THE GETTYSBURG RAILROAD.

MR. BLAIR:-Much has been said and wrate lately in regard to this road, purchased by James M. Tewasend of New Haven, Cono., in regard to its extension, &c. The new corporation in its organization has named it the Susquehanna, Gettysburg and Potomac Railway Company," and as its esption indieaten, propose to build a through line from furn of mind says that Pittsburg at might the Susquehaung to the Potomac river, and the most direct route will be adopted between these two points, provided the people along said route are desirous of having a railroad and will aid liberally in its construction. The time has arrived when a line of railroad is needed from New York to the South-west, and this one will be the shortest by from forty to fifty miles, and will be one of the great through routes, and a paying one at that,

The location of the line from New Oxford to York has been completed by J. S. Gitt, Civil Engineer, and Mr. Malthy in company with Mr. G., walked over the route thus located, and as Mr. Malthy is a man of quick perception, good judgement and one of the best business men in the country, is well pleased with the location, and proposes at once to build the link between New Oxford and York, if any interest should be manifested along the line, and a reasonable subscription obtained.

The distance from New Oxford to York, where the line is proposed to connect with the Northern Central Railway and the Penn. sylvania Central, is 187 miles—less distance than the Turapike, and no grade exceeding 50 feet per mile-the curves being few and

The whole cost to construct this pertion of the road, ready for the Locomotive would be about $275,060, as I see stated in the York papers, and this estimate, it is said, would build a first class Railroad for a single track -not including the land dettages, engineering and other incidental expenses. And here, permit me to say, that the people along the from taxation. line are favoring this enterprise, knowing

But. Mr. Editor, I know this much, that another effort is being made to connect the Western Maryland Railroad near Monterey. I think, however, that the new company are favorable to the Waynesboro' route and cross the Cumberland Valley Railroad South of Greencastly, and connecting the Baltimore and-Ohlo Railroad at Hancock.

Mr. Editor: My situation is such, that either of the routes named would suit me, and as the road will be extended, is beyond will preside over the former, and Bishop the shadow of a doubt; therefore, I urge you | Simson over the latter. and the good people of Waynesbore' to present your claims and advantages, and you will, in my opinion, come out conqueror. I myself, am partial to Waynesboro'.

I understand that Mr. Maltby, one of the purchasers of the road, and Mr. Git:, the Chief Engineer; will, as soon as the weather proves favorable, make an examination on foot of the different routes crossing the South location. Of this, no doubt, you will be in-A RAILROAD MAN.
