

VILLAGE RECORD. WAYNESBORO. Thursday April 14, 1870.

The Legislature before it adjourned passed an act making Good Friday a legal holiday.

Judge Bond, of Baltimore, has been nominated by the President for U. S. Judge of the 4th Circuit.

The explosion of a boiler at the Chesapeake Sugar Refinery on Saturday killed seven men and wounded as many more.

One man in Bedford county, this State, has presented the scalps of one hundred and sixteen skunks, within the last two months.

The fund for the benefit of the family of the late Secretary Stanton now amounts to one hundred and forty-six thousand dollars.

The Legislature of Virginia has passed an act requiring each voter to write his name on the back of his ballot. This will have the effect to disfranchise a large class of voters, white and black.

General Sheridan has received a communication from several hundred of the people of Wyoming Territory sustaining him in his efforts to repress Indian savagery, and asking for troops to protect the Wind river section of the country.

The House of Representatives passed, unanimously, a resolution granting the use of the hall to the colored people of Harrisburg on the 26th of this month, on the occasion of the celebration of the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

All hopes of the missing ship, City of Boston, it appears, are given up. The supposition is that she was lost from a collision with an iceberg, two or three days out from Halifax, and this opinion is probably correct.

The great work of education in the South, thus organized and instituted since the war closed, will make an even nobler record in history for the Freedmen's Bureau than the beneficent mission of humanity which it performed during the struggle.

According to a Washington dispatch, Governor Senter, of Tennessee, appeared before the Reconstruction Committee on Saturday morning last, and was examined at length regarding the condition of affairs in Tennessee.

The Harrisburg Telegraph says the veto placed by Gov. Geary upon the bill which would have abstracted nine million five hundred thousand dollars from the Sinking Fund, had it become a law, for the purpose of building railroads and extending lines already built, is very generally sustained.

The renunciation of the Society of the Army of the Potomac took place in Philadelphia on Saturday, the fifth anniversary of the surrender of Lee and his army at Appomattox.

A correspondent of The Boston Commonwealth states that the chair now occupied by Senator Lovells is not the actual piece of furniture once used by Jefferson Davis.

Municipal officers alone were voted for in Ohio, with the exception of one Congressman, to fill a vacancy caused by the death of the Hon. Truman H. Hoag, in the tenth (Toledo) district.

In Rhode Island, on Wednesday, the Republican candidate for Governor (Seth Padelford) and the entire State ticket was elected by about the same majority as last year—4,000.

Among the bills introduced in the House of Representatives on Monday, was one to prevent any citizen of the United States from being required to place his name upon his ballot, State laws to the contrary notwithstanding, and punishing any violation of the law, which was referred to the Committee on Reconstruction.

The design is to prevent the frauds arising from voting by persons who migrate to the great cities, and from State to State for that purpose. It is an easy matter to temporarily colonize those who, having nothing, care not where they live, and are ever ready to move on a small inducement.

So far as the vote of the House of Representatives can accomplish it, the Freedmen's Bureau is dead, or at least about drawing its last gasp. The bill discontinuing it which passed the House recently transfers the bounty and hospital work of the Bureau to the War Department, and the educational work to the Bureau of Education in the Interior Department.

The great work of education in the South, thus organized and instituted since the war closed, will make an even nobler record in history for the Freedmen's Bureau than the beneficent mission of humanity which it performed during the struggle.

The whole vote cast was 787.

ROBBERY.—The store of Mr. Isaac Clegg, at Doyleburg, this county, was entered by burglars on Friday night a week and robbed of about eight hundred dollars worth of goods of all varieties, from overcoats down to shirt buttons.

FASHION.—What a thing fashion is, we hear people say I don't follow the fashions, I wear what I please; those who talk thus about themselves, they do no such thing as wear what I please, only, when they please to wear the fashion, all of us follow the fashion and we can't help it. We have heard Updegraff, the Hatter offer those who don't follow the fashions, good Hats without money on condition that they would wear them on the street, but they invariably refused the present, because they were not what other people wore, not the style, nor the fashion, out of date and not at all their idea of a Hat. Hence we say when people buy a Hat the great crowning ornament, the sign that tells the public the style of creature beneath it. They should invariably buy the Hat of the day, the style, the fashion that is suitable to their business purposes or their dress. To accomplish this we advise old and young to go to Updegraff's opposite the Washington House, they are the Practical Hatters of the day, and have for the past 20 years maintained supremacy on the following points: Fashionable Hats to suit all classes, neat and well-made Hats, durable Hats, Hats that become the wearer, and last though not least, they sell Hats for less money than you can buy them elsewhere.

