The Paris Constitutional claims that all the fighting around the city has resuited favorably to the French. The Red Republicans of Paris have insugurated a revolution against the prosent Government. As far back as Wednesday, the 21st, it was observed from the heights around the city that a conflict was in progress in the streets. and on Saturday firing and cannonading were distinctly heard by the Prussians. A de spatch from Tours admits that there has been constant combats since briday between the Reds and the troops under General Trochu. Gambetta and Ferry have telegraphed from Paris that all parties are united for defence, and deny that any troubles have broken out. They say that they have forces enough to hold out all winter. The official journal at St. Petersburg deprecates the obstinacy of France, and declares that Russia approves of the course of Prussia. Thiers had a long interview with Baron Von Beust, the Austrian Premier at Viena, and left there for St. Petersburg. It is admitted that Favre's mission to the Prussian headquarters was abortive, as he would not consent to the terms of peace offered, and that nothing remains but the continuance of the war. The German armies on the soil of France number 650,000 men. ma The Hearth and Home, a fively illustrated family journal of a high character, hitherto issued by Messrs. Pettengil, Bates & Co., has been purchased by Messrs. Orange Judd & Co., of 245 Broadway, New York, the well known publishers of the American Agriculturist. Messes. S. M. Pettengill & On., whose advertising agency, established in 1849, is one of the largest and reputable in the world, find that their extensive business requires their exclusive attention , and they therefore transfer Hearth and Home to the new publishers, whose long experience and abundant facilities will enable them not only to maintain the past high character of the paper, but to add materially to its value.

DEBTS AND CREDITS -- The ability of the refusal of one person to discharge a single liability often embarrasses a line of a dozen debtors and creditors. Hence the prompt payment of small debts becomes in times like these a public as well as a private duty. The same money which pays a debt in the morning may , pay a dozen before night, and twelve men are thus relieved from anxiety and pressure by the action of one.
