A YOUNG SOLDIER'S LETTER.—Extracts of a letter from Charles R. Grosh, son of our townsman, C. C. P. Grosh, of company D. 1st Reg. P. R. V., dated Camp Pierpont, Va., Oct. 14, 1861.
"On Wednesday night we were ordered to pack up and move from Camp Tennally. It was very dark; but we formed in line, slung our knapsacks, and crossed the Chain Bridge, and then marched five miles further, where we laid down. The five in our mess have been on guard ever since. The first night after coming here, we were sent out on picket duty, three miles. It rained all night.
We are so near the rebels that they chased in our cavalry pickets. We expect a battle all the time. I have only slept six hours in four days. It is very cold—very heavy frosts every night.
Well I have seen rebels, and helped to take two. I had just come in from guard one night, when Captain Hess came down and cried out, "Fall in, every body!" So we formed in line of 35 men, and marched five miles over the awful road I ever travelled, when we came to a house. We surrounded it, and then knocked at the door. It was opened at last by an old woman, (the mother of Jackson, who murdered Ellsworth) and her brother. We also took a lot of papers. They had been giving information to the rebels. The man did not say much, but the woman talked incessantly. She said she was "proud" of her "noble son that shot that wretch;" and that her son was "in heaven praying for the South." She is a very old woman—her brother is about 55 years old. They were sent to Washington.
"I hear that Gen. 'No-Regard' ordered Gen. McClellan to leave in five days!"
"We are the advance in this direction. Give my love to all. S. H. is getting better slowly, and will write to Mr. H. to-day."
C. R. G."

HOSPITAL STORIES.—All who have promised or intend to furnish delicacies for our sick and wounded soldiers are requested to send them as early as possible, and not wait until the socks are completed—as the socks can be forwarded separately.
Farmers are especially and urgently solicited to send dried fruits, apple butter, jellies, pure cider vinegar, pickles, &c.—any thing likely to be grateful to the sick. Also socks, or yarn for the same, blankets, &c., will be received and carefully forwarded. But the hospital stores will be forwarded next week if a sufficient amount is collected.
Articles may be left with any of the Committee, at either of our dry goods stores, or the houses of Messrs Eagle, Grosh, Sterrett, or Dr. Timlow.

We learn from the Harrisburg Telegraph that WILLIAM W. REITZEL, of Lancaster, formerly of Adams Express company, has become sole business manager of the "Washington Sunday Morning Chronicle." We have long known Mr. R. and predict for him a useful and bright future; he is a practical printer, and in every way fitted for the position just assumed. The Chronicle, moreover, is one of the best weeklies published in the city of Washington.
This afternoon at 3 o'clock, Mr. Patterson will offer at public auction, at the Cross Keys Inn, that splendid dwelling on Market street. This is unquestionably one of the finest and most complete residences in the interior of the State. See advertisement in another column of this week's paper.

A most bungling error escaped our notice in the publication of the Borough ordinance, requiring sidewalks on the north side of Market street. It should have read "two inch plank," instead of four inch plank. We publish it this week corrected.
Frederick S. Pifer of Lancaster is recruiting a company to be attached to Col. Hambright's Regiment. B. H. Ober, the local editor of the Express, is to be First Lieutenant of the company. Both gentlemen were out in the three months service, and are well calculated for the positions they have assumed.
The Susquehanna is again bank full; quite a number of board and timber rafts have arrived here and prices are said to be looming up. A few of the hotels are crowded and Front street, generally, wears a yankee appearance.
The Lancaster Express says another locomotive has just been turned out of the Locomotive works of that city, and another on the way, giving employment to about 35 hands.
The committee appointed by the Borough Council to audit the accounts of the Volunteer Relief Fund, will be able to report next week.
We are compelled to lay over until our next, a very interesting article from the pen of Mrs. Dr. Maury.

