TEMPERANCE .- We understand that the Good Templars of Marrietta are very hopeful of better success in the future than they have enjoyed for some time past. Last week they took a moonlight excurson to Columbia, and had a happy time of it with their friends of Hope Lodge.

They meet in the Temperance Hall every Tuesday evening at half past seven o'clock, and for several weeks past they have been receiving accessions to their ranks at almost every meeting. We certainly wish them every success, and shall gladly chronicle their doings, when they have any big business on hand.

Godey's Lady's Book for October is on our table. It is as usual very handsomely embellished; the plate "Go it, Rolla," is very pretty. We can add nothing to what we have heretofore said of Godey's incomparable publication. The double colored fashion-plates which he publishes are alone worth the subscription price, $3 per year, and lower to clubs.

Thursday last was observed fully in this place-service in the morning in the several churches, all places of business closed and in every respect a Sabbath day.

The Mrs. Doner residence will be offered for sale this evening at the White Swan Hotel; here is a fine opportunity to buy a very pleasant residence.

We are under obligations to Mrs. Jacob M. Erisman, for some of the finest | treatment for my old Chronic disease flavored and largest Pears we have ever seen. Mrs. E. has in her garden some dwarf trees that have grown some monster Pears.

Ceasar's." Dear Friend Baker: It is, and ever has been, with me, a standing axiom, that all men are morally bound to declare any truth or truths, fact or facts, that may, in any degree, benefit their fellow beings.

Therefore I feel now fully impressed have been a sufferer from sickness durand thence into Chronic Nervousness, or ailments that afflict the body and mind for ten years for all the wealth of this earth. Now, be it known to you, that I was medicine; that I was engaged in it from 12 to 14 years; that I have studied the Botanic, the Eclectic, the Chronothermal, and the Homoeopathic systems of thereapeutics; that I have fully tested each of these systoms, except the Chronothermal, in my own case; that each, except that of Homoeopathy, has been nothing more than a curse to me; that Homoeopathic benefited me somewhat; but that I have found, after years of experience, that the Water Cure is the only means that have given any material permanent restorative aid to me.

When I first came to Marietta I was suffering from Billious Dysentery, and was just taking Billious Fever, Doctor Cameron's treatment in about three days restored me from the Dysentery and Billious Fever. I then entered upon During a course of five weeks I was greatly benefitted, and have reason to believe that, had I the cash to bear me through, the Water Cure would make me as soundly healthy as any one now

I beg the good people of your pleasant little town, and of the surrounding country, not to permit prejudice nor misrepresentation to keep them from giving a thorough, fair, honest trial to the Water Cure, if they desire to keep health, or to be quickly, safely, and pleasantly cured of sickness. May they

[For "THE MARIETTIAN." CHEAP SUBSTITUTE FOR RICE.

The following recipe is, in substance. an old one, and has been published often, but seems so simple and homely that few have ever given it a fair trial. Yet to many who have tried it, it is far preferable to rice, hominy, corn samp or mush-and now, that rice bears a high price and is a " contraband" article; it should be doubly acceptable to both patriotic purse and stomach! For a family of 3 or 4 persons take a pint of good wheat-the natural grain, unground-wash it well in two or three waters, so as to get it clean, and get out all chaff, cockle, or other foreign substances. Soak it in as much water as will cover it fairly, for about 12 hours, adding a little water when the grain swells above it. Boil it in the same waters, so as to get it clean, and get out swells above it. Boil it in the same water, adding hot water as it swells, until nearly all the grains burst open, taking care, toward the last, that it does not burn, and that the top is not cover-and other small fruit. The whole property is not burn, and that the top is not covered with water. It will require 3 or 4 hours to boil it thoroughly. Drain off superfluous water, (if any remains,) and suffer it to cool, and you have a dish of wholesome, substantial, nourishing food—pleasant and easy of digestion for a weak stomach, and hearty enough for even a working man. If your taste reeven a working man. If your taste requires salt; it should be added a short time before it is done boiling.

To make this patriotic dish palatable, (as tastes differ,) it may be eaten with a little milk, or cream-or with butter and sugar, or molasses-or with apple or other fruit butter, or fruit juice, jam or jelly. To enjoy it fully-" to get the good of it," as children say-it should be eaten slowly, and be so thoroughly masticated as to crush nearly every grain in the eating.

A pint of wheat will cost about 2 cents, bought by the peck or half bushel; and when boiled will make about 3 pints, and hearty eaters must be the family of 4 or 5 persons that will consume it at one meal. In cold weather a larger quantity-enough to last for 3 or 4 days -may be prepared at one time. Its steady use for a few days will enable persons subject to torpid action or constipation of the bowels, to "throw physic to the dogs."

In conclusion -- I know of no article of diet cheaper, and more wholesome, and capable of being more varied, than this. In these hard times, its adoption where rice is now used, as in custards, &c. By using corn in the three forms of meal, samp and hominy, cooked in all their varied forms of boiled and baked, a great variety of very pleasant, wholesome and cheap dishes of food may be secured to the vegetarian, whether from choice or necessity-and a still greater variety to the meat eater.