I take this opportunity of thanking the citizens of this community for the liberal patronage they have heretofore bestowed upon me. I hope by close attention to business and by keeping on hand a full assortment of goods in my line, to merit the continuance of past favors. I have now secured the services of Mr. T. C. Resser, who has had over six years experience in the business and can offer to my customers every inducement or accommodation they can receive at any first-class Drug store. See card in another column. Yours &c., J. BURNS AMBERSON.

AMONG THE INDIANS.—Lieut. Herndon tells us that no tribes of aborigines are found in the deepest forests of South America, from the Andes to the Atlantic coast, that do not have and use Doct. Ayer's medicines and Lowell cottons. "TREMONT," "SUFFOLK," "BOOTT," are seen stamped in large red and blue letters upon their garments, while Ayer's Pills and Cherry Peppor are among the treasures of their habitations. Their native soil furnishes them all their food and most of their remedies, but they suffer from some afflictions which must have the liberation of higher skill.—[Sentinel, Liberty, Va.]

The following letter from Frederick Douglass was read at a meeting held in Rochester on Thursday evening, to celebrate the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment: ROCHESTER, April 5, 1870. Messrs. Bruce and Babcock:

Gentlemen—I sincerely regret that an appointment of long standing, and one which I cannot now recall, will make it out of my power to be present at the City Hall on Thursday. I feel it a positive deprivation not to be able to join in the home demonstrations of joy and gratitude. The revolution wrought in our condition by the Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States is almost startling, even to me.—I view it with something like amazement. It is truly vast and wonderful, and when we think through what labors, tears, treasures and precious blood it has come, we may well contemplate it with a solemn joy. Henceforth we live in a new world, breathe a new atmosphere, have a new earth beneath and a new sky above us. Our new condition brings with it that which should make us thoughtful as well as joyful. It sweeps the future of our ancient shortcomings, and flings us as a race upon our own responsibility. Equal before the Lord, equal at the ballot-box and in the jury box, the glory or shame of our future condition is to fall upon ourselves. Until now we have had no glory in our future—only one dark, monotonous chaos—to which we looked with sad and sullen sense of wrong. To-day we survey a future radiant with light and hope. We were always men—now we are citizens and men among men. We admit the responsibility of our new relation, but do not shrink from it. We start in the race of civilization with many hindrances attaching to us from our past condition, but we shall be sure to shake off these hindrances in the sad race, and sweep onward in the pathway of improvement, in a manner which will be as gratifying to our friends as grievous to our enemies.

Gentlemen, accept my best wishes for the success of your celebration, and believe me very truly yours. FREDERICK DOUGLASS

MR. COLFAX ON TEMPERANCE.—In a temperance speech in Philadelphia on Friday night, the 1st inst., Vice President Colfax said that "this was the anniversary of his connection with the temperance cause. Twenty-five years ago, when he was just reaching manhood, he assisted in the formation and installation of the officers of a division of Sons of Temperance in the town where he then and now resides in Indiana. He was proud to say that he had from that day to this kept his pledge. He had found it during the twenty five years to be a safe guard and talisman, and when the time came to him to be gathered to his fathers, he could say that he had never in the days of his manhood tasted, touched or handled the intoxicating beverage."

SOLDIERS' ASYLUM.—Gen. Butler, as President of the National Asylum for Disabled Soldiers, has made his annual report to Congress. It appears that there are at this time 3,802 beneficiaries in the various asylums. The report shows that most of the begging, organ grinding, and other like pursuits, so commonly indulged in by cripples in the cities, are carried on by associations which pick up all the cripples to be found willing to be employed in such pursuits, at starvation salaries, and that these associations make large sums of money, frequently as high as $20 per day, from each employe out of the misguided benevolence of mankind. The managers of the asylums also announce that they have full ability and accommodation to take care of every disabled soldier in the United States, who applies to them; that they have never refused to take care of honorably-discharged soldiers, and that it is the fault of the soldier alone if he is either supporting himself by begging, or becomes dependent upon alms or the charity of anybody, or is asking any aid from any State in the Union. No soldier disabled in the line of his duty, and able to show it, who has been honorably discharged from the service, has ever been denied admittance into the Asylums. If there are any disabled soldiers who are not provided for, it is either because they refuse to go to the Asylums, or, having been, have so conducted themselves, after repeated warnings as to the consequences of their conduct, as to become nuisances and a disgrace to the name of soldier, and have been, therefore, dishonorably discharged or expelled.