MR. EDITOR: So I am gravely accused of laboring to be witty over a grave subject! Well, what a crime to be sure! And again I am tauntingly told that I am only in my A. B. C's. To this interpretation of my signature, I can have no objection, provided the same rule is made to apply in both cases; which, while it would represent me as a simple learner, would certainly show that the man whose character was indicated by a cross, was either at cross purposes with himself, or with those at least, who in any way differ from him on the subject of "Abolition." It will thus be easily seen, how the one may wax witty in his ignorance, while the other waxes wrathful in the fullness of his intelligence and disinterested philanthropy. I should be sorry, sir, to disturb the gravity of your cross correspondent, and I hope and trust, that he will keep cool, until he has disclosed the plan by which he would free the slaves, stop the war, and quiet the country. But these achievements, I suspect, involve greater, and far more intricate difficulties, than your correspondent has any idea of; for when asked what he would do with the slaves, he replies, "give them a chance to do for themselves." All very well, Mr. X, but the slightest acquaintance with human nature ought to teach you, that to free the negroes of the South unconditionally, would be like sending a horde of barbarians over the country, that, like a swarm of locusts, would devour every thing before them. They could not be controlled in the South, nor could they be contented to stay there, and, unless it be the abolitionists, I presume there are none who want them in the North. If they could be colonized by themselves, and put under the tutelage of enlightened abolitionists, they might in the course of five or six generations, learn to become self-sustaining, and they might also acquire such ideas of government, as would eventually lead to their recognition by the civilized nations of the earth, as is now the case with the South Sea Islanders, and other savages. But do tell us Mr. X, how you would effect the grand achievement. Would you recompense the Slave owners for the loss of their property? And if so, where would you get the wherewith to do it? Would you confine the negroes to the slave States? If not—Would you invite them to the North? But I must not trouble you with too many questions, though I might put many more, quite pertinent to the subject on hand. Now Mr. X you are aware that the merest tyro in Abolitionism might, for the time, borrow enough from the vocabulary of either, Beecher, Garrison or Greeley, to declaim and denounce in a small way, and at the same time be neither a patriot nor a statesman. I shall concede however that you are both, and that you are perfectly master of your subject, but if you don't come to the point, without further circumlocution, I shall assuredly, and justly regard you as a trifler, and treat you accordingly.
A. B. C.

MR. EDITOR: Prior to the opening of our schools, we were treated by a Teacher, in the Mariottian, to a homily on the duty of parents, to send their children regularly to school; you will therefore excuse a parent, when he feels it to be his duty, to return the compliment. I confess sir, that I refer to this matter with reluctance, but my duty to my children, prompts me to ask the following questions, in order that by directing public attention to the grievance of which I complain, it may be remedied without delay.
How is it that the primary school taught by Mr. Samuel Lindsay, has been so irregularly kept, for the last two or three weeks? Is it the agreement between him and the board, that he teach only when he cannot be otherwise more profitably employed? If so, they must consider the education of the young, and the office of a teacher as of very secondary importance. The parents of the children however, do not so regard them, and many know very well, that a teacher, in order to be successful, besides having ability to teach, must have a due regard to system and regularity. A PARENT.
Poor Jack Kaffer, than whom a cleverer fellow never lived, has gone to his long account; John was the first to teach us the boxes, and our earliest recollections of a printing office are associated with John L. Kaffer. He died on board of the U. S. steamer Paluski, at Montevideo, South America, on the 4th of August. He was Captain's Clerk of the vessel, and beloved by all who knew him.
The Lancaster Union says Messrs Stehman and Hood appeared before Alderman Van Camp of that city on Wednesday of last week and were ready to prosecute the suit for libel they had instituted against the editors of the Express. The defendants declined going into the investigation at that time, and entered bail for their appearance at the November Sessions.
In looking over Mr. Dellinger's stock of saddles, harness, &c., we were surprised to find so fine a display in his line in a town this size. No excuse for going out of town for any thing in his line whilst he keeps such a stock on hand.

ARREST OF MRS. JACKSON.—A few days ago Gen. McCall sent a party out to arrest Mrs. Jackson, mother of Ellsworth's murderer, and her half-brother, named Moore. Her house was situated within the rebel lines, and was used as a head quarters for their scouts. It is believed that much information has been furnished them from this source. She said there had been some thirty there, and she gave them a cup of tea. She or Moore would not give any satisfaction to the men sent by Gen. McCall, and were accordingly handed over to the Provost Guard here.
Mrs. Jackson was arrested by Capt. Hess, of the First Pennsylvania Regiment. He secured all the papers and documents on the premises, which proved to be of great importance, as the woman has a son in the Rebel army. Captain Hess commands one of the finest companies in the regiment.
(The Captain Hess referred to, is from this County and commands the Safe Harbor Artillery.)
