Messenger-S. G. Blanchard, Assistant Messenger-R. R. Marshall Postmaster-H. C. Woodhouse.

The entire delegation from this county, save Abraham Peters, the "father of the Millersville Normal School," voted for Mr. Rowe, but Mr. P. returned to his first love, and voted for Wm. Hopkins, the Breckenridge candidate.

Among the crowd at the Presi dent's New-Year's reception of prominence, was Maj. Arny, successor of Kit Carson, U. S. Indian Agent in New-Mexico. He wore a full suit of Buckskin, made in Mexican style, and elegantly embroidered with beads. He privately presented to Mrs. Lincoln a splendid blanket as a New-Year's offer-This blankets was made by a squaw of a Navajoe Indian, she having been employed upon it for five months. It is of large size, of wool, the figure upon it being red, white, and blue.

THE MESSAGE: Governor Curtin's message deeply interests all portions of The subscriber having just returned from the the Keystone, and in fact the entire loyal portion of the nation. It contains much valuable information in regard to the events of the past year, the number and position of the large body of our citizens who have volunteered to defend the Union, and some excellent and were the only Bookseller from Lancaster, made npon her patriotism. The Governor shows that the Keystone has now 16,038 preparing to enter the field, a GREAT MEN .-- Alaxander had a wry neck; William the Conqueror, in his latter days, was scarcely able to move from corpulancy. Hannibal and Philip of Macedon had but an eye apiece .--Cæsar and Mahomet were troubled with hero, Odia, in said to have been little else than a compound of disease. When Voltaire was first introduced into the Russian palace, he was desired to enter a closet, where he found a little withered figure, under the clothes, shivering with the ague--it was Frederick the Great.

C. S. A. : The above significant letters, says Milwaukie Sentinel, having been discovered recently upon the closed doors of an individual known to have been largely interested in Southern business, his anxious creditors came to the conclusion that he had incontinetly "sloped" for Secessia, until one of them chanced to meet him in the street .----"Hallo !" says the creditor, "what are you doing here? I saw a placard on your door, C.S. A .-- Confederate States of America." "Softly," replied the debtor "that's not the way I translate it; C. S. A .- Can't Settle Accounts."

A FOOLHARDY IMITATOR .- A ,boy of seventeen years, named James Sull, died under very singular circumstances in Pittsfield, Mass., last Friday. He swallowed ten small stones, eight lead bullets and a metal button, in order that he might boast of being as smart as a humbug showman he had seen at the county fair.

BUISNESS IN ST. LOUIS .- Civil war has affected St. Louis like a stroke of palsy. Thousands of inhabitants have left that city within a year; an immense number of houses and stores are vacant, and all business, except government contracts, is at a dead stand.

🎲 The Lynn (Mass.) horse cars are now heated by furnaces placed beneath the floor.

England pays annually about $170,000,000 for cotton-all imported. After retaining sufficient for her own wants, the balance is re-shipped to different parts of the world, in the shape of manufactured goods, the profits of which amount to about $250,000,000.---This explains why England just now, does not particularly sympathise with the North.

Some dissatisfaction appears to be making its way into the southern press on account of the unpromising condition of rebel affairs. The Augusta, Ga., Constitutionalist, and the New Orleans True Delta are out in full cry against the management of Jeff. Davis & Co., whom they charge with peculation, mistaken policy, selfishness and want of vigor.

The surrender of Mason and Slidell is approved by all the foreign ministers in Washington, who now declare their conviction that the continental governments of Europe will not suffer England to hunt for pretexts to engage the United States in a war. We shall see how far this interference to frustrate English rapacity will go in its alliance with this Government.
