, lease and furniture to Mr. H. H. Powers, of Middletown, Md., for the sum of $4,000.

Mr. Joseph Hoover, (formerly of this place) will erect a more commodious and commanding building on the site of the old hotel, corner N. Potomac and Franklin streets. The old building will be demolished about the 1st of April.

Col. Ed. M. Mobley by a mis-step fell and injured his knee-cap seriously. Every freight train leaving Hagerstown carries hundreds of barrels of flour, which help to glut the city markets.

SUPPER DEATH.—We are grieved to learn by a telegram dated Mexico, Missouri, Feb. 10, 1870, of the sudden death of our young friend, Abraham M. Barr, near that place. His body reached the residence of his widowed mother on the 15th inst., in quite a good state of preservation, having been expressed most carefully in a beautiful metallic coffin by his companion, Morris Bell, with whom he went west about a year ago. A letter accompanied his remains from his physician, Dr. Humphreys, giving full particulars of his illness and death, the cause of which was obstruction of his bowels. His last words were of his mother.

BARN BURN.—On the afternoon of the 1st inst., the barn of John Harner, in Mount Joy township, near the Maryland line, was destroyed by fire, with two horses, a calf, about 100 bushels of wheat, and a quantity of rye, oats, cloverseed, hay, gears, farming implements, &c. Loss about $2,200. Mr. Harner was from home at the time, and several other horses were got out of the barn by his wife. It is said the fire was occasioned by a little son of Mr. Harner, aged 7 years, thoughtlessly striking a match and firing a straw stack in front of the barn.—Gettysburg Star.

DEATH.—We regret to learn that our young friend, Mr. James Knepper, died at London, in this county, on Monday night last, after ten or twelve days' illness. He was on a visit to that place when he was suddenly attacked with pneumonia, which baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians, and finally terminated in his death. The deceased has thus been cut down in the spring time of life, being aged about 21 years. He leaves an affectionate mother, sister and other friends to mourn his early death. His remains will be interred in the Lutheran burying ground in this place to-day.

DEATH.—After a lingering illness of some months our young friend, David H. Hatfield, died on Wednesday night of last week. He was a very worthy young man, esteemed by all who knew him. His funeral was largely attended on last Friday. The T. O. O. F. of which the deceased was a member attended in a body wearing the paraphernalia of order.

He was a gallant soldier, serving through the war as a member of Housum's Artillery. Obituary next week.

They have a prohibitory liquor law in Blairsville, Pa., passed by the Legislature two or three winters ago, and approved by a direct vote of the people. The law has been strictly enforced until recently, when several parties engaged in the hotel and saloon business, concluded they would defy it openly. For this they were indicted and tried at the December term of the Indiana county court, the matter, of course, creating great excitement. All who were indicted were convicted and fined $1,000 in the aggregate, and five of them, including one woman, were sent to jail for thirty days each.

NEW FIRM.—A. M. Good & Mathew Metcalf have leased of Rev. D. F. Good the well-known Antietam Factory and Mills South of this place. Messrs. Good & Metcalf are reliable business men and will spare no pains to accommodate customers. See advertisement in another column.
